The first round of a fight for location of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's proposed electronics research laboratory in Arlington Heights may be over Feb. 1.

So may the entire fight, but after his trip to Washington D. C. last Thursday Village Pres. John G. Woods remains optomistic.

Feb. 1 is the date set for recommendation by the NASA site location committee to Congress on a general location — possibly the Chicago area.

If the Chicago area is recommended and approved, Woods said, it may mean another trip to Washington to seek further support of specific location in Arlington Heights.

LAST THURSDAY Woods and representatives of Kenroy Realty Co., the development concern which has offered to donate 100 acres north of the village for the research laboratory, sought support in all quarters.

They met with Dr. Edward C. Welsh, acting chairman of the National Aeronautics and Space Advisory Council, to again recount the advantages of placing the electronics center in Arlington Heights and the Chicago area.

The space council serves in an advisory capacity to President Lyndon Johnson.

THE GROUP also met with George L. Simpson Jr., assistant deputy administrator of NASA, who originally answered the offering telegram.

Woods said Simpson was "not committal," but complimented David Kennedy who made the original presentation in favor of locating the laboratory in the Chicago area.

Predictably the strongest support came from senators Paul Douglas and Everett Dirksen, and U. S. Rep. Donald Rumsfeld.

Sen. Douglas, first on the tour agenda, pledged to support efforts to locate the center in the Chicago area, but said if it came down to contention between Chicago and the suburbs he would have to remain neutral.

RUMSFELD pledged his efforts more specifically, according to Woods, who noted also that the 13th District representative is on the House's space committee.

Sen. Dirksen indicated he would make a strong presentation to President Johnson, Woods said.

Hugh L. Dryden, NASA deputy administrator who recently answered the 100-acre offer for the President, described it as a "deeply gratifying sign of your interest and support of the . . . space program."

He said it will be "fully considered if Chicago is recommended as a general location."

JEWEL-OSCO STORE, Wing and Davis Streets, stands to become the first operation in Arlington Heights combining package liquor and grocery sales under one roof. Previous request by another grocer was denied, but Jewel representatives say liquor will be in drug section of store, similar to three other drug stores handling liquors in the village.

Trustees Up Total to 8

Package Liquor License Is Set for Jewel-Osco Store

The quota for licenses to sell package liquor in Arlington Heights was increased from seven to eight at Monday's village board meeting.

Attorney Stephen Jurco, speaking for five package dealers in the village, halted the board's roll-call vote on the matter to voice his objection.

He claimed that the quota increase, which will presumably be filled immediately by a license to the Jewel-Osco store in downtown Arlington Heights, was designed specifically for that purpose — not to establish quotas on a population ratio.

AN APPLICATION by the food-drug chain for a package liquor license prompted consideration of the quota increase, and an attorney from Jewel appeared to support it.

The matter was deferred for further study Nov. 18 after the public health and safety committee of the village board presented a report calling for one more package license and no other quota changes.

The package liquor dealers objected at that time, claiming that the downtown area was already crowded with package stores, and that another such establishment would hurt the business of all.

THE DEALERS asked to meet with the safety committee to present new evidence against the quota increase, and did meet the following week.

Committee chairman Jack Walsh said Monday that, after that meeting and other committee meetings, the committee was still compelled to make the same recommendation. The report presented was the same as the one introduced Nov. 18.

Jurco said that after the five package dealers went through the trouble of gathering data on economics, area control, and the problem of granting a license to a food store, none of the information was referred to in the report.

HE ADDED that, since no change in quotas was made in any other liquor license class, the criterion of a population ratio in licensing was not really upheld.

After Jurco's objection, the matter came to a vote with no further discussion. Trustee Norval Stephens cast the single "no."

Village Atty. Jack Siegel pointed out that a change in the local liquor control ordinance (see story this page) would eliminate some package outlets in the downtown area.

But Jurco answered that taverns selling package goods do only a "very small" percentage of the business.

Liquor Ordinance Changes Are Voted

The village board broke off consideration of an increase in the package liquor license quota Monday to pass several modifications to the local liquor control ordinance.

Many simply brought the local code into line with state provisions of the Dram Shop Act, but one forbids the sale of package liquor on pouring licenses—effective with the April renewal of existing licenses.

THE CHANGE in provision of a class A license, recommended with the others by Village Atty. Jack Siegel, comes after a recent incident in which Sylvia's Lounge, Northwest Highway and Wilke Road, was closed temporarily for sale of package liquor to a minor.

Another local option in the revised local ordinance provides that no women may tend bar in the village except tavern proprietors or wives of proprietors.

A third local change requires erection of a partition between package liquor departments and the remainder of stores which deal in other goods, such as drugs or groceries. This would also take effect upon renewal of existing licenses.

CLOSING HOURS for all license holders are to remain the same, except for clubs — clearly defined in the revision — which may now stay open until 2 a.m. Saturday and Sunday mornings and 1 a.m. the mornings of several holidays.

Other changes which bring the local ordinance up to par with state code are:

—To prohibit acceptance of gifts of liquor by minors and provide for showing of an identification card;

—To prohibit use of the same premises for a new liquor license for a period of one year after a license has been revoked;

—To prohibit sale of liquor on credit — a practice common, but already illegal by state law;

—TO REQUIRE unobstructed view of the interior of premises licensed to sell alcoholic beverages — also commonly disregarded in the village;

—To spell out powers of the local liquor control commissioner as they are spelled out in state code;

—To require information on stockholders in corporations licensed to sell liquor, and on persons connected with the operation; and

—To spell out several definitions previously not included in the local code.

Issue Report On Building

A special committee of the village board formally proposed higher single-family residential standards for Arlington Heights Monday, and gave the proposal time to settle on residents and developers.

The committee report included a recommendation to the plan commission for fast action on increases in minimum lot size for two zoning classes.

Also included were revised building standards for everything from total building area to master bedroom closets — most of them upgraded approximately 10 per cent.

TRUSTEE NORVAL Stephens, chairman of the special committee, specifically requested that the matter be discussed, but be deferred for further discussion and action at the next board meeting.

He said he wanted both residents and developers to have a chance to review the recommendations and state their opinions or objections before a vote is taken.

Changes in lot area requirements, already sent to the Plan Commission, would bring the minimum for R-3 zones up from 8,750 square feet to 10,000. R-2, now 10,000, would be raised to 12,000; and R-1 would remain at 15,000 square foot minimum.

MINIMUM building area (figured from outside dimensions) was raised for each zoning classification and each type of home in the proposal.

Current requirements for ranch homes are 1120 square feet for R-3, 1150 for R-2 and 1200 for R-1. Proposed requirements are 1,250, 1,300, and 1,350 square feet respectively.

The new standards would also require that every ranch home have a basement of at least 500 square feet, and that every home in the village have an enclosed garage.

In the common R-3 zoning class, total building area requirements are up from 825 to 900 square feet for a one and a half story house with basement, and up from 700 to 750 for a two-story house with basement.

IN THESE categories, R-2 minimum size would be 10 per cent above R-2, and R-1 minimum size would be another 10 per cent above R-2.

The proposed requirement that all houses have garages, and that they be attached to the houses on 60-foot or wider lots, was termed "something we are going to have to take a good look at" by Village Atty. Jack Siegel.

He said such a requirement would perhaps be unconstitutional, since proven authority extends only to requirement of off-street parking.

In addition, standards have been set up in the proposal where none previously existed for width, depth, door size and total area of garages.

ROOM SIZE requirements have been jacked up in general conformance with total area requirements—about 10 per cent.

Among notable innovations is the graduation of required kitchen size as the number of bedrooms in a house increases. Bedroom sizes other than the master bedroom are to be controlled by the sum of their areas rather than each individual area to allow flexibility for an architect.

The minimum size for any habitable room has been kept at 100 square feet in the new proposal as it is in the existing code.

The kitchen-utility-dining area, a combination allowed under the present code, is prohibited in the committee proposal.

THE REPORT recommends that the effective date for the new standards be March 1, 1964, or Dec. 1, 1964, for subdivisions with model plans approved and models open for the year.

In introducing the report, Stephens said the standards being recommended in the report were actually below what the majority of developers were putting up in 1963.

But at least one developer will be forced to alter his models in several instances if the new standards pass, according to building commissioner Harold Best.

A representative of Miller Builders, developers of Greenbrier, was at Monday's meeting to pick up a copy of the report; and Howard Borde, attorney for more than one developer in the village, also received a copy.

Question Planner's Retainer, Expenses

Eugene Baughman, village planner on retainer to Arlington Heights, became the subject of several questions at Monday's village board meeting; and more are coming.

Among other things, the trustees voted to withhold payment of $2,176 in bills from Baughman and Associates which appeared on the Jan. 20 accounts payable.

The first question arose over a single item — $60 — described only as miscellaneous retainer services on the accounts sheet. Village Manager L. A. Hanson said he did not know the root of that cost, and recommended that the bill not be paid.

TRUSTEES THEN looked at other bills, and Bud Beacham asked that the board or a committee talk with Baughman concerning "benefits and costs of his services compared with those of other planners — and the billing structure."

Trustee William Moore added, "We also ought to know who he's doing work for in this area, and have these bills referred to the finance committee to tear them apart."

"There are some possible points of conflict of interest in past services," Trustee Jack Walsh added.

HE SPOKE primarily of Baughman's service to both Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect in the question of Old Orchard Country Club development on which the two municipalities have disagreed.

Trustee Eugene Schlickman said it would be his preference simply to refer the entire matter to the finance committee for consideration.

EUGENE BAUGHMAN

Beacham, a member of the committee, moved that the matter be referred, and that motion and a succeeding one withholding payment both passed without dissent.

INCLUDED AMONG the accounts payable were: $164.54 — "I-R" District and review of medical center plans; $491.50 — Re: Borde-Kenroy "M-1A" Research and development proposal; $1,085.60 — Revision of subdivision regulations and zoning ordinance in relation to proposal "M-1A Research and Dev. District"; $108 — Miscellaneous professional services; $266.80 — Attendance of conferences, preparation of testimony, services to Joint Committee re: Mount Prospect - Arlington Heights meeting.

Hanson said Baughman's $100 a month retainer is to be applied to any expenses, not to be added to those charges unless they do not mount to $100.

New Patrolman

The Arlington Heights village board Monday approved the recommendation of the Police and Fire Commission for appointment of Karl G. Reinke as probationary police patrolman effective Feb. 8.

ACTION Approved By Board

ACTION (Arlington Committee to Improve Opportunities Now) formally got off the ground Monday night with approval by the Arlington Heights village board at the recommendation of Village Pres. John G. Woods.

The committee's organizational meeting is set for tonight, Thursday, at 8 p.m. in the board chambers at the municipal building.

THE GROUP is to work primarily on the problem of downtown redevelopment in the village, according to Woods.

He said the board membership which is planned should provide for a number of subcommittees to study and make recommendations on specific downtown problems.

Formation of the committee Monday also included selection of Trustee Jack Walsh as chairman.

WALSH SAID letters of invitation to join have been sent to representatives of business, industry and residential areas throughout the community.

He added that any citizen or a representative of any group of citizens is welcome to attend tonight's meeting.

School Worker Retires Feb. 1

William Griesser, who has been supervisor of maintenance for Arlington Heights' elementary schools for about 10 years, will retire at the end of this month. Griesser is 65.

He will be replaced by William Senne, whose salary will be $6,700.

Fire Department Will Get New Station Wagon

The Arlington Heights Village Board Monday approved a low bid of $2,355 for a station wagon to be used by the fire department.

VILLAGE MGR. L. A. Hanson in proposing the purchase said the car presently used by Chief Harvey Carothers is seven years old, and that it will be transformed into a fire inspection vehicle.

FLOOD SOLUTION is in the works for Arlington High School. The village board Monday accepted an easement across the school's athletic field to the corner of Salem and Northwest Highway. Tuesday construction began on 15-18 inch storm drain which is expected to releive flooding on the school's Ridge Avenue side.

Developer Tests Reaction

Planners Are 'Cool' To Condominium Plan

A proposal to build condominium dwellings in an area which would be annexed to Arlington Heights got a cool — though unofficial — reception reception from the village's plan commission last week.

Chicago builder Norman Carson, owner of the land at Chestnut and Ridge south of Rand Road, and his architect Godfrey Duke appeared at the commission's Wednesday meeting seeking to get some reaction on their proposal.

They said they want to build 104 one- and two-bedroom units and limit their use to "senior citizens." Condominiums are tenant-owned similar to co-operative units, but with technical differences.

HAROLD CARLSON, chairman of the Plan Commission, said that it would not be proper for the group to give any kind of opinion until such time that the owner requested a pre-annexation zoning hearing.

He added, however, that the village is striving to keep a single-family residential character, with well-spaced multiple units. But he pointed out that property owners have the right to petition for any kind of zoning they want.

Carlson noted that the village's recommended zoning classifications map for land suitable for annexation calls for the land owned by Carson to be zoned single family residential.

DUKE CLAIMED that the condominium development would be beneficial to the village because there would be no children living there to add to the school rolls.

Commission member Clifford Johnson said, "Isn't it naive to think that the children will never live there?"

Duke insisted that people could buy a unit with the agreement that it was to be for adult housing only and that they could be kept from reselling it to persons with children.

He said a one-bedroom unit would sell for about $12,800.

AFTER THE meeting and after Carson and Duke had left the meeting room, Johnson said, "They're trying to jump six zoning classifications."

The condominiums would require R-6 zoning rather than the R-1 the village has in mind for the property.

Duke said afterward that he would seek a pre-annexation zoning hearing.

Deferrals Slow Up Lake Water Action

After a flurry of action and conjecture on pending action in the quest for a source of Lake Michigan water through the DAMP Water Commission, this week was one of deferrals.

Des Plaines, one of four member municipalities in the commission, was expected to approve a separate tie with Chicago at Monday's city council meeting, but consideration was deferred.

That tie with Chicago's Lake Michigan water system would perhaps have led to Mount Prospect's connection with the Des Plaines system — thereby taking two communities out of the DAMP picture at least temporarily.

THE SECOND deferral came at the Arlington Heights village board meeting.

The board was to have considered retention of an engineering firm to give the village facts, figures and estimates on costs of alternate routes to Lake Michigan water, possible partners in the venture, and how long the present well-water supply will be adequate.

But Trustee Eugene Schlickman told the other board members he was not convinced of the urgency of the survey, and wondered if action might be held off to see what Des Plaines and Mount Prospect are doing.

Trustee Jack Walsh noted that estimates of the cost of such a survey by two engineering firms had differed widely, and asked if the board could have an explanation of the difference.

THE LOW quotation came from Joseph F. Koenen, who said he could start at once and complete the necessary written report in a month at a cost not to exceed $2,500.

The second quote was from Suhr, Peterson, Peterson and Suhr, who promised verbal delivery within five weeks and a written report in eight weeks at a cost of $4,900.

Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson recommended retention of Koenen, but action was put off for a week to allow board members to interview both engineers.

Hanson assured the board that both had been given the same standards for the survey.

PALATINE, FINAL member of the existing water commission, had also expressed interest in the Arlington Heights survey at a meeting Saturday between officials of the two villages.

At that meeting Palatine indicated a preference to wait for action until water could be obtained directly from Lake Michigan by the commission, rather than through Chicago as now proposed.

Village Pres. Wilbur Harris of Palatine said this solution would be less expensive in the long run, and his village is not in need of an alternate source of water now.

Palatine Trustee John Moodie commented that DAMP had come to the point of contracting with Chicago only because of urgent demands by Des Plaines and Mount Prospect.

Village Pres. John G. Woods of Arlington Heights said the problem in the water commission is one of varying degrees of urgency in all communities.

He asked, if Des Plaines and Mount Prospect got water outside the commission format, how he could be assured Arlington Heights would not have to do the same thing when urgent need arose.

OFFICIALS FROM both Palatine and Arlington Heights agreed that, if DAMP were able to install pipes direct to the lake right now, they would vote in favor of the plan. But a pending lake diversion suit prevents such plans at least temporarily.

The municipal officials finally agreed that a survey to attempt to determine who would run out of water when, and where and how to go after lake water, was advisable.

Harris said he would be inclined to go along with paying a part of Arlington Heights' survey cost, but the survey awaits approval. (AF

Bonanza for District 25

Arlington Heights elementary school board member Charles Bennett told the other board members Monday that they should strive to annex property between Hintz and Dundee roads, west of Arlington Heights Road to their district.

This property, he noted, could provide the school district with a lot of taxes if the proposed research park planned for that general area north of village becomes a reality.

Board president Joseph Faner commented that the area Bennett wants to annex "probably looks good to the Wheeling school district, too." (A

Schools' Income Increases

Elementary school Supt. R. E. Clabaugh estimates that the district's receipts for its educational fund for the 1964-65 year will be $2,885,000. The current year's receipts are $2,508,300.

Receipts for the district's building fund are estimated by Clabaugh at $347,750 for the coming school year, increasing from $320,780 in 1963-64.

The receipts represent money taken in by District 25 in the form of taxes, state aid and other sources with which it operates the school system.

Clabaugh estimates that the assessed valuation of the property within the district in 1963 was about $130 million, up from $120,880,090 in 1962.

The school board will discuss the superintendent's receipt estimates at a meeting next Wednesday. Clabaugh said that he would recommend a 1964-65 budget based on these figures and the board's reaction to them. (A

Rezoning Approved At Golf and State

Arlington Heights Plan Commission last week recommended that the northwest corner of Golf and State Roads be rezoned for gas station use.

There is a Texaco station on the corner and the land was approved for this use by county zoning before the land was annexed by the village.

The section recommended for re-zoning is about 175 by 175 feet. The petitioner, Lee Stations Inc., which leases the land and station to Texaco, asked that a larger area of a little less than three acres all be rezoned for business use.

However, the commission decided to leave the rest of the property zoned residential. Chairman Harold Carlson cast the only dissenting vote, commenting that he would have approved recommending business use for the whole section since this would be in the line with the village's master plan.

A representative of Texaco said there are no plans at present to develop the remainder of the property.

The matter was on the village board's agenda for Monday, but the meeting was adjourned until next Monday before it came up for consideration. (A

Arlington Acres Group Born in Cement Dispute

(Another in a series of articles on the aims and activities of member organizations of the Arlington Heights Community Council.)

Crises and a common need often are the necessary catalysts to transform ideas into accomplishments. This was true in the formation of a comparative newcomer to Arlington Heights' family of homeowner associations — the Arlington Acres Civic Association.

The catalyst in this case was a proposal to locate a cement-mixing plant at a vacant site near the area now represented by the association. This proposal gave impetus to an idea of a formal association, initially broached at an informal meeting of approximately six families, held in the home of one of the residents.

United in opposition to the plant location, homeowners recognized the need for formal organization rather than individual protest and the Arlington Acres Civic Association was born in May, 1961.

Initial officers were L. Q. Yowell, president; Robert Hanson, vice president; Mrs. Paul (Betty) Bakewell, secretary; and Stanley Merchant, treasurer.

According to its constitution, the association's objectives are "to promote the welfare and best interests of its resident members and the Village of Arlington Heights; to see that its members have proper representation before the Council of the Village of Arlington Heights and other civic and legislative bodies; to disseminate information of value and interest to the residents; and to promote unity and friendship among the members."

ITS LIST OF accomplishments during its brief existence have fitted into that mold. In addition to its work in defeating the relocation of the cement plant, the association prevented the rezoning of a vacant lot for a parking lot in a residential area.

Through work with the village authorities, it obtained legal restrictions on nearby trash burning, with accompanying odor and soot, and gained a refund for certain members on illegal charges for repairing frozen water pipes.

A legal firm has been retained for the purpose of regaining the illegally-assessed portion of Cook County real estate taxes. Continual vigilance has been maintained on violation of speed limits and on unsightly areas. Vacant lots are kept under supervision to make certain weeds and grass are cut and to prevent illegal use by business concerns for parking purposes.

Among its civic achievements was participation in the Village's 125th Anniversary Celebration during which the association's parade float won two first prizes, one as the best non-commercial entry, the other as the top float in overall competition.

The association was also represented on the Citizens Committee for the Storm Sewer Referendum, which resulted in the passage of a bond issue for a modernized sewer system, a portion of which is located in the association's area.

Among specific projects is the installation of stop signs at necessary locations within the area.

Spinks Named Principal For Thomas Junior High

Robert E. Spinks, principal of the Dryden and Dunton elementary schools in District 25, has been appointed principal of the new Thomas Junior High School which will open in September, 1964.

The appointment was made at the Board of Education meeting Jan. 20.

Spinks will assume his new duties on March 1, but his successor has not been named yet.

The appointment was made at this time so that Spinks would be available to help with the selection of equipment and staff for the new building, as well as the preparation of class schedules, student handbooks, and other details of opening a new junior high school for about 540 students.

ROBERT SPINKS

SPINKS CAME to Arlington Heights as a teacher at the South Junior High School in 1952 and was appointed principal of Dryden in 1957. The Dunton School was added to his duties when it was opened last September.

He received his bachelor's degree from University of Missouri and his master's degree from University of Indiana. He is currently pursuing an advanced certificate in school administration at Northern Illinois University, which he expects to complete in June, 1965.

Mr. and Mrs. Spinks live at 917 N. Forrest and have two children who attend the Windsor School. Their son, Guy, is 9 years old and their daughter, Kim, is 8. (A

Subdivision Developer Agrees To Discussion on Annexation

Jack Wenborg came before the Arlington Heights Village Board Monday seeking approval of a subdivision in unincorporated area but left agreeing to at least talk about annexation.

The planned Unit 2 of Arrowhead Subdivision is located within the village's 1½-mile sphere of influence outside corporate limits, and plans must, therefore, bear the village's stamp of approval as well as the county's.

The second unit, to consist of 30 homes on 20,000 square-foot lots, south of Palatine Road on the east side of Schoenbeck Road, is contiguous to village boundaries.

As Wenborg stepped from the audience at Monday's board meeting to answer any questions, Trustee Norval Stephens asked him immediately why he did not annex to the village.

A BARRAGE of questions from other board members along the same lines followed, and Wenborg explained that he felt the decision for annexation was up to those who would eventually purchase his 30 homes.

But board members then explained it would be a whole lot easier for the village if the entire area came in at once. Stephens said buyers could still choose whether or not to live in Arlington Heights just by buying or not buying the homes.

Wenborg did not change his opinion, and board members then pointed out that the Plan Commission had recommended a cul-de-sac at the north end of Tomah Avenue, one of the proposed streets in the subdivision.

The developer said he had not complied with the recommendation by placing the turnaround on his plans. He added that the simple dead-end street running through to the end of his property as shown on the plan had been recommended to him by the Arlington Heights Park Board.

THE PARK district is considering use of a part of the District 23 Palatine Road School property directly north of the subdivision as a park, and the road would then serve as a path or vehicle access to the park.

Wenborg also said the placement of a cul-de-sac, the third in the subdivision, would mean the loss of a lot.

Trustee William J. Moore then went back to the annexation problem, asking that Wenborg sit down with the village manager to find out what would be involved.

Moore said he was sure the developer and the village could "come to a meeting of the minds here."

PROPOSED VALUE of the homes and lot sizes are far above the village average, and the first unit of Arrowhead subdivision, already developed, lies directly south.

Wenborg again stated that he did not think it right for him to annex the area, but agreed to sit down with Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson before the adjourned board meeting scheduled for next Monday.

Consideration of plan approval was postponed until then. (A

Scholarships Given By Women's Club

Two District 214 high school seniors last week received college scholarships from the Arlington Heights Women's Club. They were Richard Koepke from Forest View High School and Pat Musial from Prospect High School.

This announcement came from L. S. Jenness, principal of Forest View High School; and Alvin L. Kulieke, principal of Prospect High School.

Richard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Koepke, 1507 S. Belmont, Arlington Heights; and Pat is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Boles Musial, 424 S. Donald, Arlington Heights.

THE TWO scholarships were proceeds from a card party, Cards for Scholars, sponsored by the club. Mrs. John Lindstrom was chairman of this affair. Club president is Mrs. Z. R. Rogozinski. Education and scholarship chairman of the committee that chose the scholarship recipients is Mrs. William Frank.

Mrs. Rogozinski said that the two students may use the scholarships wherever they wish. Pat is interested in attending Western Illinois University in Macomb; and Richard, Northern Illinois University in DeKalb.

Pat's senior counselor at Prospect High School is Miss Mary J. Christie. Richard's senior counselor at Forest View High School is Floyd B. Hillman.

Auxiliary Wants Novels, Puzzles

The women's auxiliary of Arlington Heights VFW Post 981 would like pocket book novels and jigsaw puzzles for use at the Elgin Veterans Hospital.

Mrs. Shirley McDougall, 433 S. Vail, Arlington Heights, said donations may be taken to the post clubhouse, 811 N. Yale Ave., or they will be picked up if necessary. For pick-up, call Mrs. McDougall, CL 3-6151, or E. R. Doyle, HE 7-2864.

Post 981 Entrant Wins VFW Contest

One of two entrants sponsored by Arlington Heights VFW Post 981 in the VFW script writing and speech making competition was declared winner of the 4th district department contest.

First place was awarded to Richard Mosher, 531 W. Kathleen Drive, Des Plaines, a student at Forest View High School. He will compete in the state finals to be held Saturday in the studios of WGN.

The other contestant sponsored by Post 981 was Jill Swanson, student at Sacred Heart of Mary High School, Rolling Meadows.

Second place winner in the 4th district was Mark Helniniak of Westchester. Third place went to Jane Munson of Bellwood.

The theme for this year's contest was "The Challenge of Citizenship." The competition was open to all sophomore, junior and senior high school students in private, public and parochial schools in the U. S. and its possessions and children of military and civilian personnel serving with the armed forces overseas. (ACM-E

Scouts Distribute Voters Guide Book

Girl Scouts in Arlington Heights, Prospect Heights, Elk Grove Village and Mount Prospect recently helped the Arlington Heights League of Women Voters distribute the new league "Voters Information Guide Book" as a civic service project.

Mrs. Seth Grossman, league voters service chairman, last week announced that distribution of 4,500 copies of the free handbook had been completed with the cooperation of the Girl Scouts and the Chamber of Commerce. Copies were presented to the village and school boards in the communities covered by the handbook, she said.

The guide book contains information concerning local, township, state, national and school governing bodies. Lists of board members, times when they meet and voting information are some of the items in the booklet. The booklet is free and may be obtained from Mrs. Grossman at HE 7-0785 or Mrs. Russell Gardner at CL 9-2757.

JANUARY UNIT meetings will be at the following homes: Monday, Jan. 27, 8 p.m., Mrs. R. Larberg, 549 Charring Cross, Elk Grove Village; Tuesday, Jan. 28, 8 p.m., Mrs. Donald Anderson, 309 E. Euclid, Arlington Heights; Wednesday, Jan. 29 at 9:30 a.m., Mrs. Paul Richardson, 1612 N. Kaspar, Arlington Heights. Babysitting for Wednesday's meeting will be at 1726 N. Patton.

Subject for discussion will be the league's local agenda study of the feasibility of a local human relations commission. This is the second in the series of league membership meetings on the subject.

Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Stephen Caruso, CL 5-0369. (ACM-E

Summer School Cut to 6 Weeks

The reduction of summer school from an eight-week to a six-week operation received unanimous approval by the Arlington High School District 214 board of education last week.

By increasing the morning class sessions from three hours to four hours, students will receive the same amount of instruction in a two-week shorter period.

Classes will meet from 8 a.m. to noon for students seeking one unit of school credit. Classes will be held from 1 to 3 p.m. for those students who are seeking an additional 1/2 unit credit.

The longer-day, fewer-weeks summer school plan is followed by 20 of 32 suburban schools surveyed.

COST OF SUMMER school would remain the same.

Geratest advantage of the plan, according to Supt. H. L. Slichenmyer, is a two-week longer vacation period for students and teachers. This would enable parents to plan vacations over a longer period of time, no longer limiting them to a total of two or three weeks in which students would be out of school, he said.

Slichenmyer noted the shorter summer school would encourage more students to participate. He said he believed a majority of parents of summer-school students would welcome the six-week program.

Another benefit of the shorter summer school would be an additional two-week period for custodians to ready the schools for the fall semester.

Summer school will open on Monday, June 22, this year. (ACM-E

Bickley Endorsed By Wheeling GOP

The Wheeling Township Regular Republican Organization voted unanimously last week to endorse John H. Bickley Jr., 612 S. George St., Mount Prospect, candidate for Cook County State's Attorney.

Bickley, a member of the Mount Prospect Village Board and a former federal prosecutor credited with getting a deportation order against Paul "The Waiter" Ricca, has also been endorsed by the GOP committeemen in Elk Grove, Wheeling, Barrington, Hanover, Schaumburg and Palatine Townships.

THE WHEELING organization also voted to endorse U. S. Rep. Donald Rumsfeld of Glenview, candidate for re-election to Congress from the 13th District, and State Sen. W. Russell Arrington of Evanston, candidate for re-election from the 4th Senatorial District.

The Wheeling precinct captains voted last October to support the candidacy of Charles H. Percy, Republican candidate for governor.

"In addition to indicating our strong support for these candidates, we will work to see that they carry Wheeling Township by at least a 5-1 margin," said Thomas J. Houser, Wheeling Township GOP committeeman.

Carol Torrens Wins Good Citizen Award

Senior Carol Torrens of Forest View High School this week was named school's winner of the Daughters of the American Revolution Good Citizen Award.

Carol is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Torrens, 703 S. Ioka, Mt. Prospect. The local DAR chapter is the Eli Skinner Chapter of Arlington Heights.

THE SCHOOL'S seniors voted for nominees last week, and the final choice was made by the faculty. Carol will be awarded a plaque at an awards assembly later this school year.

Carol will now enter the DAR regional contest. She is entering her answers on a detailed questionnaire on American history. The state has seven regions.

The state DAR Good Citizen will receive $100 and be eligible for the national contest.

Schools Harmonize In Music Festival

District 214's three high schools will combine musical talents Monday evening, Feb. 3, for the annual District Music Festival at 8 p.m. in the Arlington High School boys' gym.

Noted guest conductors will direct a 132 piece band made up of Arlington, Forest View, and Prospect's finest instrumentalists; and 450 vocalists in mixed chorus and girls' chorus selections.

Tickets will be on sale at the door.

DIRECTING THE chorus will be Robert McCowen, associate professor at Iowa State University. Band director is Glenn Cliffe Bainum, director emeritus at Northwestern University.

McCowen began directing vocal music at West Waterloo, Iowa, High School in 1941. In 1950 he became director of vocal activities at Knox College, Galesburg.

He directed vocal music at Western Illinois University in 1951 and returned to Iowa State in 1952.

ROBERT McCOWEN

McCOWEN HAS been choral director at summer music clinics for the University of Wisconsin, University of Kansas, Western Illinois University, Southwestern College, Utah State University, International Peace Gardens, and Egyptian Music Camp.

The Festival's choral numbers will include "An Ancient Psalm," by Ron Nelson; "Waters Ripple and Flow," by Deems Taylor; "Under the Willow Tree," from Samuel Barber's Opera "Vanessa."

"Blow, Thou Wind, Blow," by Beadell; "Blessing, Glory, and Wisdom," by Bach; and "May Day Carol," by Deems Taylor.

McCowen will conduct his own "We Praise Thee, O Lord," and the grand finale, "Sine Nomine."

Forest View News

Happy Birthday wishes this week are extended to Mary Ella Rodriguez, Gloria Valdilles, Samuel Steven Wilson, Mike Smalenberger and Juan Sauceda.

Julia Luczak, S. Arlington Heights Road, entertained the Anything Can Happen Club last Wednesday. Seven members were present for an evening of fun with games and refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank May, S. State Road, entertained Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gabriel of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Foss of Northlake on Saturday night. Mr. Gabriel brought his guitar along and they all joined in for a "hootenanny" after dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Colomatteo were recent hosts to the Tom Hartnett and Jerry Duro families of Arlington Heights and the Carmen Muguala family of Cicero. In the evening they were joined by friends from Elmwood Park.

DON MARTINSON of Wethersfield, Conn., brother of Mrs. J. Colomatteo, has returned home after spending five days in Chicago and Mount Prospect on a combination business and visiting trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Button, 511 Hatlen Ave., were entertained on Sunday by Mr. and Mrs. Paul Seleski at dinner after which they "fought the waistline" at the bowling alley.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Ross recently enjoyed dinner and an evening at Illinois State Beach Park.

Adrienne Holfeld of Briarwood Drive accompanied her father on a 10 day business trip to Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. "What a wonderful way to get her geography and social science lessons."

The Edward Holfeld family spent Sunday at the Fox River Grove ski meet. Because of the misty weather, it was hard to see as much as they would have liked to, but they said it was an enjoyable day anyway.

Mrs. Holfeld was a luncheon guest at Jacques Restaurant in Chicago with her aunt, Mrs. Conrad W. Peterson, on Thursday.

MISS PHYLLIS Menard of Rusty Drive entertained a former classmate, Miss Kris Miller of Chicago, for the weekend. They spent Saturday shopping and bowling. Sunday they were joined by Miss Judy Adasiewicz of Chicago, Jerome Kertz and the rest of the Menard family for dinner, ping pong and pool.

Joyce Nilsson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Nilsson of 1726 Robbie Lane, whose engagement was recently announced to Hugh Morgan of Daytona Beach, Fla., spent the recent holidays with Hugh and his parents in Daytona Beach. The Morgans are former Chicago residents. The Nilssons are planning an engagement party for Joyce and Hugh to be held Feb. 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Horn of Rusty Drive had the pleasant surprise of Ernie's sister coming to town for a visit over lis.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hill attended the Bar Mitzvah party for Sidney Rosenberg at the Sheridan Plaza Hotel in Chicago. Sidney's father, Arthur Rosenberg is one of Jack's fellow workers. They enjoyed the evening with dining and dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Nystrom of Chicago were dinner guests of the Carl Baardsen family of Estates Drive on Saturday. The Nystroms are grandparents of the Baardsen children, and needless to say the favorite guests of Karen Sue, Carlene and Kristen.

This column really belongs to all in the Forest View area, but is supported by only a few. How about it folks, let's have your news. Call and add your bit.

Calendar Okayed For High Schools

The calendar for the 1964-65 school year at Arlington High School District 214 was approved by the school board last week.

The year will total 180 actual teaching days, three days more than the state requirements. By state law, schools must be in session for at least 180 days, but this is reduced by the number of teacher "institute" days or teacher enrichment-education programs. In Cook County there are three institute days approved each year by Dr. Noble Puffer, county superintendent of schools.

School will open for students on Tuesday, Sept. 8, immediately after the Labor Day weekend. School will begin for all new teachers in District 214 on Monday, Aug. 31, and for returning teachers on Tuesday, Sept. 1. Teachers will attend workshop meetings and prepare for school opening during the pre-Labor Day week, ending with a District Institute Day on Friday, Sept. 4.

School will close for students on Friday, June 11, 1965, with commencement exercises set for the June 11 evening.

TEACHERS will continue in school on Monday and Tuesday, June 14 and 15 for a final workshop session.

A two-week vacation for the Christmas - New Year holiday will start at the close of classes on Wednesday, Dec. 23. School will reopen on Monday, Jan. 4, 1965.

The Easter vacation will begin at the close of school on Friday, April 9, 1965. Classes will resume on Tuesday, April 20. Thanksgiving vacation will be Thursday and Friday, Nov. 26 and 27, 1964.

Holidays will be Veterans' Day on Wednesday, Nov. 11, and Lincoln's Birthday on Friday, Feb. 12, 1965. Memorial Day falls on a Sunday. By state law schools cannot observe the holiday on a Monday even though banks, stock exchanges, courts and private firms may mark Sunday holidays on Monday.

THE END OF the first semester will be Friday, Jan. 22, 1965. A teachers institute will be held on Monday, Jan. 25, with the first day of classes for the second semester set for Tuesday, Jan. 26.

Another teachers institute will be held on Friday, Nov. 6, 1964.

In discussing the calendar, Supt. H. L. Slichenmyer indicated most area elementary school districts would probably have similar school calendars with some possible variations for Easter vacation and end of school dates. Many grade schools schedule teacher-parent conferences, dismissing classes for these days. To make up these days some elementary districts cut down on Easter vacation time or extend the school year, Slichenmyer explained.

Parents who have children in both high school and grade school are outspoken in urging that school calendars be the same so that possible winter, spring or early summer vacations can be planned, Slichenmyer said. (ACM-E

Give Tentative Nod To PTA Insurance

Arlington Heights Elementary School Board Monday tentatively approved extending its liability insurance coverage to protect parent-teacher associations when they are using school property.

The approval is subject to the okay of the board's attorney. Some board members felt that they might be exceeding their legal authority in putting PTA coverage in their policy.

The PTAs would pay the extra premium, $12 a year, but their coverage would come from the school board's policy.

School Supt. R. E. Clabaugh said that the costs of PTAs taking out their own separate insurance are prohibitive.

Joseph Faner, president of the school board, quipped that it probably will cost the district more to get its attorney's opinion than it would for the PTAs to buy their own insurance.

Another board member, however, pointed out that the same sort of question may arise in the near future. (A

Cut Price Of Lunch To 40 Cents

Students attending the three elementary schools in Arlington Heights whose cafeterias sell meals got a nickel break Monday.

The school board voted to reduce the price of meals to 40 cents from 45 cents.

Supt. R. E. Clabaugh reported that all the cafeterias in the school district have operated at a profit so far this school year and the district could cut the meal price and still break even on its food service for the year.

County Challenged

2 Apartment Rezoning Cases Taken to Court

The Cook County Circuit Court will hear February 6 the first of two attempts to reverse recent county board decisions rejecting apartments in Elk Grove Township.

The petitioner, Dawn Fresh Co., LeSuer, Minn., was denied rezoning May 24 to construct 150 apartments on the south side of Dempster Street, some 220 feet west of Elmhurst Road.

Judge Charles S. Dougherty will hear the suit.

Assistant State's Atty. Charles A. Berke will defend the case for the county. Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, and United Air-Lines will intervene on the county's side as separate parties.

Elk Grove District 59 school superintendent Roger Bardwell will be among the witnesses testifying for the county.

THE SAME date the county denied a petition by the American National Bank, 33 N. LaSalle St., Chicago, acting as trustees, for rezoning of 13 acres at the northeast corner of Dempster and Linneman Roads.

The petitioner, represented by Atty. Robert E. Haskins, 111 W. Washington St., Chicago, will seek reversal of this decision before the Circuit Court.

Berke said this hearing will probably be held later in February. A definite date has yet to be announced.

This petition called for development of 256 apartment units.

The county zoning board, in recommending rejection of the petitions, had stated that it would be "imprudent zoning and planning to rezone additional property when multi-family zoning in the general area was not fully developed and experiencing high vacancy rates."

THE ZONING board added that fire protection equipment was not adequate to serve the project.

It stated that rezoning would not be "in the public interest but would be primarily in the interest of the applicant."

Both applications were for rezoning from single-family residential to multi-family.

Among those who had protested the two petitions were Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Elk Grove Village, Des Plaines, United Air Lines, and the Elk Ridge Villa Home Owners Association.

UNITED Air Lines' primary concern was that the petition for rezoning of land at Dempster and Linneman Roads, adjacent to United's general offices, called for two acres rezoned for a restaurant and cocktail lounge.

The county's decision to deny the petitions was hailed by area officials.

The decision had came less than a month after municipal and school officials met with county officials to explain their objections to increased apartment projects in the area. (A-E

Today the U.S.A. gets a new little foreign car

Its name is Opel Kadett.
General Motors builds it overseas. And Buick imports it.
Opel Kadett comes four ways. Sedan. Sunroof sedan. Sports coupe. Wagon.
You get a 46 h.p. engine (54 in the coupe). It's practically noiseless.
You get seat belts. Stick shift. Four forward speeds, all synchronized.
And the regular General Motors warranty—24-months / 24,000-miles.*
Know what else? The chassis doesn't require lubrication. No lube points.
Opel is priced right in there with the other little foreign cars.

Opel Kadett: the new little German car with General Motors behind it.

New vehicle warranty—Buick Motor Division of General Motors Corporation warrants each new Opel Kadett motor vehicle and chassis including all equipment and accessories thereon (except tires), supplied by Buick Motor Division and delivered to the original retail purchaser by an authorized Opel Kadett Dealer, to be free from defects in material and workmanship under normal use and service; Buick Motor Division's obligation under this warranty being limited to repairing or replacing at its option any part or parts thereof which shall, within twenty-four (24) months after delivery of such vehicle or chassis to the original retail purchaser or before such vehicle or chassis has been driven twenty-four thousand (24,000) miles, whichever event shall first occur, be returned to an authorized Opel Kadett Dealer at such Dealer's place of business and which examination shall disclose to Buick Motor Division's satisfaction to have been thus defective. The repair or replacement of defective parts under this warranty will be made by such Dealer without charge for parts, and if made at such Dealer's place of business, without charge for labor.

The provisions of this warranty shall not apply to any Opel Kadett motor vehicle or chassis which has been subject to misuse, negligence or accident, or which shall have been repaired or altered outside of an authorized Opel Kadett dealership in any way so as, in the judgment of Buick Motor Division, to affect adversely its performance and reliability, nor to normal maintenance services (such as engine tune up, fuel system cleaning and wheel, brake and clutch adjustments) and the replacement of service items (such as spark plugs, ignition points, filters and brake and clutch lining) made in connection with such services, nor to normal deterioration of soft trim and appearance items due to wear and exposure.

This warranty is expressly in lieu of any other warranties, expressed or implied, including any implied warranty of merchantability or fitness for a particular purpose, and of any other obligations or liability on the part of Buick Motor Division, and Buick Motor Division neither assumes nor authorizes any other person to assume for it any other liability in connection with such motor vehicle or chassis.

THE DRIVER OF A loaded gasoline transport truck escaped injury early last Friday when his vehicle overturned on the tank farm property south of Mount Prospect. Village firemen called to the scene shortly after 6 a.m. said the truck, driven by Jim Spanier, 24, of Chicago, landed wheels-up between two rows of loaded fuel carriers. The vehicle contained 7,700 gallons of gasoline, all of which was washed away with 22,000 gallons of water brought to the scene by Mount Prospect, Elk Grove Village and Arlington Heights fire departments. The truck is owned by Standard Oil Co., and the mishap occurred on Standard Oil property at the tank farm. Spanier and fire officials could not explain what caused the truck to overturn. (ACME

Aid Burned Teacher

Oswald Benefit Is Saturday Night

Students and teachers of High School District 214 will rally this Saturday to the support of David Oswald, the young teacher critically burned in automobile accident just the day before he was to begin his first teaching job at Forest View High School.

A benefit evening of sports and entertainment climaxed by a student sock hop is scheduled Saturday night at Prospect High School Fieldhouse.

Because he had not yet started teaching, Oswald was not covered by the regular hospital insurance plan carried by most of the high school teachers. He is still recovering in Elmhurst Hospital.

THE EVENING will feature an intramural basketball game between students of Prospect and Forest View High Schools and a faculty game between teachers from Arlington High and Forest View.

Halftime entertainment will include a volleyball game between teams of girl all-stars from Prospect and Arlington High and music by the Prospect Mellotones, all-girl singing group.

The Forest View Orchesis, modern dance group, and the Arlington High girls' drill team will entertain between the basketball games.

The program will end with the sock hop for students of all three schools. Tickets are 25 cents each.

TICKETS FOR the benefit may be purchased at the door. They will sell for $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. There is no charge for children under six.

The benefit was arranged by a faculty committe comprised of Art Brownell and Al Snap of Arlington High School, Evan Shull of Forest View and Boyd Saum of Prospect High. (ACM-E

John Doremus, WMAQ radio personality, will be master of ceremonies at the Mental Health Mardi Gras dance Friday, Feb. 7, at Old Orchard Country Club in Prospect Heights.

The dance will begin at 9 p.m. with music by Bud Brinkman's orchestra. It is sponsored by the Mount Prospect chapter of the Northwest Mental Health Association.

Doremus is host for the nightly radio program, "Patterns in Music," now in its fifth year. He also has a regular daytime show.

Entertainment will include a husband and wife team from Mount Prospect, Dorothy and Jack Wilkins, 712 S. Lewis, who will offer vocals with guitar accompaniment. Jay Melind of Des Plaines will present folk songs.

TICKETS INCLUDE a midnight buffet, said Mrs. Harrison Hanson, 500 S. William, Mount Prospect, general chairman.

They may be purchased from any member of the association or from the ticket chairman, Mrs. Harry Bruhl, 818 Dresser, CL 5-5774. Persons desiring to reserve tables of 8, 10, or 12 may call Mrs. Hanson at 392-4774.

Although the ballroom will have an authentic New Orleans atmosphere and a king and queen of the Mardi Gras will be chosen, the affair is not a costume ball, Mrs. Hanson emphasized.

Proceeds from the dance will help support the Mental Health Clinic at 1711 W. Campbell, Arlington Heights. The clinic provides help to persons with emotional and mental problems in Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, and adjacent communities.

During last year, the clinic's professional staff handled 484 new cases, of which 229 were children. (ACM

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS OPEN SUNDAYS

Socials Keep Some Villagers Hopping, Others Relax

While most of Arlington Heights residents relaxed over the weekend, a variety of social events kept others busy. There were birthdays to celebrate and soon to appear on the scene will be homecoming college students for brief between semester vacations.

Birthday congratulations are in order for Kathleen Andres, daughter of the Andres, 1145 N. Belmont. Kathy was 7 years old Jan. 17, and began celebrating her birthday immediately with a party at school for her classmates, and she had another party Saturday for 15 friends. Sunday, she was guest of honor at a dinner party at home for some of her favorite grownups, including Dr. Royal Fitch and Rev. Alfred Piernowski, chaplain of St. Joseph Hospital in Elgin, and all her aunts and uncles.

The Jim Daltons, 522 S. Dunton, were hosts at a supper party Saturday to celebrate the birthday of their neighbor, Marion Hogate. Guests included Mrs. Hogate, the R. Spencer Davises and the Kevin Daltons, each of whom will be similarly feted when their birthdays arrive.

THE ARTHUR Trevers, 714 S. Dunton, celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary Sunday at a surprise supper party given for them by their neighbors at the home of the John B. McCombs. Serving as hosts with the McCombs were the Forrest B. Traceys, the Kenneth Hulls and a former Dunton Street neighbor, Mrs. Mary Volz of Evanston.

Mrs. George Gabrielsen, 705 S. Chestnut, entertained Sunday at a bridal shower and buffet supper for 40 guests in honor of her niece, Miss Nancy Jo Sedgwick, whose marriage to Lee Honeman will take place Feb. 8, in Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church of Glenview. Both Miss Sedgwick and Mr. Honeman live in Glenview.

The wedding will bring back nostalgic memories to the Gabrielsens, for at their own wedding 15 years ago, their niece served as the little flower girl, and now at Miss Sedgwick's forthcoming wedding she will have as her attendants, the Gabrielsens' son, Ken, as usher and daughter, Eileen, as flower girl.

MISS DEBBIE Reiss, who became a teenager Monday, marked the occasion with two birthday parties. The first one was Friday, and was a supper, ice skating and slumber party, and the second was Monday, when she joined her family for a birthday supper at Plentywood Farm. Debbie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Erhard Reiss, 618 S. Evergreen.

Miss Marilyn Smith, daughter of the J. A. Smiths, 909 S. Dunton, is leaving for St. Louis Jan. 23 to spend a week at the home of her college roommate, Miss Elaine Gabler. Both girls are freshmen at Elmhurst College.

A favorite winter sport of the James Hahn family, 919 N. Ridge, is ice fishing. Last weekend, Mr. Hahn and three of his sons went to Lake Delavan to fish, and were joined by his brother, Joseph Hahn of Mount Prospect and his three daughters.

Mrs. Norman Bauske, 102 E. Orchard, is recuperating at home after undergoing major surgery last week in Holy Family hospital.

HAROLD Nebel, 203 S. Kennicott, will be getting about on crutches until he recovers completely from a broken leg incurred when he slipped on the ice last Tuesday. Mr. Nebel finds his accident particularly frustrating at this time because he was preparing to join his first place teammates in the VFW Bowling Tournament. His brother, Ralph Nebel of Rolling Meadows, will substitute for him.

Miss Judy Hendricks, who has been student teaching in North School in Evansville, Ind., came home Monday to spend several days with her parents, the James Hendricks, 1506 E. POCKETBOOK DRAIN

by LOE LAMPING

We replaced a "mashed" tailpipe and a set of shock absorbers on an automobile the other day. The waste of it was that the shocks caused the damage to the perfectly good tailpipe. This is a situation that doesn't happen often, but is possible. Extra money spent that wouldn't have been necessary with a little precaution.

When you notice unusual swaying and skidding, bumpiness over just moderate rough roads, this is the warning that you need shock absorber inspection.

Drive over to JOE'S SUNOCO AUTO SERVICE, 2101 E. Northwest hwy., Arlington Heights; we'll test them for "free" and show you the difference in effect. That short drive for auto service of any kind could save you money in the long run.

Arlington Greens

A board meeting of the Arlington Greens Community Association will be held Jan. 29 at 8 p.m., in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Tomaso, 635 E. Clarendon.

High scorers in Men's Bridge for January were: Tom McCook, 5900; Bob Bright, 5660; and Gary Waffle, 4910. The once-a-month group met in the Tomaso home Thursday evening.

Mrs. Tony Bengal hosted the Haddow Court ladies last Tuesday evening.

A double header birthday party in the Leverick home on N. Douglas on Jan. 12 observed the occasions for 11-year-old Mickey and 3-year-old Lynne. Guests at the dinner party were the senior Emil Levericks and the Bob Leverick family, all of Highland Park, and Mr. and Mrs. Uno Kronholm of Lake Forest.

A WINTER vacation for the Mel Kasen family of N. Haddow Court began during the Christmas holidays, with a motor trip to Orlando, Fla., and a 10-day visit with Mrs. Herman Kasen. Several days after their return, the family headed north to Gladstone, Mich., for a four-day visit with grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Ogren, and to enjoy the winter sports in the area. A skiing mishap for fifth grader Ann prolonged her visit and the return trip was by ambulance last Tuesday. After a four-day stay in Lutheran General Hospital, where her broken leg was put in a cast, Ann joine dthe family on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Hoffman returned to their N. Hickory home last Monday evening from Davenport. The unexpected trip was to attend the funeral of Thomas P. Madden, father of Mrs. Hoffman. The children, Eileen, R.J. and John enjoyed the visit from their grandmother, Mrs. Robert Hoffman of La Grange during their parents' absence. On Saturday afternoon, 6-year-old Eileen celebrated her birthday with an afternoon party with a circus theme for 12 neighborhood playmates and friends from Rolling Meadows.

A MOTOR trip downstate served a double purpose for the Floyd Kingstons of N. Beverly Lane. It was a get-acquainted visit for 2-month-old Jane with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Endicott of Harrisburg, where mother and daughter visited all of last week. A sales convention in Evansville kept Mr. Kingston occupied most of their stay, but allowed enough time to visit friends and former neighbors. The family returned home on Sunday.

Weekend guests of the William Smits on N. Douglas were the senior Smits of Green Bay. On Saturday evening they were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Otto Dodegge of Elmhurst for dinner out and an evening performance of "Camelot" at the Opera House. Gas dries over four loads for the cost of one with other dryers

It costs this little to dry a load with Gas

It costs this much to dry a load with other dryers

Dry clothes all year long with Gas for the cost of drying only three months with other automatics

Any way you look at it, Gas dries best for less

The average family saves nearly $20 a year by having a gas dryer instead of any other automatic. In 10 years (the average life of a clothes dryer) you've saved enough to pay for your gas dryer.

With gas, your clothes dry fast, come out soft and sweet-smelling. There's no dry baking action to set wrinkles. And you don't have to invest in costly heavy-duty wiring to operate your gas dryer.

So don't be fooled by "special" price offers on other automatic dryers. They can't begin to equal the long-term savings and satisfaction that come with owning a modern, dependable gas dryer.

See the new gas dryers now on display at your appliance dealer's or at your nearby Northern Illinois Gas Company showroom.

Highway Officials Defend Their Roads

THIS NEWLY-BUILT PORTION of Route 53 at the southern part of Rolling Meadows is typical of the expressway which is continuing northward through Palatine to the west of Arlington Heights. Although few cars and trucks are in sight, the State Highway Department predicts the road will be used at full capacity by 1980, carrying 100,000 vehicles a day. This particular stretch has four traffic lanes running each direction because of the short distance between interchanges. Further north there will be only three lanes each way. Altogether, 12 lanes parallel each other here, including two service roads, out of the picture.

Plan Ahead For 20 Years

by DON HEINE
Staff Writer

Most drivers in northwest suburbs are familiar with jammed traffic lanes. But a feel of the wide open spaces comes on one new stretch of superhighway.

This is the part of Route 53 running north from Northwest Tollway to Kirchoff Road in Rolling Meadows. This year construction will be continuing northward through Palatine and west of Arlington Heights.

You may zip down the new Route 53 without hardly being aware of another car in sight. An expanse of pavement and dividing strips spreads out on four sides. Over the width of the right-of-way are spread 12 traffic lanes, four going north on the main road and four going south and two-lane service roads on each side.

Luxury driving like this comes on a road which costs approximately $1,500,000 a mile to build, according to highway engineers. Land costs are extra.

A FEW DRIVERS, however, have taken a critical view of Route 53. Will it ever carry enough traffic to pay for itself? Could tax money be better spent elsewhere? Was this route, and others, planned to accommodate patrons of the Arlington Park racetrack?

The over-all road building program in Illinois recently was subjected to an unfavorable comparison by State Rep. Abner Mikva (D-Chicago). The lawmaker commented "Illinois spends more money on highways than education. Our kids will wend their way to illiteracy down the best paved roads in the nation."

Engineers for the state highway department, however, proudly point to the new Route 53 as an example of good planning to keep abreast of a forthcoming population explosion in this northwest area. The superhighway program also has staunch local supporters.

"It seems like a lot of pavement," concedes Albert Cifer, district design engineer for the state highway department, Cook County division. But, he adds, this road is designed to handle the traffic load expected for the year 1980. By then it is predicted that 100,000 vehicles will pass over the superhighway daily.

Highway engineers say one traffic lane can carry 1,500 cars an hour in rush periods, with adequate spacing still being left for safe driving.

The state highway department uses a 20-year projection in designing interchanges and those now being built came off the drawing boards in 1960-61.

Land can not be purchased by the highway department for future construction, according to Cifer. If the department would build a road which would be outgrown in five or 10 years, the department would be forced to go back to buy more right-of-way, which would have increased in value.

Expressway routes are picked by the Chicago Area Transportation study. This group represents the state highway department, the Cook County Highway Department and the City of Chicago.

CIFER said efforts are made to find the most economical, yet practical route, by running a corridor between villages.

Construction work now is in progress on Route 53, between Kirchoff and Northwest Highway. The work will cost approximately $3,050,000, including a cloverleaf, connecting with the county's new four-lane model of Euclid Avenue past the racetrack, and a bridge over Industrial Avenue.

To the north is to be built an interchange with a bridge over the North Western Railroad tracks and Northwest Highway, costing about $1.5 million to $2 million. The department expects to call for contractors bids on this work in February or March. By fall, bids are expected to be requested for construction between Northwest Highway and Rand Road, including the Palatine Road cloverleaf.

This year's construction work will leave Rolling Meadows cut in two, an experience which may await other municipalities.

Mayor John J. Woods looks upon this major surgery as having been a painful ordeal, but being of long range benefit to the community.

"I feel that traffic demands today require highways to be what they are," the mayor says. "The over-all picture will benefit Rolling Meadows and adjacent area."

Woods agrees that the road system as designed will expedite travel to and from the racetrack, but sees the results as beneficial to his community. He says the track traffic flow now is a heavy burden on police, causing them to work extra long hours, on an unpleasant job, of directing drivers who aren't interested in local traffic laws, and at times are extremely discourteous and reckless. The Euclid cloverleaf will remove much of the difficulty.

How does a local government fare in dealing with a big agency like the state highway department?

"Approximately 50 per cent of our wishes have been met," Woods replies, although he praises highway officials for being attentive to all requests.

ONE MAJOR disappointment was the state's refusal to shift the highway, south of Kirchoff, a few yards westward toward Plum Grove Estates. As the road now stands, back yards of residences have been chopped off and school grounds lost.

Likewise, the city was unable to persuade the state to erect a major interchange on Kirchoff for the benefit of merchants and local commuters.

On the positive side, Rolling Meadows persuaded the state to alter original plans and install an interchange on Algonquin Road. Previously no entry or exit was planned.

One major loss to the community was in land through the industrial park. Revenue from this high-tax producing property has been lost forever. But, in addition, for a period of about two years, land sales in the area were practically frozen, because no manufacturer was willing to take a chance in building until the final highway route was determined.

Woods currently hopes to achieve two concessions for the city:

—State approval of a pedestrian overpass in the vicinity of Central Road, especially for children going to school, church, or play.

—An agreement from the county that in extending Euclid Avenue westward, local needs will receive prime consideration. This would include keeping access open to local residents and laying out Euclid for minimum disturbance of the Plum Grove Countryside development of 350 existing and proposed homes.

How sound economically is the current road-building program in Illinois? One answer is given by William J. Mortimer, of Barrington, who recently retired as Cook County highway commissioner.

The building program, says Mortimer, has paid for itself, in terms of reduced travel time and greater safety for the motorist and of increased values for property.

"WHERE you have transportation you have development," says Mortimer, citing as an example, "The Village of Arlington Heights wouldn't be there if it wasn't for the North Western Railroad."

Mortimer called lack of public money the major present handicap in the road building program. He said Cook County has just about exhausted its $245,000,000 bond issue for road construction.

Action by Gov. Otto Kerner in appointing a commission to evaluate highway planning in Illinois was praised by Mortimer as "definitely a step in the right direction." He said long-range planning is nothing new in state and county road building, but patterns change.

One question which the former commissioner said he wouldn't attempt to answer is "Will the demand for new highways continue to grow in the future, as it has since the first car was invented, or will the trend level off some day?"

YMCA to Conduct Physical Fitness Clinic for Adults

"Many ailments accompanying middle age can be avoided completely or postponed for as much as 15 years by body conditioning," states Dr. Thomas Cureton who will conduct a Physical Fitness Clinic for middle-aged men and women at Northwest Suburban YMCA Feb. 7, 8 and 9. Dr. Cureton, a nationally known consultant on physical fitness, describes middle age as anywhere between 25 and 65.

"The human body is the only machine that breaks down when not used. Moreover, it's also the only mechanism that functions better the more it is put to use," continues Dr. Cureton.

THE PURPOSE of the clinic will be to provide an important service for each man and woman participating by determining their present condition, followed by definite recommendations according to clinic findings.

"This program is in keeping with Dwight Eisenhower's and former President Kennedy's emphasis on physical fitness for our nation," says Charles McClellan, executive secretary of the local YMCA. "We are fortunate to obtain a man of Dr. Cureton's stature for such a vital program."

A limit of 40 enrollments will be accepted for the clinic, which is sponsored by the Cambridge Club, business and professional men's club of the local YMCA. Those enrolling need not be 'Y' members.

DR. CURETON holds a PhD from Columbia University, spent 18 years on the faculty of Springfield College and the past 22 years on the faculty of the University of Illinois. He has served as a consultant to the National Committee on Physical Fitness and as a member of many Olympic committees. An author of 30 books and 200 articles, he has tested and analyzed the physical condition of over 60,000 men and women and conducted fitness clinics in over 200 cities in 11 countries.

McClellan reminds all readers that "a round abdomen is a waste of expanse" and that this program is offered at a nominal fee as another community service by the YMCA. Anyone interested in further information may call Northwest Suburban 'Y' at 296-3376. A folder will be sent upon request.

Fitness Clinic Is Scheduled at YMCA

WINTER ENCAMPMENT

The first annual Winter Encampment for Cadette Scouts will take place Jan. 25 and 26 at Camp McLean in Burlington, Wis. Skating, tobogganning, snow sculpture and snowballs will occupy the minds and bodies of 200 girls from Arlington Heights Troops 131, 136, 294, 474, 615 and 639; Des Plaines Troops 347, 612, 700, 788 and 820; Prospect Heights Troops 258 and 565, and Rolling Meadows Troop 812.

NORTHEAST ARLINGTON

The Des Plaines Navy Recruiting Office recently had Leader Mrs. Robert Novy and her Scout daughter, Roberta, bringing a carload of Christmas cards to them for distribution to orphanages around the world. The cards had been gathered by Brownie Troops 249 and 751; Junior Troops 154, 306 and 749; Cadette Troops 294 and 474, and Senior Troops 21 and 504.

SOUTH MOUNT PROSPECT

Senior Scout Lynda Sargol of Palatine was guest speaker at last week's meeting of Cadette Troop 597. Lynda was the Northwest Council representative to the All-States Encampment in Washington last summer and she told the troop of her trip and showed her own colored movies.

Junior Troop 708 enjoyed an ice skating party at the Lions Park Hockey Rink last week and were served refreshments of cocoa and cookies. At the troop's first meeting after Christmas, Ellen Tugaudis was selected as the Scout who had best lived a Girl Scout Law during the holidays.

Brownie Troop 123 spent the first Saturday of this month at the Museum of Science and Industry. In anticipation of warm weather and outdoor activities, Brownie Troop 452 is busy working on sit-upons.

During the holidays, Brownie Troop 114 held an ice skating party at Lions Park and Troop 219 carolled on Dresser Drive. Seven Brownies delivered 150 Christmas decorations, made by eight Brownie troops, to Northwest Hospital. The girls were: Rebecca Jackman, Troop 8; Adrienne Dailey, Troop 47; Cathy Mortell, Troop 56; Linda Munn, Troop 114; Kathy Cutchin, Troop 123; Jean Blasco, Troop 452; and Jean Gould, Troop 534. Troop 19 was the eighth troop that participated in this project.

ELK GROVE VILLAGE

For several weeks before Christmas, Troop 879, of Clearmont School, collected canned goods, toys and candy for four needy families of the village. These baskets were distributed Dec. 21 by the troop's leaders, Mrs. G. Mello, Mrs. R. Hischke and Mrs. R. Kroll, for which Scouts spent one meeting wrapping toys and gifts. Another meeting was spent in sewing felt horses heads which were used to decorate candy canes. The candy was given to the Illinois Missionary Children's Home of Lake Zurich for Christmas.

ROLLING MEADOWS

Troop 141, with its new leader, Mrs. Vincent Schrock, attended the dress rehearsal of "Oklahoma," had a November bike hike, a Camp Pine overnight and a Christmas party with its sister troop, Mrs. William Bull's Brownies. A snow party is now in the planning stage.

NORTH PALATINE

Candy rolls for Little City were the Christmas project of Junior Troop 27. Dec. 19, Connie Schnackel, Chris Dorsch, Susan Cross, Jeanne Frey and Deborah Malauf delivered the candy rolls. The girls were chosen by their patrols to accompany their leaders to Little City.

Combined Cadette Troops 347 and 700 went carolling at the Bee Dozier's Nursing Home Dec. 19. The troop will be going to the nursing home every first and third Saturday to play games with patients.

Twenty-eight Cadettes from the combined troops traveled to Chicago Dec. 28 to see "Camelot."

Brownie Troop 60 made bean bags with animal faces to send to the Dixon Home for Retarded Children for Christmas.

The Brownies' holiday party was held Dec. 30 at the home of their co-leader, Mrs. Wilbert Haemker. The girls played games and ended their party with refreshments. (B9

Taking second place in the Klondike Derby which drew 43 patrols from the 16 Boy Scout troops in Arlington Heights and Rolling Meadows was the Panther Patrol of Troop 135, sponsored by the Fisst Methodist Church in Arlington Heights. Kim Zajicek is the patrol leader and Jim Southard is his assistant.

IN THIRD place was the Buffalo Patrol of Troop 57, sponsored by the South Junior High school PTA of Arlington Heights. Scott Josif is the patrol leader.

In a tie for fourth place were the Apache Patrol of Troop 66 (St. James Church Holy Name Society) and the Cobra Patrol of Troop 32 (First Presbyterian Church Men's Club), both of Arlington Heights.

Joseph J. Talaber, 1207 N. Wilke, Arlington Heights, said four other patrols would receive blue ribbons for their successful efforts in the winter outing in addition to the first five winners. He praised unit leaders for their work in getting the patrols ready for the contest and said all awards would be presented at the next Sauk Woods Round Table.

Dr. Frank J. Psota, district health and safety director, paid tribute to the Barrington Red Cross Chapter which supplied a first aid unit under the direction of Charlie Spur for the Klondike Derby. (B9

Hostess Is 'Queen' In Her Future Home

If Mrs. Hal Lauger's home appeared to have nothing, but nothing, out of place Jan. 14 when the sewing group of Palatine Woman's Club met to sew for children at Cook County Hospital, it could have been that the hostess was one of those over-fastidious homemakers.

No reflections on Mrs. Lauger's housekeeping abilities, but such wasn't the case.

The home was in "company" condition because it is being used as a model home by Willow Wood Homes, which had granted permission for use of the model home for the meeting. The role of hostess in the home will be a repeated role for Mrs. Lauger some months hence, for the Laugers recently purchased the home and hope to move in some time next summer.

ALTHOUGH the home is completely furnished as far as furniture goes, the kitchen was notably bare, and to serve her guests, Mrs. Lauger had to transport all the "makings" for the "coffee and" from her present home at 20 S. Ashland. This took more than a little planning commented Mrs. Lauger, who remembered everything but ash trays, which in view of the recent news releases, shouldn't have been necessary anyway.

Co - hostessing the meeting with Mrs. Lauger was Mrs. N. Lawry, chairman of the civics and public affairs committee of the club, who reported that the 19 sewers thoroughly enjoyed the unique "house warming."

Teens to Stage Noel Coward

'Blithe Spirit' Mid-Winter Play

"Blithe Spirit," Noel Coward's famous tour de force of fancy in which he also displays the cutting edge of his wit, has been selected as Arlington High School's mid-winter play.

The sophisticated three-act comedy will be presented Feb. 13, 14, and 15 in the Arlington Little Theatre.

This is the second full-length production for Arlington since the high school began producing three regular plays a year and the first time contemporary English comedy has been attempted for the mid-year play.

FIRST PRODUCED in 1941, "Blithe Spirit" is regarded as one of three full-length comedies which most advanced Coward's reputation. The others were "Private Lives" (1930) and "Design for Living" (1933).

"Blithe Spirit" enlivens the theatre with Coward's reasoned opinion that ghosts of first wives are an embarassing superfluity in a household.

"It is somewhat more mature in humor and is written with greater taste than Coward's other comedies," explained Lyovonne M. Trad, director. "It is asknowledged as the most original of the comedies of manners which proliferated in England for half a century. Coward takes human beings as they are and society as it is, in this sophisticated lark, but rates neither one very highly. He carries off his trickery with a jaunty air, and this is more than half the fun."

THE ORIGINAL Broadway production in 1942 featured Clifton Webb, Peggy Wood, and Mildred Natwick.

The successful stage play was later made into a movie, and in 1960 was adapted for TV starring Lauren Bacall.

Noel Coward's theatrical career has been aptly described as "fabulous." His facility was so extraordinary that before he was 35 he already had 24 plays, revues, and musical comedies to his credit.

It was by virtue of wit and airy charm, wrote one leading critic recently, that Coward captivated London and New York with numerous comedies as well as with musicals.

TECHNICAL DIRECTOR for "Blithe Spirit" is James Walker, art instructor. Assisting him is senior Robert Johnston of 532 Banbury Road, Arlington Heights.

Miss Trad, instructor in English and speech, is also director of speech activities at Arlington. A graduate of Eureka College, she received her M.A. degree from the University of Illinois and taught speech in downstate Illinois before joining the Arlington staff in 1957.

Currently, she is serving her third year as one of three members on the Illinois High School Association's state speech advisory committee.

ASSISTANT TO the director is senior Geralynn DeZonna of 402 N. Reuter, Arlington Heights.

Admission is $1 and tickets are now available at Arlington High School office and Paddock Publications, 217 W. Campbell St., Arlington Heights. (ACM-E

Town Hall's Meeting Rooms Are Kept Busy

By BETTY ROGERS

When I had been asked what I had written for the column this week, all I could say was that I hadn't even started. Somehow, nothing seemed to matter much. It was suggested that I "ramble 'round" Randhurst, and I'd feel better. I might even lose the mood I was in. I didn't know if it would work but I thought I would give it a try.

I "rambled" into the next office. I noticed a table that had five ashtrays on it. They were all clean. The fellow in this office "books" the events in Town Hall, so it wasn't surprising when he asked if I had stopped at Town Hall last Monday night. He knows that I'm interested in theatre, and on Monday nights, "Music on Stage," one of the finest little theatre groups in this area, has been rehearsing their new show.

THIS GOT ME thinking. I bet many of you have no idea of all the events that keep Town Hall and the adjacent meeting rooms busy. Here are some typical examples.

Last Tuesday evening, the Hammond Organ Society had their meeting. This is a group of people who enjoy the music of the organ. Many of them are musicians, but this is not a requisite to join their group. The society usually has a guest artist for the evening, and you will be entertained with some of the finest organ melodies you have heard in a long time. If you are interested in learning more about the group, give Mr. Wais a call at Lyon and Healy, 392-2600.

If you're a bridge player, and your Wednesday evenings aren't busy, but you would like them to be, why not find out about duplicate bridge? I understand it is "the thing" for real bridge addicts. Town Hall is the place, or if they aren't in there, try the meeting room.

Now, on this Saturday, from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. Town Hall will be alive with the songs and dances and other entertainment that all of the Talented Teens will be performing. It's audition time for the "District Talented Teens Search." You are all invited to come and watch these great youngsters. There was a fine article in this paper last week about the Talented Teens, but if you missed it and want to know more about them, call or write to Talented Teen Foundation, Itasca, Ill.

THE WAY TO keep in touch with what is going on in Town Hall each week is a simple one. Why not make it a habit, when you're at Randhurst, to go down to the concourse and read the "Town Hall Events" board. It is posted just alongside the door to Town Hall, and lists everything for the week. I think you may be surprised to find out the many and varied organizations that find Randhurst their civic and social center.

I also want to remind you about the Mount Prospect Firemen's Dance this Saturday night on the Mall at Randhurst. Tickets are only $2 each so let's all go and have a good time.

I know three people who feel just terrific; they are winners of the "Step Into Spring" giveaway last weekend. W. H. Dever, 700 Grego Court, Prospect Heights, won the first prize, a color TV set. Mrs. Carl Thomas, 2051 Ash Street, Des Plaines, won the second prize, a transistor portable TV set, and D. Donahue of 111 Audrey Lane, Mount Prospect, won the 8 mm movie camera. Thanks to 10-year-old Susan Plinske of 1328 Mulberry Lane, Mount Prospect, who picked the names of winners.

THERE IS ONE note that I don't find too happy. It is with regret that we at Randhurst say good-bye to two very fine gentlemen from Wieboldt's. George Burns, who has managed Wieboldt's here at Randhurst since it opened, and Norm Block, are leaving us. Mr. Burns will now be associated with the Evanston store and Mr. Block is going to Wieboldt's at Harlem and Irving.

The job of managing Wieboldt's at Randhurst will be done by Robert Wieboldt, grandson of the founder of the chain of stores. Good luck to all three gentlemen in their new endeavors! (Rh

Grandson to Manage Wieboldt's Store

Robert P. Wieboldt will become manager of the Wieboldt Randhurst store Monday, replacing George C. Burns, who will become manager of Wieboldt's Evanston store.

ROBERT P. WIEBOLDT

Wieboldt, a grandson of the founder of the Wieboldt stores, William A. Wieboldt, and son of the company's present chairman of the board, Werner A. Wieboldt, formerly was manager of Wieboldt's Lincoln Village store and the Harlem-Irving store.

He became associated with the business seven years ago as an executive trainee.

Prior to becoming manager of the Lincoln Village store in 1960, Wieboldt was personnel manager in the firm's Evanston store, operating manager at the Harlem-Irving Plaza store, and department manager in the Oak Park store. He became manager of Harlem-Irving Plaza Wieboldt's in 1962.

He lives with his parents in Highland Park.

Sunglasses Useful to Protect from Glare

The bright winter sunlight reflected on snow, concrete highways and sidewalks causes a dazzling glare often painful to the eyes.

Frank F. Fowle, president of the Illinois Society for the Prevention of Blindness, suggests the use of sunglasses as a protection against this glare and source of physical discomfort but cautions the public on the misuse of sunglasses.

One should never look directly at the sun since sunglasses are no protection against the ultra violet and infra red rays of the sun. To look directly at the sun with or without sunglasses may cause a macular burn and loss of central vision.

SUNGLASSES must never be worn for twilight or night driving because they cut down on the amount of light reaching the eye, interfere with side vision and decrease the eyes' ability to adjust to darkness. They blot out some soadside instructions upon which drivers depend for safety.

Sunglasses do not necessarily reduce the blinding glare of oncoming headlights and this relative dazzling is just as dangerous as it is without glasses. If prescription sunglasses are worn, they should be removed before sunset and replaced by regular spectacles.

Sunglasses should never be worn indoors unless one is using a sunlamp. They should only be worn while a person is exposed to bright light because they reduce tolerance to light. They are worn for comfort, not correction.

Participants in winter sports such as skiing and ice skating should wear sunglasses made from tempered or shatter-proof glass to protect the eyes from glass splinters in case of an accident. The lenses of all sunglasses should extend out far enough to cover the entire field of vision and large enough to prevent bright light from entering the eyes around the edges of the lenses. (A14

Schools, Doctors React to Tobacco Report

Professor's Son Leads Picketing Against ROTC

CARBONDALE — The son of a Southern Illinois University philosophy professor led student pickets in front of SIU President Delyte W. Morris in protest of compulsory Air Force ROTC training at the school.

William Moore, a sophomore and son of Prof. Willis Moore, said the group felt the compulsory training was bad for morale in peacetime.

The group also claimed that the air force no longer wanted the program but the university wanted to retain it to keep federal funds coming in.

Morris refused to comment on the picketing.

From two to four students walked an hour at a time on the picket line carrying signs reading: "Military service or education, not both," "Voluntary ROTC" and "Compulsory ROTC is not fair."

Non-Farm Jobs Set Record

CHICAGO — Non-farm jobs in Illinois hit an all time high of 3,675,600 in mid-December, state labor director John S. Cullerton said.

In a department statement, Cullerton said the figure was 18,500 above the November level of 3,656,700, and 16,000 above the previous all-time high of 3,659,600 set in October.

Most of the increase was attributed to seasonal increases in retail trade and post office employment, Cullerton said.

22 Freight Cars Derailed

ALTON — Twenty-two cars of a Gulf, Mobile & Ohio freight train derailed here Monday but there were no injuries.

The wreck tore up about 500 feet of track and necessitated the rerouting of eight passenger trains and eight freight trains daily through downtown Alton.

Rail officials said they expected the main line to be repaired in three or four days.

Norge to Enlarge Factory

HERRIN — The Norge Division of Borg-Warner Corp. is going to build a $3 million addition to its plant here which is said will increase employment 20 per cent after its completion this summer.

Norge was the first industry attracted to this town of 9,474 after citizens called a "destiny day" to take steps to offset coal mine closures.

The first Norge building consisted of 98,000 square feet. The addition announced yesterday will be the sixth and will cover 21 acres. It will make washing machines.

2 Cities Plan Artificial Lake

SPRINGFIELD — A delegation from Pekin and Peoria, seeking funds to build a $4 million artificial lake between the cities, was told today the possibilities were not good of getting part of a $100 million appropriation bill now before congress.

Gene Graves, chairman of the board of economic development, said Illinois' share of the multi-million dollar appropriation bill would be only $750,000.

The federal measure would be an appropriation to the bureau of outdoor recreation for land and water conservation development.

The two cities hoped to build a lake 4½ miles long and 1½ miles wide by diverting water from the Illinois River into what now is a swamp area. The lake would be 10 feet higher than the river channel and river traffic would not be disrupted.

Fire Destroys Old Foundry

GALENA — A pre-dawn fire damaged one of the oldest and largest buildings in Galena Friday.

About a third of the frame and steel structure housing the Westwick Foundry was destroyed. The building was 110 years old.

Firemen said an explosion in an oil-operated core oven touched off the flames. Two workmen, Ronald Haas, 24, and Donald Clark, 33, said the blast was followed immediately by flames. They escaped injury.

Adlai to Talk on Lincoln

SPRINGFIELD — Adlai E. Stevenson, U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations, will speak here Feb. 12 at a meeting of the Abraham Lincoln Association.

O. J. Keller, president of the association, said the topic will be the restoration of the former state house, now Sangamon County courthouse, as a tourist attraction.

Keller said this will be the first appearance of Stevenson in Springfield since the former Illinois governor left the governor's mansion in January of 1953.

But Sales Aren't Affected Greatly

by BOB SETLIK
Staff Writer

The recent government report advising that smoking is detrimental to health has created a stir among some people in the suburban area.

Expressing the most concern have been educators and members of the medical profession. The most important person, the one who smokes two or three packs a day, may have been affected only slightly.

A survey taken last week among high school administrators, physicians, and cigarette sales outlets indicated those results.

Administrators at Forest View, Prospect, and Arlington High Schools indicated that the government report will prompt them to increase their efforts to discourage teenage smoking.

Larry Jenness, principal of Forest View High School in Arlington Heights, has the most advanced plans among the administrators.

HE PLANS to hold a schoolwide assembly at which a physician, a well-known sports figure, and a third person "having the respect of the youngsters" would speak on the implications of smoking. The assembly would then be followed up, he said, in the individual classes.

Jenness is proceeding cautiously, however, "I realize you could make a farce out of this as easily as a success," he said.

Like most administrators, he feels the government report has given teachers an invaluable tool. "It gives power and prestige to individual teachers who are trying to dissuade pupils from smoking," said Jenness.

Alvin Kulieke, principal of Prospect High School in Mount Prospect, immediately made the school's student smoking penalties more severe following release of the government report.

It was announced to the students Jan. 14 that those caught smoking on the school grounds would automatically be suspended for a week. Formerly, the student was suspended until his parents came to school. The suspension could have been as short as one day.

Kulieke said there will also be renewed emphasis in the classrooms on teaching about the detrimental effects of smoking.

Bruno Waara, principal of Arlington High Scool, said he is awaiting a recommendation from the District 214 superintendent's office before taking action.

"We will make sure that the information is discussed in some depth among our students," said Waara.

G. A. McElroy, superintendent of Palatine - Schaumburg High School District 211, said he plans "nothing special" because of the government report. He said the usual work advising students against smoking will continue in health, science, and physical education classes.

"MY IMPRESSION has been that student smoking is on the increase," said McElroy. "I think this report will have the greater effect on parents— it will make them more concerned. Occasionally we've had parents object to our telling kids to stop smoking."

McElroy, like most of the other administrators, does not believe the report has had much of an immediate effect on the students. He believes that it can only become effective through the action of parents and teachers.

Dr. Constantine Soter, newly elected chief of staff at Northwest Community Hospital, is thinking about creating an anti-smoking clinic. "It would be sort of an AA (Alcoholics Anonymous) approach," said Soter.

The clinic would attempt to convince people that smoking is harmful, and outline means of stopping.

Dr. Soter, a radiologist, is trying to determine if enough interest exists to create such a clinic. He foresees classes of 20-30 people who would listen to psychiatrists, internists, radiologists, and lay people talk about smoking. The clinic would be held at the hospital.

He calls smoking "harmful enjoyment," and advises people whom he sees smoking to stop. He doesn't wait for the patient to ask him first.

"There is no question that smoking damages the human body," said Soter. "It affects the lungs, stomach, heart and circulatory system. The only problem is to determine how much damage is caused."

Dr. Soter admits that doctors haven't been the best examples. "A lot smoke, and they should not because a doctor is expected to be exemplary. But they know the damage, and many have quit." he said.

Dr. Robert Kloempken, retiring chief of staff at Northwest Community Hospital, said if a patient asks he will tell him to stop. Otherwise, Dr. Kloempken feels the patient should be adult enough to recognize the statistics himself and stop.

Dr. Kleompken tells patients who complain about chest irritations to stop smoking.

BOTH SOTER and Kloempken have been cautioning their patients before the government report was released. "There have been various medical reports coming out on the subject," said Dr. Kloempken, "This last report was more emphatic."

What about the smokers' reaction?

"People come to the counter and joke that this will be the last pack," observed Richard Beck, a pharmacist at Monaco Drugs, 1828 N. State Road, Arlington Heights. "But the report has had no appreciable effect on sales."

Other druggists reported similar reactions. T. J. Hajicek, owner of Hajicek Pharmacy, 291 Northwest Highway, Palatine, said cigarette sales have dropped only slightly. "People joke that they have been smoking for 30 years, and if there's damage, it has already been done" he said.

Druggists questioned in Mount Prospect and Elk Grove Village also reported only slight decreases in cigarette sales following the government report.

Gerald Frank, manager of Caron Drugs, in Bensenville, said cigarette sales actually showed a two per cent increase since the report was released. Pipe tobacco and cigar sales increased 40 per cent during this period, however, he reported.

The report has had its humorous side, too.

In Palatine, the village's health inspector, Mrs. Marjorie Boswell, slapped a "health hazard" sign on a cigarette machine that occupies a stair landing in the municipal building.

Persons who attended the Wheeling village board meeting last week saw newspaper headlines and a cartoon of the "grim reaper" pasted across the front of the council table.

And, an employe of the Arnar-Stone Co. in Mount Prospect reports that three female employes have taken to smoking pipes. (A14

SQUARE DANCE CLUB NEWS

Dorothy Meyer CL 3-2298

It happened again. Somebody —or something—hijacked the copy for last week's square dance column. Modus operandi was the same as the last time this occurred: at some undetermined spot along the route between the copy desk and the linotypers, the square dance news disappeared. Just as mysteriously, it reappeared late Wednesday afternoon, much too late to be printed. Suspects include the radical left, radical right and radical middle. Possibility of voodoo has not been discounted, and authorities are questioning all known witch doctors in the area. At this writing your correspondent has that chill - on - the - back - of-the neck feeling that this, too, may never see the light of publication day. We shall see.

SWINGIN' SQUARES

Part of last week's lost copy held a review of this club's Jan. 3 dance, biggest of the season. Contingents from Palatine Squares and the Country Corners retrieved their recently-pilfered banners and were part of the record crowd of 14 squaresful of members and guests. Club officers extend a sincere and hearty "Thanks and come again soon," to everyone who attended and added to the swingiest start a new year ever had.

Last Friday's dance, the one that didn't get any publicity, last half of the season for the Swingin' Squares, and half-year memberships for one half the annual dues were available. They still are, and even though the first dance is history, half-year memberships are quite a bargain. The club dances through May.

Swingin' Squares dance the first and third Friday nights of each month in the Recreation Park Field House, from 8:30 until 11:30. Coffee and cookies are served throughout the evening. Bob Lewis calls the first Friday and Dale Manson is at the mike for the third-Friday dances, with the round-dancing Carl and Marie Peterson adding the variety that is the spice of life at every session. Guests are always welcome.

JAMBOREE

The ninth annual Swingin' Squares Jamboree will be held Sunday afternoon, Feb. 16, from 2 until 5:30, in Arlington High School, Euclid and Walnut, in Arlington Heights. Two halls with excellent acoustics capable of holding 100 squares have been made available for the occasion and, judging from the bumper crop of dancers at last year's Jamboree, the club will need the space.

Club regulars, Lewis and Manson, will share the mikes with guest callers, Carl Geels of Fort Wayne and Max Forsythe of Indianapolis. Carl and Marie Peterson will be there too, to lead the round dancing.

Tickets may be obtained from all club members and at the club's regularly - scheduled, dances. Last year's Jamboree attracted dancers from out-of-town, out-of-the-county and out-of-state, and an out-of-this-state, and an out-of-this-world dance session resulted. Mark the date now and keep the afternoon of Feb. 16 open for dancing.

PALATINE SQUARES

The Palatiners are urging "join the fun — join the club" in a current dual-purpose news release. Everyone is invited to do both — join the fun at the club's upcoming dance in Paddock School Saturday night, and join the club for the last half of the season.

Regular members are reminded that it's time to pay mid - season dues; potential joiners are invited to begin their membership with a dues payment Saturday night, too. Anyone seeking further information may call Lil Langerock, CL 3-7229.

Saturday night's dance will feature Jim Stewart calling the squares, and Dot and Jerry Daniels teaching rounds. Jim will square 'em up at 8:30. Paddock School is located on Washington Court in Palatine.

The club's last dance, with Art Mathews calling, was visited by "Tib" Tibbetts and his class of "refresher - course" dancers. They were ultra-sharp guests and the Palatine Squares are hoping they'll drop in often.

Ending this week's news from the Palatiners' is a short 'n' sweet, "In April! Our Frankie Lane Dance. Watch this column!" Guess I better watch it, too, and find out more about this April special.

ARLINGTON SQUARES

The announcement of Lenny Roos as caller for Arlington Squares' dance tomorrow night seems to have aroused more than passing interest, and in order to accommodate the expected crowd the dance will be held in Miner Junior High School. Club officers sak that this information be relayed to anyone planning to attend this dance, originally scheduled to be held in South Junior High School.

Lenny is well known for the variety he provides in an evening's schedule and the word is apparently spreading fast. Dancing starts at 8:30, the coffee pot goes on at 11:15.

"Tib" Tibbetts and his class have been invited to join the gang in Miner School tomorrow night, and club officers urge that the more experienced dancers extend an especially warm welcome to this group.

A group of Arlington bandits attended the recent Bucks and Does dance in Elk Grove where they retrieved their club's banner. They report, "The banners left behind convinced us that the better bandits are at Higgins School." (Ed. note: see Bucks and Does report. Whew!)

Next month is party time and second - Friday dance is on Valentine's Day. "Tib" Tibbetts will square up all dancing sweethearts at 8:30, in Miner Junior High School. Arlington Squares end their report with a reminder that tomorrow night's dance is to be in Miner Junior High School, rather than South Junior High School as previously announced.

BUCKS AND DOES

The Elk Grove club's current news confirms the rumor that they are the better-bandits-and how where banners are concerned. (Sudden thought: Did someone confuse the acceptable practice of stealing square dance banners with the awful habit of snitching news of same? If this be the case, your correspondent begs to inform someone, "Keep your copy-pickin' fingers offa my column!" Now — back to the Bucks and Does.)

There were 18 squares at the Bucks and Does' last dance, Jan. 11, and the bumper crop of guests, plus club members in a record turn-out, had a dandy time to the calling of Bob Lewis. Guests included the Cross Trailers of Bellwood, who snitched the host club's banner; the Arlington Squares, Glenview Squares and Little Squares of Niles, who all retrieved their B & D-stolen pennants.

Other guests, without banner-thieven' or retrievin' intent, were from Swingin' Squares of Arlington Heights, The Squares Three of Downers Grove and the Country Corners of Mundelein. Club officers of the Elk Grove club extend a welcome back-any-time invitation to all their guests, and promise to repay the visits soon.

Bucks and Does dance again Saturday night in Higgins School at Higgins and Touhy, and their always-open invitation is out to everyone. Club regular Bob Lewis will get things swinging at 8 o'clock.

Jim Stewart will co-call with Lewis at the club's first February dance, Feb. 8, when the party air will prevail in honor of Valentine's Day.

Bucks and Does are sponsoring an advanced workshop that had its first session Jan. 7 with a little over six squares in attendance. There'll be lots more sessions and anyone interested in further information may call Bucks and Does president, Al Lenz, CL 3-5838.

TEEN PROMENADERS

Wally Paulsen, club caller, big brother, host and half-a-dozen other things to the hustling, growing teen club, has a problem. The club is getting too big for his basement. Wally and his lady have always opened their home to the kids, and even now they are not complaining that there's too many, but only that dancing isn't as much fun as it ought to be when there isn't space for everyone to dance at once. Reluctantly and only in the interest of the club, the Paulsens are looking for another meeting place for their Promenaders.

The club's funds are almost non-existent, so renting a high-priced hall is not the answer. Some places are available to the teens, but only if their dances are open to the public. Since there would be a lack of control over the proceedings in an open-to-the-public situation, the Paulsens and the Promenaders prefer to struggle along the way they are for the time being.

They have turned to this column for help in publicizing their plight and ask to hear from anyone who knows of a place big enough for 30 to 40 dancers to swing their partners. The kids get together the first and third Wednesday evenings of every month, and on the fifth Wednesday when there is one.

Although Wally doesn't say much about his contributions to square dancing, his Promenaders and his wife are not quite so quiet on the subject. Every second and fourth Wednesday nights Wally is teaching square dancing to patients in the Chicago State Hospital. Bill Davis of North Lake takes over on alternate Wednesdays.

Among Wally's and Bill's prized possessions is a letter from the superintendent of the hospital, recognizing their selfless work on behalf of the patients and stating that of all the programs presented for the patients, square dancing was by far the best for the patients and best-liked by them.

When your correspondent called the Paulsens for a missing bit of information Sunday night, Wally wasn't home. He was calling for a bunch of kids again.

Seems as though something nice should happen to the good guy in this piece — like being flooded with offers of a place for his Promenaders to dance. The Paulsens' phone number is 392-5152. If the line is busy, keep trying. (A14

Gives Reminders on Filing Income Tax

Director Eugene C. Coyle Jr., of the Chicago District Internal Revenue Service has tax filing reminders for individual taxpayers and businesses.

Under a recent law, Coyle said, taxpayers are required to enter their identifying tax account numbers on their 1963 income tax returns filed in 1964.

For the individual, this is his social security number or similar number issued for tax reporting purposes if he has never had employment under social security coverage.

PAYERS of dividends and interest are required to obtain the account numbers of their shareholders and depositers for use on information documents submitted to Internal Revenue.

Businesses must file information returns covering 1963 payments of salaties, wages, fees, commissions and other personal service compensation of $600 or more that is not reported on W-2 forms. Deadline for this filing is Feb. 28.

Payments of rents, royalties, annuities, pensions and other fixed or determinable income totaling $600 or more also must be reported. (A14

Announce Scholarship Nominees

Richard F. Weickart of Allied Laboratories in Glenview, has announced names of students nominated by the northwest suburban chapter of the Illinois Society of Professional Engineers for college engineering scholarships.

Michael John Czechowski, 305 E. Walnut, Roselle, who attends Lake Park High School in Medinah, was nominated for one of five civil engineering scholarships given by Arco Steel Corp.

Dennis Jay Mueller, 7 N160 Eagle, Medinah, who also attends Lake Park High School, was nominated for the chemical engineering scholarship given every year by Monsanto Chemical Co.

KEVIN GEORGE Hawk, 802 S. William, Mount Prospect, who goes to Forest View High School, was nominated for the mechanical or electrical engineering scholarship awarded by Gerber Products Co.

These nominations were made on the basis of academic standing, participation in extra curricular activities, evidence of leadership, character and self reliance plus comments of teachers and administrators.

State and national selection will be made with the winners to be announced May 1, 1964.

Administered by the Educational Foundation, Inc., of the National Society of Professional Engineers, each scholarship is for $750 per academic year.

This award will be renewed annually up to a total of four academic years providing satisfactory personal and scholastic standards are maintained by the winner, and adequate progress is made toward a bachelor's degree in engineering. In case the recipient enters an engineering college where a five-year course is maintained, the equivalent scholarship may be spread over the five years at a rate of $600 a year. (A14

Deadline Nears for Auto Plates

Only three weeks now remain before the Feb. 15 deadline for motorists to display 1964 license plates on their vehicles, Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier pointed out this week.

This is a deadline for having the plates mounted on the vehicles, not merely a deadline for having submitted applications. To be sure of having their plates on time, persons applying by mail should have their applications in Carpentier's office by Feb. 1.

Carpentier assured all motorists who obtained reassignment of the numbers they held in 1963 that they will receive their plates in time for the deadline.

FORD WINS "CAR OF THE YEAR" AWARD

Here's more proof of the big change in Ford. Motor Trend magazine compared all '64s to find the Car of the Year. Winner—the entire Ford line: Falcon, Fairlane, Ford, Thunderbird. Tom's Barber Shop Gets a 'New Look'

On Sundays and Wednesdays, without interruption of the normal shop routine, Tom's Barber Shop, 6 S. Dunton, Arlington Heights, has gotten new equipment and a "new look."

Tom Hartnett, proprietor of the four-chair shop, started his remodeling operation just after Thanksgiving and set crews to work on the barbers' days off through the month of December.

The result was a "remodeling reopening" early this month, even though the shop never closed on a regular work day.

THE "NEW" establishment sports a lowered ceiling, four modern Thunderbird chairs, vacuum cleaners installed to replace the barber's dusters, and generally brightened appearance.

The redecoration marks the beginning of Hartnett's 10th year in the same location in Arlington Heights. When he started he had only one chair, but his staff now includes three other barbers.

Hartnett has now lived in the village for five years at 714 Catino. Other barbers in the shop are Terry Duda, veteran of three years at 6 S. Dunton, and Pat Serpico and Paul Grundmann, who both have served there nine months. (A

Music Teachers Hear Arlingtones

About 200 high school music teachers from the Greater Chicago area gathered Monday night, Jan. 20, at the Bismarck Hotel for a demonstration of "Barbershop Harmony."

Featured were the Arlingtones Chorus, current Illinois District champions of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America.

The chorus is directed by Earle Auge, director of music at Niles High School.

THE DEMONSTRATION was sponsored by SPEBSQSA and guest speakers included the society's director of musical activities, Robert D. Johnson, and its public relations director, Hugh A. Ingraham.

In addition to the Arlingtones Chorus, the Impostors, a Chicago-area quartet, participated in the demonstration. They are former quartet champions of the Illinois district of SPEBSQSA.

The demonstration, the first of its kind in the United States was arranged by Emile Serposs, director, division of music, Chicago public schools. (A

Plan 3 Crossings Of Palatine X-Way

Three at-grade crossings have now been approved for the planned Palatine junior expressway in the Arlington Heights - Prospect Heights section of the road.

The Arlington Heights Village Board was notified of the approval by Andrew Plummer, county superintendent of highways, who is working in conjunction with the state Division of Highways on the project.

THE CROSSINGS are to be at Kennicott Avenue and Buffalo Grove and Schoenbeck Roads, necessitating stop lights on the proposed expressway but also allowing easy access to subdivisions and development across the highway from the main portion of the village.

Both Arlington Heights and the Prospect Heights Improvement Association had sent resolutions to the County Board in early December requesting the three crossings as approved.

Free access of fire-fighting equipment and police vehicles to all parts of the village were among the stated objectives.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, Mount Prospect, Hoffman Estates, and volunteers from numerous other communities helped fight a $500,000 fire that struck the Pioneer Plastics Distributing Co., 2483 Pratt Boulevard, Elk Grove Village, Monday evening. The building was a total loss. (A

Memorial Day Activities Need Public Support

Arlington Heights VFW Post 981 announced the start of a drive for funds for the annual Memorial Day Parade and services.

The post has sponsored the event for the last 15 years, but its revenue is limited and it is unable to meet expenses for the first time, explained Robert Reynolds, post commander.

LAST YEAR the parade and services cost $1,700, he said.

S. Greschner, chairman for the drive, said the post would solicit local businessmen only. Residents are asked to mail their contributions to the post home, 811 N. Yale Ave., Arlington Heights. Donations should be marked "Memorial Day Fund."

Greschner said the women's auxiliary is selling candy with all profits to be given to the fund. (A

Plat Approved for 16-Acre Subdivision

Preliminary plat of a 16-acre duplex subdivision near Buffalo Grove and Palatine Roads was approved by the Arlington Heights Village Board Monday following the recommendation of the plan commission.

The subdivision, Fairway Terrace, proposed by Town Builders, is to include 72 lots, or a total of 144 units. The acreage is presently zoned R-5, which would allow a more dense type of apartment development.

The developer also has indicated in a letter to the village board that he will donate $6,400 in lieu of land for public purposes since no land is required within the subdivision.

The plan commission had recommended approval of the plat on the condition that some satisfactory cash offer be made to the village.

At Monday's board meeting Trustee Bud Beacham asked if the land could not be rezoned R-4, the common zoning classification for duplexes, in order to remove as much R-5 land from the zoning map as possible.

But Village Atty. Jack Siegel pointed out that requirements for front yard setback are 15 feet more in the R-4 class than in R-5.

Howard Borde, attorney for the developer, also said the land is to be purchased as the subdivision is developed, rather than all at once. For this purpose the village board granted two years' time limit on the tentative plan rather than oue.

Borde said the present owner of the land would probably not agree to the zoning change. (A

School Site Improvements Scheduled

A proposed schedule for securing bids and letting contracts for site improvements at three schools was approved Monday by the Arlington Heights elementary school board.

On Feb. 10 the board, according to this schedule, will approve specifications and authorize securing bids for improvements at Dunton and Thomas Junior High Schools. These bids will be opened March 2 and contracts let March 9.

The board will approve specifications and authorize securing of bids for improvements at Wilson School April 13, open the bids May 4 and let the contracts May 11. (A

$8,015 Low Bid Accepted For Water Main to Well

Low bid of $8,015 was approved by the Arlington Heights Village Board Monday for a water main to connect the village's ninth well with the existing system.

The well has not been started; but the 700 feet of 12-inch main will apparently be necessary to bring water to the well site for the drilling operation.

A contract for the drilling, estimated to take between 10 months and a year, was let Dec. 2 to L. Cliff Nealy, Batavia. Cost for this operation will be close to $80,000.

THE CONTRACT for installation of the water main to the well site, north of Rand Road on Arlington Heights Road, went to Rossetti Construction Co., Chicago.

Other bids ranged from $8,306 to $9,593.55.

After drilling is completed on the well, a pump and pumping station must be installed by separate contract.

The well will not possibly be in service during the critical summer months of water shortage, thus leaving the village capacity approximately the same as last year with a larger population and area to serve.

Water use restrictions were in effect during most of the summer months last year. (A

OLIVE PTA

Five groups of subjects, including pre-school problems, brothers and sisters, chores and allowances, organized activities, prejudices, creativity, value of TV and radio, were discussed.

Purpose of this meeting was to formulate provocative questions in designated fields of subject matter that concerns parents most. Three questions were evolved by each group and will be presented during the next meeting at 8 p.m. Feb. 11. A panel of experts will be present at which time a meeting of minds from both points of view will, it is hoped, result in solutions.

A short business meeting of board members Jan. 7 was followed by a study group discussion to formulate subject matter and get the program under way.

School Caucus Names 8 to Screening Group

An eight-member subcommittee on candidate appraisal was selected Monday by the Nominating Committee for Candidates for the Board of Education of School District 25.

The action marked the second of three meetings for selection of a Caucus slate of candidates for three board positions open in April elections.

The 50-member Caucus committee, steered by the eight-member sub committee selected Monday, will select three candidates from five proposed by committee delegates—also at Monday's meeting.

Included among these five are two presently serving on the school board whose terms expire this year—Charles O. Bennett and George A. Harris.

THE OTHER term to be filled April 11 is presently held by Roger Burke, filling the unexpired term of Ralph McGee, who resigned last June to move to California.

Other proposed candidates put before the nominating committee are Robert H. Bukowski, Roger L. Carlson and Howard A. Sjogren.

Those selected for the subcommittee on candidate appraisal are: Clayton Sauers (chairman), Mel Born, Mrs. Lambert Bredehoft, Mrs. Haldor Carlsen, Roy Lundin, Ralph McCullough, Saunders Reinhard and Don Sweeney.

The subcommittee is to interview all proposed candidates before Feb. 10 and present a candidate appraisal report for each for distribution to all delegates before the final meeting.

The main committee approved a proposal that Dr. Frank J. Smith provide technical assistance to the interviewing subcommittee. Dr. Smith, a member of the school board of High School District 214, was a member of last year's screening committee and laid the groundwork for new methods of operation and reporting.

BALLOTING to choose three candidates will be conducted at the third meeting, to be held at 8 p. m. at South Junior High School. One candidate will be chosen by separate ballot for each of the three vacancies.

All candidates, caucus sponsored or others, must file a petition signed by at least 50 voters with the secretary of the Board of Education, 301 W. South St.

Petitions may be filed between Feb. 26 and March 21, inclusive, by any U. S. citizen 21 or older who has been a resident of the state and the school district for at least one year.

When Beth and Judy Osweiler come home for their mid-semester vacation this weekend they will be reunited with their brother, Charles, for the first time since last summer. Charles has been working for Douglas Aircraft in California while waiting for a chemistry course to be offered at the University of Colorado.

After the short vacation Charles will return to Colorado U. where he will finish the last semester of his senior year. The girls will resume their studies at Wisconsin State College in LaCrosse. The Vincent Osweiler family lives at 307 N. Beverly Lane.

NEIGHBORS OF some years ago, Helen and Ed Evensen and their children, Barbara, Eddie and Jimmie, returned to Dryden Avenue Sunday to be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Al Aspengren. Mary and Al also entertained both sets of next-door neighbors, Mrs. Thomas Loftus and Mr. and Mrs. Art Magnuson, along with the Evensens, for Sunday brunch.

What goes up, must come down — is not necessarily so! So learned Smokey, the D. L. Sweeney's cat. Missing for two days, Smokey was seen high up in a tree at Euclid and Douglas, and it took the Arlington Heights fire department to return him to the safety of the ground. Just in case you wondered where the fire was Saturday night, it was Smokey causing all the excitement!

MR. SWEENEY was one of the first jurors under the new "blue ballot" system. Since the beginning of the month he has served on several cases — and as the foreman of one — in the downtown municipal building. Before that he vacationed at home for several weeks, so when he returned to his position at United Air Lines this week it seemed really good to be back on the job again.

The Sam Cullison's son, John, is finishing semester exams this week at Indiana U. in Bloomington and expects to be home for a short visit before starting the spring semester.

January is birthday month at the Earl Newquist home, 407 N. Hickory Ave. A cold prevented any special celebration on the 17th for Mr. Newquist, but Mrs. Newquist's big day followed soon after on the 22nd, and both Earl and Donna Lee and the children were dinner guests that night at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Gustafson, 211 N. Beverly. Kenny, also a January celebrant, will be 14 on the 26th.

MRS. CURTIS CARLSON, 203 N. Lincoln Lane, has recuperated nicely from an appendectomy performed just before the holidays. While she was in Gottlieb Memorial Hospital in Melrose Park, the Carlson children, Dean and Kerry, were well taken care of by Rae Jacobsen in Wheeling. After Mrs. Carlson returned home, Mrs. Jacobsen's mother, Grandma Haxton, came from Milwaukee to lend a helping hand till everything was back in routine.

Schools Seeking 5 Westgate Lots

Arlington Heights elementary school board has obtained two estimates of the value of five lots bordering the south end of the Westgate school site which it wants to purchase.

One estimate placed their value at $16,380; the other said they were worth $18,000 to $20,000.

Board member Charles Bennett said he thought both appraisals were low and that the board would have to negotiate between the area of these estimates and what the owner of the property asks.

Joseph Faner, president of the board, said he and Bennett would contact the owner and bring back his offer to the board. (A

Now He Retires

Catlow's Theatre Career Spans Four Decades

by TOM EDWARDS
Staff Writer

Barrington's pioneer theatre operator, Wright R. Catlow, is retiring from active managership of the Catlow Theatre after 47 years of a conscientious stewardship.

However, his policy of allowing "only the best" movies to play in his theatre, and of candidly informing the public of their ratings, is to continue.

Mr. Catlow has been meticulously choosing Barrington's theatre bill of fare since the silent screen era, surviving a sinking depression in the interim and a transition to the sound movies which scuttled many other theatre operators.

His father, Joseph G. Catlow, a former farmer in the area, built Barrington's first theatre, the Catlow Auditorium, in 1916 on Station Street, a building which is now occupied by the Harvey Hamper Manufacturing Co.

Movies were shown in the three-story auditorium on Wednesday and Saturday nights then, and the stars were Mary Pickford, Charlie Chaplin, Gloria Swanson, Fatty Arbuckle and Rudolph Valentino.

OTHER activities were also held in the building, such as graduation ceremonies, basketball games, lodge meetings, and dances.

Starting in the checkroom of his father's establishment, Wright Catlow soon took over most of the duties of the business, and became manager in 1920.

He built the present theatre building, which also houses several shops, in 1927 when Wallace Beery and Marie Dressler were stars of the screen.

"Respect for the intelligence of my customers," has been his guiding principle of the operation of his business, Catlow explained. He feels that a theatre operator has to "develop a clientele" as in other types of business.

EXCEPT FOR one night a week during the depression, Catlow has declined to have double features. He explained he prefers to "stick to an 'A' product" and have single features.

He has closely adhered to the Legion of Decency Ratings in selecting movies, and runs as many "family pictures as possible."

His long standing advertisements in Paddock Publications carry notes advising patrons on the movie currently playing and its Legion of Decency rating. The "managers note" on "The Miracle Worker" last week was, "Children attending this sensitive drama should be accompanied by an adult. L.O.D. rating, A-2."

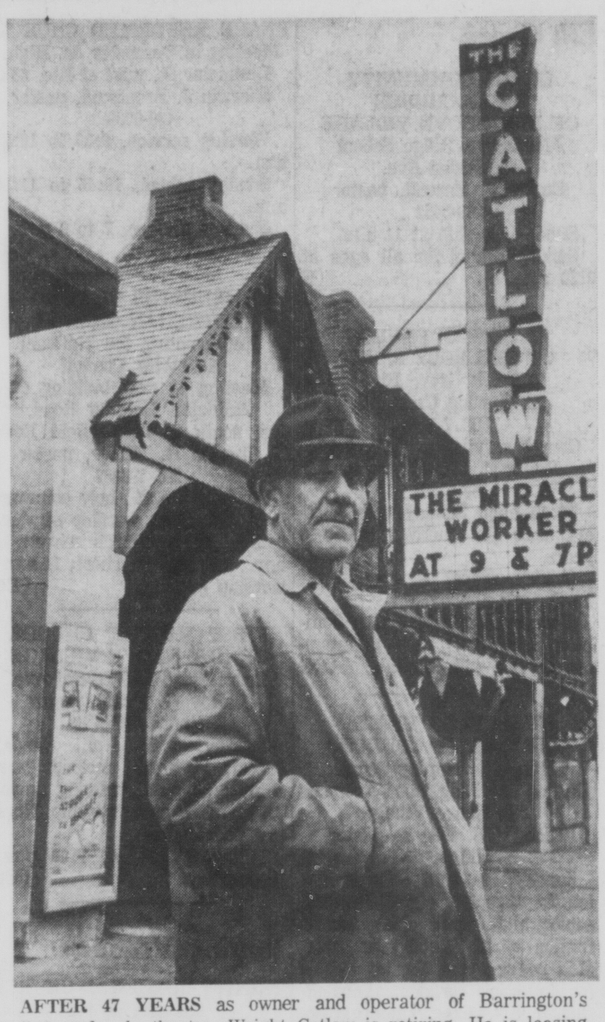
Through the years he has been assisted by his wife, Ethyl. And in the early years his brother, Chester, accompanied silent movies and vaudeville shows on a three-manual pipe organ. (He is now retired and residing on St. Lucia Island in the British West Indies, where he is island musical director.)

CATLOW recalls the depression days when gimmicks such as "bank nights, dish nights and gift nights" came into being, and when he had double features on Tuesday nights. Admission was 10 cents per child and 20 cents for adults, and one night there was a "free" show at which donations were taken. Hopalong Cassidy, Buck Jones and Charlie Chan films were usual fare.

Many theatre operators were "murdered" by the firms selling sound equipment when talking movies first came into being, Catlow reminisced. They charged from between $35,000 and $45,000 for the equipment, plus requiring a $50 to $60 a week service contract, he said.

However, Catlow waited for a year after sound films came into bring before investing in sound equipment—when its price had come down to about $4,000.

On the effect of television—"No matter what, there will always be theatre," he commented. And, "There is nothing like curing bad business with good pictures." The film industry's answer to television will have to be a top quality product, he felt.



AFTER 47 YEARS as owner and operator of Barrington's first and only theatre, Wright Catlow is retiring. He is leasing the business, although he will retain ownership of the Catlow building. His grandparents were pioneers in the Barrington area. (B9

CATLOW, WHOSE grandparents were among the community's first settlers, is a member of the board of Barrington First Federal Savings and Loan, is a charter member of the Lions Club, and is a life Mason. He enjoys golfing and fishing.

He and his wife have a home on a five-acre site in Barrington. Their son, Wright M., a sales manager for a manufacturing firm, lives in Trout Valley subdivision close to Barrington, and their daughter, Mrs. Jean Johnson, resides in Crystal Lake. They have five grandchildren.

He has leased his theatre to Edward Skehan of Mundelein.

ALSO AT THE meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Courtney of Rolling Meadows and Mrs. Rudy Ellinger and Dr. Ed Richards, advisers for the young adult group. Mrs. Courtney is a hospital director.

The organization will meet tomorrow (Friday) at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Judy Vaccaro, 258 Walnut Lane, Elk Grove Village, and go bowling later.

Long Trips Irksome

Police Express Faith In New Court System

Reorganization of the court system in districts 2 and 3 of Cook County, under the Blue Ballot amendment, seems to be running as smoothly as can be expected according to local police agencies.

The chief judges in the districts, Herbert Stoffels, District 3, and Harold W. Sullivan, District 2, seem to be satisfied with progress made in the changeover.

Police in Elk Grove Village, Palatine, Rolling Meadows, Mount Prospect, Hoffman Estates and Schaumberg seem to be satisfied with the new system although they have questions and a few problems.

One chief, Harry P. Jenkins of Elk Grove Village, said "Everything is working nicely. There are a few bugs in the system, but not an abnormal amount.

"This will work if the police forces want it to work, and gear their forces to making it work."

ROBERT CENTNER, chief of the Palatine Police Department, said "It is running as smoothly as can be expected. We have no problem."

Several departments had complained of one section of the implementation which requires forces in district two to take their tickets and bond money to Skokie during each day, and forces in district three to carry their tickets and bonds to Park Ridge once each day.

Another problem anticipated by the departments, which has so far failed to materialize, was the possibility that all members of a force could be out of their respective villages at the same time attending court.

However that problem has been resolved by most forces with a split in dates for an arrested person to appear in court.

For example, if the court day for a particular force of 18 men is on Wednesday, then 9 of the officers date their tickets for court appearances on one Wednesday, while the remainder of the force write tickets for one week later.

THE Palatine force eliminated Wednesday as a day off for officers.

An officer on the Rolling Meadows force said one of the biggest problems is one that makes the policeman's job easier. Night courts have been eliminated under the provision.

This means a police officer who works the day shift does not have to spend his nights in a courtroom.

HOWEVER, THE same provision is a source of irritation for many members of the public who have been used to appearing at night. They must now take time off from work to appear in court.

The same officer said it is a big problem for the Rolling Meadows force to have to run to Skokie daily. He said "we just don't have the cars to send someone at any time."

Mount Prospect Chief George Whittenberg said "As far as I'm concerned it has good potential and will work as soon as they (the administrators) get all the questions answered."

The chief explained that nearly everyone concerned with the ballot implementations has many questions about phases of the process other than his own particular aura of interest.

He said he feels the chief judge and the associate judges (Sullivan and Stoffels) should call everybody together and let them ask questions. He said he feels a shorthand reporter should be present to take down all the questions and make copies of them to give to all concerned.

However he added that no answers should be given during the meeting. "Rather those with the answers should answer them on paper and pass out copies of the questions and the answers to all concerned."

"But," said Whittenberg, "I'm not one to jump on the bandwagon and criticize the program without giving it a chance to work. It will work when all the questions are answered."

JUDGE SULLIVAN was high in his praise for the work done by police in the changeover. Said Judge Sullivan "Police are doing all the good work and should get the credit for it. All officers have really tried to make it work.

"If they wanted to bombard the system, they could. The changeover has gone much better than I had hoped for. We all have a lot of questions, but there are no big problems."

2 Villages Take Different Tack on Jet Noise

Park Ridge Law Provides Fines

by JOAN LORENSON
Staff Writer

Elk Grove Village and Park Ridge officials view in completely different ways noise caused by aircraft flying over their villages though they agree they agree the noise irritates residents.

Elk Grove Village, lying in the landing pattern of jets coming into O'Hare, stresses cooperation in working with the airlines to cut the noise. Park Ridge takes the route that the noise must be regulated by an anti-noise ordinance.

When the special Congressional jet noise investigation committee refused to sponsor legislation to regulate noise of low planes near airports, officials came home and worked on an anti-noise ordinance. The ordinance adopted in January will be put in effect next month. It sets decibel levels of noise permissable in different areas of the city and fines violators up to $200 for each offense.

THE VALIDITY of the village ordinance to regulate noise is being questioned by many authorities.

Tom Hamilton, chairman of the Elk Grove Village aeronautical committee, said Elk Grove considered an ordinance but decided the village has no power over the federal government. It would be a waste of taxpayers' money to have such an ordinance or lobby in Washington for federal legislation, he said.

"Airplanes have to fly and Elk Grove Village has been built in part because of its proximity to the airport," Hamilton said. In its "let's not fight them" approach, Elk Grove is backing the O'Hare building program which will mean a new east-west runway generally paralleling Lawrence Avenue east of O'Hare. Hamilton believes this will decrease traffic on other runways, including the one bringing planes over the industrial area of Elk Grove Village.

THE ELK GROVE plan of cooperation means that villagers will wait two to five years for any change in the noise situation.

The airlines, the pilots' association, and the airlines' organization are remaining noncommittal about the Park Ridge ordinance though traditionally they are against such action.

Typical of the official airline reaction is a United Air Lines spokesman's statement, "We just received a copy of the ordinance and action will depend on developments." The Air Transport Association representing the airlines has no position on the ordinance. It is under study and action depends on enforcement, said Jay McGinn, regional manager.

An Air Line Pilots Association spokesman in Chicago said his organization probably would contest such an ordinance.

UNOFFICIALLY the airlines and associations connected with them are expected to sue to prevent enforcement of the ordinance. Hempstead Township in New York adopted a similar ordinance which is being contested in the courts as unconstitutional. An Air Line Pilots Association brief argues that the federal government has jurisdiction over airline operations and the measure violates the principle of due process of law. The lawsuit filed about a month ago is expected to drag out in litigation for at least several years.

Park Ridge City Council has anticipated litigation in connection with the ordinance, according to Ald. James Cole who initiated the anti-noise action. It would have been easier to fight a court case with other villages sharing costs but Park Ridge is prepared to go it alone, Cole said. He criticized other villages for abrogating their responsibility to residents complaining of noise.

Cole admits some people have labeled him "kind of a nut" but he believes the noise problem will get worse if something is not done. Park Ridge, a high cost residential community 125 years old, views O'Hare airport development as the creator of problems.

AIRPLANES flying at the proper level will not be ticketed for violating the anti-noise ordinance, Cole said. A four-year study of sound levels, what flight patterns, and other factors was made before the ordinance was introduced, he added. Park Ridge will use a $2,800 truck and piece of electronic equipment for measuring decibel level.

"We've taken a factual approach to the problem of noise," Cole said. A pilot who does not operate in proper trim is thoughtless and deserves to be ticketed, Cole said. An airplane setting off to Europe on a humid day carrying a heavy load of fuel and passengers will violate the noise ordinance because the pilot has to give his aircraft all the power it has to get it off the ground, Cole explained. Airlines should not have to wring the last dollar out of their equipment in this way, he said.

Cole denied that the anti-noise ordinance would mean a lowering of the safety margin for aircraft flying in and out of O'Hare. In low ceiling weather the planes come in dead on course where the noise level allowed is higher, Cole, an engineer who has worked with airplane engines, said.

THE JUDGE hearing a violation case will be reasonable in Cole's estimation. For example if a jet has to fly in pattern and follow in a propeller drive plane this might provide extenuating circumstances, he explained.

At the public hearing in July, Park Ridge tried unsuccessfully to get help in coming up with a reasonable solution, Cole said. He accused the airline and pilot associations of taking a high-handed view that the village couldn't regulate noise and if home owners didn't like it they could move.

Park Ridge does not feel like such a loner since Hempstead has its ordinance, Cole said. His village plans to spend $5,000 on annual enforcement of the ordinance; Hempstead planned $125,000 a year. Cole called the Park Ridge equipment somewhat exotic and indicated standard decibel measuring equipment could be purchased by a community for about $450.

Cole believes the anti-noise regulation camp will win. If the local anti-noise ordinance is defeated, Congressional members have promised action on the federal level, he said. A third term alderman, Cole said politics had not entered into his crusade for less noise.

In the meantime other villages on the sidelines will view with interest Park Ridge's battle.

SECOND AND THIRD generation airplanes do not cause the noise problem of their predecessors, according to the Park Ridge alderman who sponsored an anti-noise ordinance his village adopted. Homes such as these on Busse Road between Golf and Algonquin Roads are bothered by the landing pattern for jets at O'Hare. The constitutionality of a local noise ordinance governing planes is being questioned. (Staff Photo)

Earmark Oral Polio Surplus For Hospital Blood Bank

A CHECK FOR MORE than $31,000 is presented to Nicholas Lattof, chairman of the Northwest Community Hospital Expansion Fund campaign, by Robert Y. Paddock, (seated), treasurer of the Oral Polio Sundays program. The unexpected surplus from the polio immunization campaign is to be earmarked for a new hospital blood bank — an area devoted to serving the public. On hand for the presentation were Dr. Robert C. Donations to the area-wide Oral Polio Sundays campaign last year far exceeded expenses, and the surplus of more than $31,000 was given this week to the Northwest Community Hospital expansion fund campaign.

The money was earmarked for the new Blood Bank.

The audited report of Robert Paddock, who served as treasurer for the campaign, showed donations from participants in the immunization program totaled $57,989.85. Expenses amounted to $26,614.96, leaving a surplus of $31,374.89.

A check for that amount was presented this week to Nicholas Lattof, chairman of the hospital expansion fund.

PADDOCK'S report also showed that during the three Sundays the oral Sabin vaccine was given, May 5, June 16 and Sept. 29, a total 236,400 doses was administered.

Average donation was 24.53 cents as compared with the suggested contribution of 25 cents. On two Sundays, the average donation exceeded the suggested amount, however, and on the third Sunday it was slightly under that figure.

The immunization program was conducted in 16 clinics in Wheeling, Elk Grove, Palatine and Schaumburg Townships by Northwest Community Hospital and its medical staff in cooperation with northwest area pharmacists, Jaycee chapters, area dentists, registered nurses and other volunteers.

It was decided to give the $31,374.89 surplus to the blood bank because the bank represents a community service, said Alan B. Campbell, hospital administrator.

AT PRESENT the blood bank is conducted in the physical therapy department of the hospital under supervision of Dr. Thomas R. Harwood, director of laboratories. It will have a separate facility when the hospital addition is completed late in 1965.

A plaque will be mounted on the blood bank door in recognition of the donations made through the oral polio program.

A complete report on expenses and donations is printed in the legal section of today's Paddock newspapers.

Schedule Lincoln Pilgrimage

The 30th annual pilgrimage to Lincoln's Tomb in Springfield will be made Feb. 12, according to an announcement made jointly by Morris Nooner Jr., state commander of the American Legion, and Frederick E. Merritt, state chairman of the legion's Lincoln Heritage Trail Pilgrimage.

Gov. Otto Kerner and legion officials have invited governors of the states of Indiana, Kentucky, Missouri, Iowa and Wisconsin to join in rededicating the trail.

A caravan will be formed from the 204,000 legion members in Illinois to travel western, southern and heritage trails ending with an assembly at Lincoln's tomb at 11 a.m. Feb. 12.

Gov. Kerner and other dignitaries will join with Dan F. Foley, national legion commander, and other legion officials in the commemorative event at the tomb. (A14

High-Rise Report Requested

The Arlington Heights Village Board has authorized a letter to the plan commission asking for a progress report on an Aug. 5, 1963, proposal for high-rise use of property at St. James Street and Highland Avenue.

The apartment plan introduced by attorney Fred Weber was referred to the plan commission for study and possible construction of an ordinance to handle high-rise apartment zoning.

Since that time nothing has been heard, but the village board was told Monday that the Plan Commission's apartment study committee has a draft of a suitable ordinance ready for consideration.

A SECOND high-rise proposal in the downtown area—for a store-office-apartment building—has gone without action for eight weeks.

Joseph Schneller, proprietor of two furniture stores in the village, went before the village board and plan commission informally Dec. 5 with a plan for a 10-story building at Davis and Evergreen.

He was told then that a zoning ordinance probably would be ready for consideration within a month. Village officials at that time expressed a favorable attitude toward his proposal.

ELK GROVE VILLAGE — A $500,000 fire distroyed the Pioneer Plastics Distributing Co. building in the Centex Industrial Park. Details in Elk Grove Herald.

STREAMWOOD — Village Trustee Thomas E. Duddy has resigned in protest over a contract giving one bonding house exclusive authority to negotiate for the purchase of the privately-owned water system by the village and to buy the bonds at a pre-agreed interest rate. Duddy, who is employed as a municipal bond manager for a Chicago firm, asserted that the village may be losing $71,000 or more by not placing the bond sale on a competitive bid basis. Details in Hoffman Herald.

SCHAUMBURG — The Schaumburg District 54 School Board, fearful that a proposed 1,000 acre Elk Grove Village housing development will decrease the district's already low tax base, will meet tonight (Thursday) with the Elk Grove Village Board. District 54 has a policy of seeking donations from all residential builders. Details in Hoffman Herald.

PALATINE — Village President Wilbur Harris has called for a Feb. 17 open meeting to discuss formation of a human relations commission for the village. The commission would be considered "long range planning" to assure peaceful social changes and eliminate any racial strife should a member of a minority group move to the village. Details in Palatine Enterprise.

MOUNT PROSPECT — A new fire station, a village garage and $130,000 worth of fire equipment is included in a $545,000 referendum scheduled for next month. Efforts to win voter support for the municipal bond issue were organized this week. Details in Mount Prospect Herald.

WHEELING — Action was initiated by the village board this week toward divorcing the village from the Wheeling Rural Fire District. Presently the village, as are most villages in the northwest suburban area, is under two fire jurisdictions, the village's, and the newer annexed portions, the jurisdiction of old rural fire district. The board is also investigating putting the volunteer firemen under the jurisdiction of the police and fire commission. Details in Wheeling Herald.

BUFFALO GROVE — The affect of the local pool parlour at the Casares Pro Bowl on the character of village youth was discussed by the village board. It was not decided whether or not to enforce the state law limiting pool players at such establishments to an age of 18 or above — or what youths would be doing if they weren't playing pool there. Details in Wheeling Herald.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS — The village board Monday took under consideration a special committee report proposing nearly universal increases in single-family residential development standards. Three residential zoning classifications are encompassed in the report, which urges lot size increases and several hikes in building requirements. Details in Arlington Heights Herald.

Police Probe Burglary Wave

Five burglaries and one possible attempt within a three-day period in Arlington Heights, netting guns, furs, jewels and rare coins, have been added to a growing wave.

All of the crimes, committed either Jan. 18 or Jan. 20, were typified by forced entry while residents were away from home.

The largest loss was reported by W. Edward Fritz, 301 N. Douglas, who returned home late Jan. 18 to find the kitchen door forced with a screwdriver.

Reported missing were a coin collection valued at $6,000, a mink stole valued at $1,800 and four pistols ranging in value from $25 to $130.

THE SAME night George L. Kirp, 804 S. Burton, Scarsdale Estates, reported a similar forced entry and burglary of jewelry, bank books and financial statements.

On Jan. 20, Robert J. Malcomson, 727 S. Belmont, phoned in the first burglary report just after 6 p.m. Listed as missing are a $750 mink coat, jewelry, watches and old coins for a total estimated loss of $1,925.

Later in the evening, Ray Hedges, 117 S. Reuter, and Mrs. Charles Hamann, 217 S. Patton, both reported burglaries in which entry was gained with a pipe wrench tool. Both homes were also thoroughly ransacked.

The Hedges burglary, which apparently occurred in the early evening, netted only electric train equipment and costume jewelry, while the Hamann burglary resulted in loss of a diamond engagement ring.

REPORT OF an attempted burglary came from a babysitter at the Joseph T. Elward residence, 1523 N. Ridge. The sitter told police someone opened a rear door until it pulled a chain latch tight, then apparently fled.

The Elwards also told police they received suspicious phone calls asking the number both before and after the apparent attempt.

Police are investigating apparent similarities between many of the burglaries committed both in the past group and in previous weeks.

Residential burglaries last year averaged less than three per month in Arlington Heights. This month's total has already risen above ten. (AF

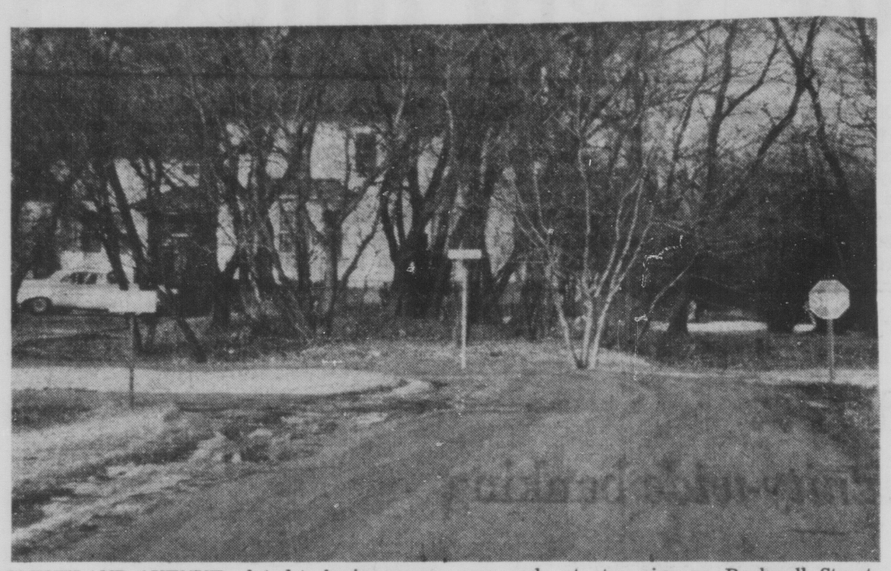
'Case of the Misplaced House' in Court Monday



CLEVELAND AVENUE, slated to be improved by special assessment, will continue straight north from its present path, which now ends at stop sign on Rockwell Street. Larson home (background) will have to be moved, but the question is who will pay.

The road runs right through the side of the house — at least the dedicated right-of-way does.

This is one of the principal problems now faced by Arlington Heights in the attempt to ready Arlington Heights Park Manor for improvement of streets by special assessment.

A house owned by Mrs. Lorraine Larson sits on about 30 feet of the dedicated right-of-way for Cleveland Avenue north of Rockwell Street.

The village and Mrs. Larson go to Cook County Circuit Court Jan. 27 in an attempt to determine how much each will pay of the estimated $7,000 cost of moving the house to a different part of her lot.

MRS. LARSON bought the house in 1947, about 20 years after the subdivision was laid out and streets were dedicated.

According to Village Atty. Jack Siegel, she has never bought the part of Cleveland Avenue on which the east side of her frame dwelling is located.

Apparently the house was in existence at the time the farm property was subdivided, but the present owner just dedicated a portion of the land on which it stands for the sake of even street layout.

SO FAR Mrs. Larson has not offered to pay any part of the moving expense, Siegel said. This would include actual moving cost, construction of a new foundation, and necessary renovation after the move.

The village board approved a special assessment improvement project including Cleveland Avenue as the subdivision's major street last fall. (A

Q. Is it all right for the bridegroom to give his bride something for their home as his special wedding gift to her?

A. While not "wrong" this is not customary. His special gift to her should really be something personal—usually jewelry of some kind.

THINKING ABOUT "JUST LOOKING" AT NEW CARS?. . . . IT PAYS TO SEE US BEFORE YOU DO!

It's a very human characteristic indeed, but often in the middle of winter, (particularly if there are over 40,000 miles on the speedometer) a man will start "new car thinking."

This usually leads to taking the family out to "just look" at the new models. Then comes the big step — "let's buy." It's all fun, an adventure of sorts, and part of our American way of life!

But it's a very important step, too, that could cost you extra dollars unnecessarily.

That's why we think our loan officer, John Hughes, can save you money. John has handled thousands of new and used car auto loans and he can show you how a low cost auto loan from Palatine National Bank can save you money — leave you more to put into the car and extra equipment. And, of course, if you arrange for the money before you "start looking," chances are you'll be able to make a "better deal" when you've found that perfect car for your family. There's another benefit, too! You build useful, personal bank credit as you pay off your bank auto loan at Palatine National Bank. EASY TERMS TOO, WITH UP TO 36 MONTHS TO PAY. So stop in soon and talk it over in confidence with John Hughes. YOU'LL BE GLAD YOU DID!

MEMBER FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM

But Phrasing Changed

Board Sticks to Policy On Assessment Expenses

The Arlington Heights village board re-established a policy on special assessment projects Monday, differing only in terminology from the past.

The action stemmed from a long-awaited legal committee report on the policy of guaranteeing 25 per cent of professional fees on special assessment projects in case the project falls through.

The report, read by committee chairman William J. Moore, first recounted the history of the policy, beginning in 1957, prior to which several projects had been abandoned "to the total loss of the professionals involved."

But the report stated that the intent of the policy was to cover only out-of-pocket expenses of engineers and attorneys up to a maximum of 25 per cent if the project failed.

This would cover primarily field surveys, specifications and working drawings by engineers.

THE 25 PER CENT figure, the report explained, is actually a percentage of the percentage of total project cost which professionals get on a completed job.

Losses through this policy since 1957 have been negligible, according to the legal committee's report.

The committee's recommendations, based on the report, were simply that the 25 per cent figure be changed to 2½ per cent of the total cost of the project (its equivalent), and that wording be changed.

New terminology, approved unanimously by the village board, is "out-of-pocket guarantees for professionals"—providing as a matter of policy that the guarantees will not exceed 2½ per cent of the project cost.

THE REPORT was approved without discussion, but Moore read a letter attached to it as a statement of only one member of the committee.

In it he thanked Mrs. William G. Harms Jr. for her assistance in gathering data for the report, but added that, "Mrs. Harms in submitting the results of her survey raises basic assumptions which did not guide the Committee and which do not accurately reflect the current position of the Board of Trustees."

He referred to an assumption that the board is trying to control initiation of special assessment projects, and said if that was the case the BOLI and village board should have identical membership.

He added that the BOLI under state statute has the power to accept or reject improvements suggested by anybody, or to initiate projects on its own motion.

MOORE SUGGESTED a special standing committee if the board wanted control over special assessment projects, but no action was taken or comment made on the proposal.

Mrs. Harms, a frequent objector to the 25 per cent guarantee, was in the audience but remained silent throughout consideration of the reworded policy.

After the board voted on continuation of the out-of-pocket guarantees, those guarantees were granted to professionals on the proposed special assessment installation of water mains in Arlingdale subdivision.

THE VILLAGE board had been withholding action on that specific proposal for a number of months while the policy was reconsidered, and the BOLI had requested several times that the guarantee be granted.

Such action by the village board, in essence, constitutes a go-ahead on any special assessment project. The BOLI has no power for expenditure of village funds without approval of the village board.

Panel to Discuss Community College

A panel discussion on the establishment of a junior college in the northwest Cook County area will highlight the agenda of Arlington Heights Community Council's Jan. 30 "Presidents' Night" meeting in the Arlington Heights Christian Church.

The January bi-monthly meeting of "Commco," the council organization comprised of representatives of civic, religious, educational and charitable organizations, is scheduled for 8:15 p.m. in the church building at the corner of Thomas and Mitchell Streets.

According to "Commco" president Donald Sweeney, the public information program has been scheduled in accordance with the group's intended purpose "to assemble and disseminate information on issues of current interest in order to establish greater community understanding."

"A special invitation has been extended to presidents of all community organizations to attend the Jan. 30 meeting along with Council delegates, alternates and interested individuals," Sweeney said.

ACTING AS moderator for the community college panel will be James Carns, news editor of the Herald, who will channel discussion along lines of current interest, according to Phillip Gorman, program chairman.

Edward Smith, 221 S. Wilshire, Arlington Heights, chairman of High School District 214's Citizens' Community College Committee and a member of the 12-member steering committee for the proposed college district will hold a major seat on the panel.

Smith was recently named chairman of the board of governors of the Real Estate Institute. He is a past director of the Illinois Board of Realtors and past president of the Northwest Suburban Board of Realtors.

He summarizes certain points the panel will cover as follows: The background information leading up to the current movement including results of two recent studies made to determine the need for community college facilities in northwest Cook County.

Views of prominent educators on the question, the number of students which could be expected from the four high school districts included in the coming referendum.

Financial aspects including projected state contribution and cost to the individual tax payer, details concerning selection of a college board, property and operation, and answers to questions from the floor.

THE COMMUNITY junior college question as seen by school authorities will be explored by a representative of the Cook County superintendent of schools. Dr. Noble J. Puffer has agreed to send a representative to serve on the panel.

In addition to the planned discussion, "Commco" members will hear the nominating committee's report presenting a proposed slate of officers and directors for March election.

Notes from Arlington Acres

Marie Marshall — CLearbrook 5-2936

The Duke Kruses, 2123 E. Park, are home after spending four days in New York last week. While Duke attended classes at New York University, where he is enrolled in a seminar course, Eileen filled her days with visits to the United Nations, Radio City Music Hall and window shopping on Fifth Avenue. Evenings were spent seeing the shows "How to Succeed in Business" with Rudy Vallee, "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest" with Kirk Douglas and "Marathon 33" with Julie Harris.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Novy, 408 S. Phelps, celebrated their 15th wedding anniversary Jan. 15. They and their children, Robert and Roberta, went out to dinner at Poppe's Alpine House in Lake Zurich.

In honor of Raymond Loch's fifth birthday, Jan. 21, his mother took him shopping Saturday for the cowboy suit he wanted more than anything else. Tuesday his brothers, Tommy, Timy, Terry, Michael and David, were in fine voice to render the chorus of "Happy Birthday" at a celebratory dinner. The boys and their 7-month-old sister, Mary Kelly, are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Loch, 2124 E. Park.

DAVID HOUSER, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Houser, 416 S. Waterman, was wished a happy third birthday last Tuesday by his parents and sisters, Deneen and Deborah, at a family dinner party.

The Frank Gryzik home, 417 S. Forrest, buzzed with activity all weekend in honor of Susan's fourth birthday, Jan. 4, and Frankie's second birthday, Jan. 20.

Guests at a party on Saturday were Keith Moller, Kathy Ganzer, Nancy Ashbrook, Lisa Morgan, their sister Linda and a young aunt, Cindy Chrusciel of Chicago.

At a family dinner Sunday, 5 guests joined in singing "Happy Birthday." Among the well-wishers were the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Gryzik and Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Chrusciel of Chicago. Other guests were Susan's godmother, Mrs. Robert Golbach and her family of Chicago, Frankie's godparents, Mrs. Dorothy Wells of Buffalo Grove and Frank Childers of Chicago with their families, as well as a host of aunts, uncles and cousins.

SUE ORAVETZ, 533 S. Prindle, marked her 17th birthday last Monday. At a birthday dinner that evening, Sue received the congratulations of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Oravetz, and her sister and brother, Cathy and John. An extra touch of happiness was added to the day by a surprise telephone call from her sister, Karyl, from Greenville, S. C., where she is at school.

A party in honor of Sharon Conway's eighth birthday Jan. 17 was given Saturday by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Conway, 513 S. Prindle. Sharon's neighborhood and school friends who shared her cake and ice cream and enjoyed an afternoon of games were Cathy Oravetz, Kris and Karen Soukup, Kim Slusser, Kathy Ward, Lynne Detwiler, Nancy Tait, Renee Larson, Debby Hearl and Claudia Cappelle.

The January get-together of the Arlington Acres Dinner-of-the-Month-Club was held Saturday. Cocktails at the Howard Schulze home in Des Plaines were followed by dinner at Sorini's in North Riverside. Members who enjoyed the evening of dining and light opera and classical selections by the "Singing Sorinis" were the Schulzes, Al Mays, Roy Stoehrs and the Frank Marshalls. (A

False Pretenses

If there is no Hell, a good many preachers are obtaining money under false pretenses.—Billy Sunday.

Teachers Ask Salary Boost

The Arlington Teachers Association Monday proposed that elementary school teachers' salaries be increased so that the district can "obtain and keep experienced persons."

It told the school board that it believed that the district has to have a nucleus of experienced teachers and pointed out that 20 per cent of the present staff started this year without any experience and 13 per cent with only one year.

The group's proposals for increasing salaries — especially for more experienced teachers with master of arts degrees, it said, if in effect currently would cost the district $27,600.

The association, which represents 70 per cent of school district 25's 279 teachers, added that it also feels the starting teachers' salaries should be raised $100 a year. This suggested increase, if in effect now, would add another $32,800 to the district's costs.

However, the association's representatives emphasized what they feel is a need for more money for the more experienced teachers and commented that competition tends to fix the starting salaries.

The pay scale they proposed would put emphasis on teacher education, encouraging the teachers to get their M.A.s, they said.

School board president Joseph Faner told the association that the board already has a committee studying the salary situation and that the members would consider the group's proposals.

Board member George Harris commented after the association representatives left the meeting that the district did "slide back a little" last year in salaries, because "we ran out of money."

School Supt. R. E. Clabaugh said there is a lot to what the association said, but people leave their teaching jobs for many reasons, pregnancy for one. About 220 of the 279 teachers are women.

Also, he said, many beginning teachers are more concerned with their starting salary rather than what their pay will be later.

This Is IMPACT!

When a community reads that its schools are better, or worse, than average — that's IMPACT!

When a town learns its police department is corrupt, or incorruptible — that's IMPACT!

When a suburb learns it is to have a new industry or a new recreational center or a new municipal building, or it isn't — that's IMPACT!

When you want to keep up with integration in Birmingham, developments in the Far East, and Rocky's wedding in New York, the Big City Dailies provide the answer.

But if you're interested in what's happening on Main street, in village elections, and in the schools, you'll read about it in your local paper, and nowhere else — that's IMPACT!

Just imagine the IMPACT if you didn't have a local suburban paper. Who would attend the Village Theatre productions, subscribe to the Boy Scout fund drive, or know when to — and when not to — sprinkle the lawn?

And when Kiwanis sold its peanuts, the Lions aided the blind, and the Little League was holding a Pancake Day, how would you know where to go to help out — that's IMPACT!

We recognize our obligation — to our readers, our community, our churches and schools, our advertisers — to maintain the impact of good journalism, outstanding effort and a desire to serve.

We appreciate your plaudits, the responsibility you have cast upon us, and reaffirm our pledge to do what's right for our community.

Ridge Park–Sherwood

FROM SHERWOOD

Home from two weeks in Florida are the Richard Oldenburgs, 1315 Watling Road. They flew to Miami Beach and then drove to Pompano Beach, where they enjoyed fishing, boating and swimming. They visited Isle LaMorado, on the Keys, for a week before returning hoe.

One of the enjoyable memories of their trip is their meeting with Mrs. Ceil Franz and her daughter, Mrs. Fran Peters, both known to Sherwood residents.

Mrs. Franz is the mother of Mrs. Lee Conners, who left Sherwood for Portland, Ore., more than a year ago. As she had just spent three months there with her daughter, she was able to give the Oldenburgs news of the Conners.

FROM RIDGE PARK

An unusual meeting took place recently at O'Hare Airport, when the Walter Barnak family, 916 N. Fernandez, drove out to talk with Mrs. Rasmon Bhupalan of Petling Jaya, seven miles from the capital of Malaya. Although they had never met before, they exchanged news of Mrs. Barnak's sister, a Franciscan missionary, serving in the convent hospital there. Sister Mary Bernard, F.M.N., has been overseas for seven years and in Malaya for four. Since the younger Barnak child was born only a year ago, Mrs. Bhupalan was able to take photographs and her impressions of the baby back to Sister Mary Bernard.

Mrs. Bhupalan has been in this country representing her government, and traveling and speaking in California, Madison and Chicago. She attended for her government the funeral of President Kennedy. Before leaving Chicago, she had spent several days there with friends, and had called the Barnaks, requesting them to meet her at the airport.

PAMELA Barnak celebrated her first birthday recently, with the help of her grandmother, Mrs. Amelia Barnak. Others present included Pamela's godparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Lachus and their children, from Elk Ridge Villa, and, of course, her brother, Donnie.

Good news from Salem Street is that once again the Niell boys are home. David and Jeffrey were in Chicago for three weeks, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Reeder. Their mother, who had been seriously ill, has now recovered enough to have the family reunited, although the coming birthdays will probably be quiet ones. Jeffrey will be two on the day before his mother's birthday.

Joan Oertel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Oertel, 708 N. Salem, came home Wednesday from her studies at Illinois State University at Normal. Here between semesters, she'll spend a week.

Best wishes for a speedy recovery go to George Chapman, son of the Jerry Chapmans, Kasper and Elm, who has been undergoing diagnostic tests in Lutheran General Hospital. Also sidelined by illness have been Randy and Cheryl Geisler, children of the Lawrence Geislers, 816 N. Ridge.

JIMMY Wojtkiewicz, now 9, celebrated with an open house for family and friends. On hand were Mr. and Mrs. C. Petersen, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gastram, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Leipzig and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lindgren, and Miss Ida Weinschank.

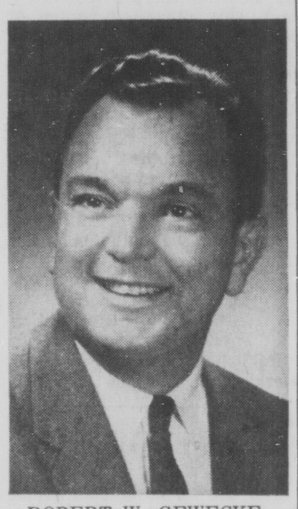
Others feted this month include Russell Daughtry, son of the Wallace Daughtrys, 715 W. Elm, now 11, and Cary Howes, son of the Raymond Howes of Kasper Street. Cary carried treats to Mrs. Larsen's class and welcomed Steve Snap, Kent Behrens, Todd Brunhke, Barry Brinn, Larry Kay, Doug Schaffer, and Cary's brother, Chip, for his seventh birthday party.

Also hostess on the birthday circuit was Carol Broadfoot. She entertained Debbie Wiegel, Rebecca Petersen, Margie Kay and Julie Jensen — making five girls for her fifth birthday party. She's the daughter of the William Broadfoots, 936 Kasper.

On Fernandez Street, Glen Seaman, son of the Ed Seamans, took treats to Mrs. Bergen's kindergarten class. Now 6, Glen had a recent party for neighborhood playmates. Present were Tommy and Gary Holub, Paul Rhodes, Robin Raitt, Carol Vetter, Tommy Amy and Jan Ferguson and Danny, Carol and Kerry Mohr. (A

Bank Elects 2 New Directors

GEORGE R. BUSSE



ROBERT W. GEWECKE

Two new directors were elected at the 53rd annual shareholders, meeting of the Mount Prospect State Bank Jan. 15 at the bank.

They are Robert W. Gewecke, vice president and cashier of the bank; and George R. Busse treasurer of George L. Busse & Co.

C. H. Gewecke, who had been a member of the board since 1926, and Fred Meeske, who has served since 1938, did not stand for re-election.

Directors re-elected were Howard W. Alton, Fred W. Busse, William J. Busse, Carl Hammerl, Lawrence Kerns, Herman Kolpin and Albert Wille.

Record highs in loans, deposits, resources and capital funds as of Dec. 31, 1963, were reported by William J. Busse, president and chairman of the board.

DEPOSITS AT THE year end totalled $27,439,976 as compared with $23,602,468 a year ago, an increase of 16 per cent. Year end total of loans outstanding was $11,792,106 compared with $9,277,021 in 1962, an increase of about 27 per cent.

Gross operating earnings reached a new high in 1963, Busse reported, totalling $1,239,011 about 15 per cent greater than the previous year. Net operating earnings after taxes were $2.28 per share as compared with $2.01 a share in 1962.

During 1963 the capital stock of the bank was increased from $500,000 to $600,000 through distribution of a stock dividend of 20 per cent, Busse asserted.

Total capital funds of the bank now total $1,619,889. The bank's lending limit to a single customer stands at $180,000 at the present time.

CONTINUED growth of the bank in deposits, loans and total resources during 1964 was predicted by Busse. The business outlook for 1964 on the national scene appears to be good, he said, despite the relatively high level of unemployment and international payments deficit.

On the local level, businessmen's reports for 1963 ranged from good to poor. Aggressive action on the part of some resulted in increased sales volume and profits while others felt the impact of increased sales competition. (B9-M

KICKIN' IT AROUND

Why Don't Leagues Switch To Junior-Varsity Prelims?

AS A SOPHOMORE, he's thrown into the spotlight, playing before thousands of fans with critical eyes watching every move. Fellow students recognize him in the halls.

As a junior, he's cast in the shadows, playing before a handful of fans on a Saturday morning when folks are more concerned with shopping and their chores around the house. He's no hero anymore. He's "just a jayvee."

That's the unfortunate plight of many youngsters today in several conferences where frosh-soph contests still precede the varsity headliners in both basketball and football.

Wouldn't it be more logical to emphasize a gradual progression of the player from the frosh through varsity? Let the jayvees play the preliminary. This isn't an original thought. Several area leagues follow this procedure now.

"I'd say 95 per cent of the people who have worked under both systems favor the jayvee preliminary," Prospect Athletic Director Dick Kinneman points out.

"If we're interested in our varsity teams this gradual building process is important," Kinneman continued. "This system helps keep more boys out for the sport, and there's a better chance of keeping them together."

In the leagues where soph play is emphasized the junior-varsity teams are composed of juniors and seniors (sometimes only juniors) not quite good enough to qualify for the varsity but with enough ability to warrant they be left around.

The junior and senior athlete still short of varsity skills needs an additional boost, such as a chance to play in the prelim and before a crowd. Perhaps the crowds could spur on an individual to achieve heights he himself didn't know he could attain.

When a boy is a freshman or sophomore there's more of playing for the "love of the game." He doesn't care if he plays Saturday morning or after school.

Another thought has been passed along by someone outside the area school system. It also merits some consideration.

With less pressure couldn't a frosh-soph coach do a lot more experimenting, working with more players? There wouldn't be any fear of crowd reaction. These first two years are vital in the development of future varsity teams, and many observers feel there is too much emphasis on winning at the lower levels.

The emphasis should be on developing youngsters for future varsity service.

When a boy shoots up several inches in one year, he isn't as well coordinated as his smaller classmates and in some cases finds himself sitting on the bench. Wouldn't it be better for the boy to learn some skills playing in semi-privacy rather than before packed houses where every mistake is magnified and where confidence can be shaken?

The frosh and sophs will have their day. Let the juniors and seniors, who already have labored for two years, have their final chance to appear publicly as high school athletes. If a soph is good enough he'll be promoted to jayvee or varsity status.

We're in favor of junior-varsity preliminaries. Certainly the pros and cons should receive more than just a passing comment when the leagues involved get together to plan the next school year.

Blair, Hadick Only Winners

Tom Blair and Cliff Hadick gave Forest View its only firsts Friday as the Falcons' varsity swimming team dropped a 74-21 decision to Glenbrook North.

Blair captured the diving event and Hadick ruled the 100 freestyle for ten Falcon markers. Cliff turned in a :55.5 clocking in his specialty to finish one and nine-tenths of a second in front of the runnerup from Glenbrook.

Forest View also gained seconds in the 50 yard freestyle with Bill Reising and 100 butterfly with John Buczek.

REISING was clocked in :24.95, one second behind the winner, and Buczek had a 1:04.7 standard. The winner splashed home with a 1:04.4.

Buczek also finished third in the 200 individual medley.

Other thirds were posted by Darryl Oberg in the 200 freestyle and 400 freestyle, Don Campbell in the 100 backstroke, and David Leuck in the 100 breaststroke.

Glenbrook North headed both relays.

IN THE frosh-soph meet Glenbrook posted a 72-23 decision.

Forest View's only first was garnered by Bob Hughes in the 50 yard breaststroke. He was clocked in a snappy :36.1.

Posting local seconds were Keith Brown (150 freestyle), Craig Brown (100 individual medley), Bob Glaser (50 butterfly), and Mike Nolan (100 freestyle).

Launch Second Half Schedule

York Comes to Town Friday; Battles Host Cardinal Five

Arlington's luck is due to change.

With two frustrating months behind them the varsity Cardinals will launch another round of West Suburban action Friday evening when they entertain touted York.

Ted Wissen's outfit will carry a 4-9 record into the league fray.

Matching a 4-9 standard with the Dukes' snappy 11-3 mark would seem to indicate a loop mismatch. A closer examination of the Arlington record is necessary.

A series of heartbreaking reversals started in late December when Downers Grove pulled out a one-point thriller in overtime. Since that time Arlington has lost five other games. Four have been by three or less points. The fifth was a misleading 11-point setback to Lincoln.

A TOTAL OF seven points saddled Wissen's charges with three straight setbacks. They dropped a three-point decision at Willowbrook and then fell in successive two-pointers to Glenbard West and Riverside last weekend.

Arlington fans are hopeful of better days ahead at the Euclid Avenue establishment, and their confidence was restored with a superlative game against Riverside-Brookfield Saturday.

"That certainly was one of our better efforts," Wissen praised. "It's hard to figure after that game at Glenbard."

WISSEN WAS high in his praise of the Bulldogs' All-State candidate Tommy Kondla who whipped in 31 points. "Best boy we've seen this year," Ted admitted.

Two weeks ago Ralph Morrisett was a jayvee center and Jeff Beckman was a varsity reserve at Arlington. Today, they figure highly in Wissen's plans for the rest of the season.

Morrisett (6-4) will serve as a front-line replacement. He saw extensive action against both Glenbard and R-B and turned in creditable efforts. He is a strong boy.

"Ralph's coming along real well," Wissen said. "He did a good job rebounding and his scoring will pick up."

BECKMAN IS giving the Cards the offensive punch they needed in the backcourt. In three extensive varsity appearances Jeff has flipped in 46 points. He fired in 24 against Riverside with a nifty display of marksmanship.

Jeff should help keep the defenses honest. If they sag back he can fire with some authority.

Prospect High School in Mount Prospect will be the scene of a double dual in gymnastics Saturday afternoon between the three District 214 representatives.

Competition will get under way at two o'clock at both varsity and frosh-soph levels as Arlington, Prospect, and Forest View match talents.

Prospect's powerful Knights, third in the state finals last winter, headed the 1963 District 214 headliner, but Arlington will carry the favorite's role into Saturday's action.

COACH TOM Walthouse's Cardinals are unbeaten in six duals and own a one-point victory over defending state champion Evanston. However, Rick Farris' Prospect crew looked impressive in its latest outing and should make things interesting.

Forest View, under the direction of Gay Hughes, is still in a building stage and winless over the current campaign. Hughes' Falcons aren't expected to challenge either Arlington or Prospect for team honors, but the veteran coach is equipped with some capable individuals.

There will be several outstanding performers in the double dual.

HEADING THE list is Reid Olson of Arlington, a state champ as a sophomore on the still rings. Olson has been toppled once in his specialty this year but posted a sparkling 180 score last week against New

League Play Continues

KEN ARNESON

The second week of Mid Suburban varsity basketball competition is now past history, and the team to catch — as expected — is Maine West.

The front running Warriors claim Mid Suburban league victories against Prospect, Forest View and Glenbrook South for their 3-0 record. Still in the thick of the race are the two local quintets Prospect and Forest View, each with records of two wins and one loss.

While Maine West is a heavy favorite to continue its winning ways against Glenbrook North this Friday night, Forest View and Prospect both hope to keep their title hopes alive in league encounters that same evening.

COACH DICK Kinneman's Prospect hardwood squad takes on a visiting Glenbrook South unit, and Forest View travels to Deerfield.

The Prospect-Glenbrook South contest should prove to be an interesting battle.

Lions Face Big Weekend

Two Road Tests Ahead; Meet St. Pat's Saturday

by BOB FRISK

The telephone assumes added significance to a coach when his club is winning.

The more you win the more calls you get. Everyone's interested in a winner. They even call on Sunday.

Ron Feiereisel's phone has been pretty busy in the past few weeks. St. Viator's Lions are red-hot.

Altnough the Chicagoland Prep League season is still young, St. Viator currently is perched on top with Chicago St. Patrick. Both clubs boast identical 4-1 records and are headed for a showdown Saturday evening.

"I'VE BEEN pleasantly surprised," Feiereisel points out. "The boys seemed to come of age after that overtime loss to DeLaSalle. We played our best game of the season last week at St. Mel. It's always tough to win there."

Feiereisel's Lions will hook up in two Chicagoland contests this weekend with road trips to Holy Cross and St. Pat's. The two varsity headliners will be preceded by frosh-soph games at 6:30 p.m.

Although it's natural St. Viator is looking forward to its big meeting with touted St. Pat's Saturday, the Lions can't overlook that trip to Holy Cross.

"THEY'VE BEEN losing in the league," St. Viator's head man admits, "but have had that one bad quarter in every game."

The Chargers trailed St. George by four points (37-33) at halftime but were ice-cold in the third period and fell behind by 18.

Frank Petritis, a 6-foot junior, has been the big man on offense for Don Halverson's Holy Cross club. He's been good for 70 points in the four league setbacks with a high of 23 against St. Pat's. He also fired in 22 in the loss to St. George.

RON FEIEREISEL
Has Club Rolling

JOINING PETRITIS in the starting alignment will be Al Knipp (5-11), Tom Kurcz (6-0), Vic Capron (5-11), and Don Storino (6-0).

The Chargers have won three of nine over-all with victories over Maryville Academy, DeSales, and Marian Catholic.

Holy Cross is a young club lacking in size. But they're hustlers, and the Lions will have to guard against any complacency.

That brings us to the big one Saturday at St. Patrick's in Chicago.

THE SHAMROCKS tangle with St. Joseph Friday and could have some trouble. If both St. Pat's and St. Viator escape those initial league scuffles, they'll bring identical 5-1 marks into Saturday's feature.

Coach Max Kurland lost All-Stater Frank Hollendoner (6-11) by graduation but has come up with another solid club. The Shamrocks were unbeaten heading into last week's action but suffered a shocking 43-40 setback to DeLaSalle.

"We just weren't mentally alert," Kurland explained. "We were very flat after that Friday game."

BALANCED SCORING has been evident as St. Pat's rolled

Maine East's Tankers Win

Blue Demons Head Two Classes Against Cards

Maine East dominated the varsity competition but ha da rougher time in the frosh-soph division last week in posting two swimming victories over visiting Arlington High.

The Blue Demons rolled to firsts in every event in a one-sided 79-15 varsity conquest but had to yield four "blue ribbons" in a 56-39 frosh-soph victory.

John Gardner's Cardinals were slated to battle Riverside-Brookfield on Tuesday of this week. They'll journey to Niles West tomorrow (Friday). Details will be given in next week's sports section.

Arlington did pick up three seconds in the varsity battle with Maine East.

GREG INMAN finished in the runnerup slot in both the 100 yard backstroke and 200 individual medley. His 1:05.6 clocking in the century was two seconds behind the winner, and he posted a 2:29.3 effort in the medley.

Chuck Fenner placed second in the 100 butterfly with a 1:37.8 standard.

Maine East swept both relays.

IN THE FROSH-soph meet the Cardinals did collect four firsts thanks to Dick Tucker in the 50 yard freestyle, Greg Stafford in the 150 and 300 freestyle events, and Russ Larson in the 50 yard breast stroke.

Arlington recorded five individual seconds with Paul Hembd (50 butterfly), Art Kieck (50 backstroke), Mike Pelletier (300 free), Bill Sayre (50 breast stroke), and Larson (100 individual medley).

Pirates Top Prospect's Mat Squad

Palatine has had better years record-wise in wrestling, but John Ellis' varsity crew showed a lot of class Saturday in an impressive 28-15 victory over neighboring Prospect.

The North Suburban league Pirates never trailed as they handed the Knights their first loss in the last five outings.

Palatine held a 14-0 advantage before Prospect could counter but had to hold on against a furious Knight rush in the middle weights.

FRESHMAN Bill Barker whipped Karl Meisenheimer, 4-2, at 95 pounds to give Palatine its first three points, and the Pirates won by default at 103 when Prospect's Roy Harnish suffered a broken nose.

Jim Bailey scored in every period, barely avoided getting pinned in the third segment, and edged the Knights' Ray McKinnon 6-5 at 112 pounds.

State champ Mike Gluck gave Bill Becker lots of trouble at 120 and wound up with a 14-1 decision. Mike had a 5-0 lead in the first period and coasted home with another win.

PROSPECT finally scored at 127 when Mike Phillips flattened "Butch" Mummert in the third period. Another pin—this one by George Freeland—cut the Pirate lead to four points, and Bob Virta and Don Willie battled to a 4-4 deadlock at 138.

Palatine's Seth Norton disposed of Jim McMillan at 145, 14-1, with 12 points coming in the last two periods. Seth had a near-fall in that concluding segment but couldn't put the Knight entry away.

Charley Preus (154) and Jim Koeppl (165) gave Palatine six more points and a 25-12 lead.

Prospect's Earl Smith (180) and Palatine's Mike Lang (heavyweight) claimed the two final victories. Smith used riding time for his one-point, 3-2 conquest of Demitris Gerakaris.

The summary:

Palatine 28, Prospect 15

95 Pounds — Barker (Pal) beat Meisenheimer (Pros), 4-2
103—Palatine won by default

St. Viator Faces Crucial Weekend

to 12 victories in its first 13 outings. In league play Bruce Mueller, a 6-foot-4, 225-pound center, is the top man with 61 points in five contests.

Three Shamrock starters average in double figures in the league with the fourth and fifth boys right behind.

Gil Witherspoon, a 6-footer, is next in line with 51 with Jerry Shea (6-2) boasting 50 markers. Shea's a rugged 205-pounder who teams with Mueller to give Pat's a lot of beef under the boards.

ROUNDING OUT the Shamrock alignment are guards Dan Pierce (6-2) and Bill McManaman (6-1). These two youngsters showed enough class in the holiday attraction to earn all-tourney honors as St. Pat's roared to the championship.

Over in St. Viator's camp Feieriesel is working with the same starting five with hopes that guard Joe Sanchez will be available for weekend duty.

Sanchez, who saw extensive varsity action as a freshman, was felled by the books for the first semester but he might be back this weekend.

"IF HE'S NOT available for these two games, he'll definitely suit up the following weekend," Feiereisel said.

Feiereisel had words of praise for every starter with Charley Grandt continuing to draw orchids for his work.

"He's given us four good games scoring," Ron praised, "and has been helping out on defense and in rebounding. He blocked a shot late in the game Saturday that was the turning point."

Grandt had 26 points against St. Mel, 16 from the charity line. High-scoring guard Jim Murray rifled in 27 in Friday's conquest of St. Ignatius.

Cardinal Jayvees Whipped

Arlington's jayvee basketball team had some trouble leaving the gate Saturday morning and dropped a 67-58 decision to Downers Grove.

Downers piled up a 15-9 first period advantage and held a 35-23 lead at the halftime break.

"We started poorly and were behind throughout," head coach Al Allen reported. "We played without Ralph Morrisett who was moved up to the varsity."

Scott Somers paced a balanced Cardinal offensive attack. The junior tossed in four baskets and four free throws before fouling out.

Jeff Galyon, Jerry Fink, and Tom Jaspar had 10 points each for the Cardinals.

Wheeling Wins

Scott Bischoff and Greg Fedyski combined for 33 points in leading Wheeling's frosh 'A' basketball team to a 57-35 victory over Niles West last week.

Bischoff dialed eight baskets and two free throws, and Fedyski contributed six fielders and three charity tosses.

Wheeling held a 31-20 lead at halftime.

Gym Headliner Slated Saturday

Trier. He'll be a boy to watch.

The Cardinals also have a tramp standout in Gary Holveck, second in the state last winter. Ron Harstad, a senior, has been a consistent point-getter on the parallel bars, horizontal bar, and stili rings. Harstad was second in the district all-around in 1963.

Prospect lost versatile Warren VanderVoort by graduation but does have some other stick-outs. In last year's state finals Brian Williams finished fourth in tumbling and he's back. He's been a consistent winner for Farris.

MIKE ZADEL finished tenth on the state trampoline but has had some trouble topping his own teammates in the 1963-64 campaign. But Mike will be a threat to take his specialty in the District 214 meet.

When Prospect hooked up in the Evanston Invitational earlier this winter (top five teams in the previous state meet), Tim Jenning came home with the rings title. His battle with the Cards' Olson Saturday should be one of the meet highlights.

Forest View's best bet for honors is side horse specialist Steve Kretschmer. Steve topped talented fields against both Willowbrook and Proviso West in recent outings.

Olson, Holveck, Harstad, Williams, Zadel, Jenning, Kretschmer and many other outstanding gymnasts will be in action Saturday.

Falcons' Frosh Trip Wheeling

Wheeling held the lead at the end of one period but Forest View took the advantage at halftime and held on for a 42-32 frosh 'A' basketball victory last week.

Ford tossed in 12 points to pace a balanced Forest View attack. Lambert added eight and Brasch seven.

Scott Bischoff was high for Wheeling with 13 before fouling out.

Score by quarters:

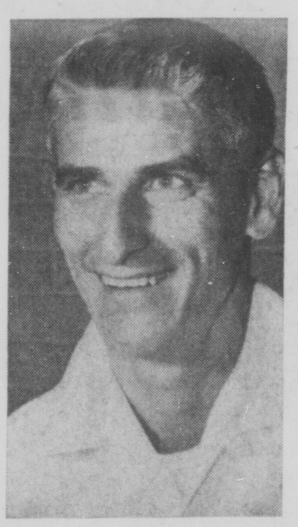
For Grand Opening

Two Champion Bowlers in Elk Grove



JIM ST. JOHN

PATTI McBRIDE

Area bowling fans will get a chance for a first-hand look at two members of the AMF staff of champions this weekend.

Jim St. John and Patti McBride will be on display Jan. 25 and 26 when they appear at the spanking new Elk Grove Bowl. They will help the new establishment celebrate its Grand Opening.

The latest major achievement for St. John, a 34-year-old resident of Chicago, is the 1963 World's Inviational title. Jim dominated the opposition in a manner never before seen in the history of national competition.

ST. JOHN bowled a total of 100 games in the tournament, which included a 24-game qualifying, 12-game semi-finals and 64-game finals. In all he smashed 13 tournament records, including Highest Tournament Average (226.9), Most 250 Games (20), Most 200 games (85), Highest Average in Finals (233.2), and Greatest Victory Margin in Finals (29.09 Petersen Points).

The 5'8", 132 pounder has rolled two sanctioned 300 games and boasts a high sanctioned series of 789. Jim has copped the PBA Rockford, Ill., Fort Smith, Ark., and Meridian, Miss. Opens this year in addition to his victory in the World's Invitational.

During the 1963 PBA Summer Tour, St. John won three tournaments within a month and became one of the top five money winners on the tour. In September, following the tour, Jim joined the AMF Staff of Champions.

With these accomplishments to his credit, many fans feel that St. John has arrived as a professional bowler. Jim's opponents also believe that this soft-spoken father of two will be much harder to beat in the future.

PATTI McBRIDE became the talk of the bowling world in 1959 when she set the all-time All-Events record in the WIBC. She broke the 25-year-old standard by averaging 214 over nine games. As a result of this accomplishment and many others that year, Patti was selected to the 1959 All-American Team.

Patti became a headliner in the AMF Free Bowling Clinics and Instructors' Forums. Then, in early 1961, she became ill and had to take a seven-month leave of absence from the game.

The test of a champion has always been his or her ability to make a comeback. Patti began hers in October, 1961, when she qualified for the PBAA All-Star Tournament by winning a berth in the tough Michigan State eliminations.

THREE MONTHS later, in January, 1962, Patti was a finalist in the 21st annual All-Star Tournament, competing against the greatest bowlers in the world. Later that year, she finished second in the Professional Women's Association Tournament in Norwalk, Calif., averaging 210 for 16 games.

Knights Belt West Leyden In Gymnastics

In one of their top performances of the season Prospect High's varsity gymnasts showed West Leyden a few things last week and rolled to an 82½ to 50½ victory.

The rapidly improving Knights posted advantages in every event with a sweep in tumbling thanks to Brian Williams, Al Smith, and Pat Kivland.

"I think we're coming along now," head coach Rick Farris pointed out.

The Knights moved off to a fast start with a 15-7 bulge on the trampoline as Rick Carr turned in a 154 total for first. He was followed by teammates John Strobel (153) and Mike Zadel (93).

Don Sabey paced a 13½ to 8½ win on the side horse. He turned in a 137 effort which was good for a seven-point margin over West Leyden's Esposito and Prospect's Cole.

The high bar belonged to Scott Paris with a nifty 152 mark, and Pat Kivland ruled the parallel bars. Pat turned in one of his top routines of the season and it was worth 168 points.

TIM JENNING and Steve Gran finished 1-2 on rings with Jenning posting a 156. Gran had one 74 card but was rated lower by the other judge.

In the tumbling windup Williams, Smith, and Kivland showed their class with a 1-2-3 finish. A consistent standout this season, Williams' routine was worth a 156 score this time around.

Prospect will host Arlington and Forest View in a double dual this Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. Competition will be held at both varsity and froshsoph levels.

2nd Period Lapse Fatal For Falcons

Forest View's jayvee basketball team dropped last Friday night's preliminary game against Maine West by 16 points, 47-31.

Fifteen of these points were lost to the visiting Maine Warriors in a disastrous second quarter in which the Falcons were outscored 16-1.

Coach Bob Rees' Forest View squad installed a pressing type of defense in the final half which brought about a measure of success for the trailing Falcons.

Forest View closed the gap to eight points in the final quarter but ended up on the losing end of a 47-31 score.

Chuck Peterson and Tom Hendrickson led the Maine scoring with 11 and 10 points respectively. Bryon Borgardt paced Forest View with 10 tallies.

Lions' Frosh Split

A strong St. Mel frosh squad handed St. Viator High School its first Chicagoland Prep League setback Saturday morning, 45-39.

The young Lions carried a two-point lead into the final quarter but faltered before a St. Mel rush.

St. Mel and Holy Cross are still unbeaten in the frosh league. This week the Lions meet Holy Cross and must win to stay in contention.

Kevin O'Connell fired in 17 points and Frank Hogan tallied 14 for the Lions last Saturday.

On Friday afternoon St. Viator rolled to its fifth straight plebe victory, a 59-26 rout of St. Ignatius.

Larry Nomellini's Lions put this one away in the first period with a 19-2 advantage. They held a 33-11 lead at the intermission.

Hogan paced the winners with 16 points on six field goals and four throws. O'Connell added 10 and Tom Epperly eight.

Falcons Split Frosh Battles; Rock Ridgewood

Forest View's frosh wrestlers overwhelmed Ridgewood Saturday, 52-0, and gained a split for weekend competition.

Maine West tripped the Falcons Friday, 26-22.

Posting the wins were Tom Bohac (95), Bob Urban (103), Stan Rohner (112), Ron Cook (120), Bob Anderson (127), George Bergau (133), Craig Smith (138), Dave Kaspari (145), Randy Shutt (154), and Bruce Haas (180).

In competition Friday Maine West took the lead at 165 pounds on a pin and brought in a 26-22 decision.

York

ARLINGTON isn't faced with an easy assignment Friday.

Several observers felt the Dukes were the best team the Cards faced during the first half of the league schedule and although regular center Jack Marbarger still is on the sidelines with a foot injury this club is dangerous.

Marbarger should get the cast off today (Thursday) but probably won't be back in the lineup for two weeks.

"His absence has really affected us," head coach Dick Campbell pointed out. "We tried to think it wouldn't but there were so many things Jack did well. However, I do feel we're starting to find ourselves again after a definite slump. We played our best game of the season last Saturday against Downers Grove."

MAINE EAST, unbeaten leader in the WSC, hammered York Friday by 20 points, but the Dukes rebounded with a 75-66 victory over Downers.

Bruce Brackmann, a 6-foot-5 senior forward, still is the big man for Campbell. Bruce is second in the league scoring race (if that's what you can call it with Kondla way out in front). The rugged forward has been good for 146 points in seven contests.

Riverside, Maine Top Cardinals

R-B Wins Mat Test In Final Match, 22-18

Riverside-Brookfield and Maine East recorded West Suburban wrestling victories over Arlington High School last weekend, handing the Cards their second and third straight setbacks before the home fans.

Trailing by one point with one bout remaining, Riverside fashioned a 22-18 victory thanks to Bob Jarvis' pin.

Highly regarded Maine East took a four-point lead at 145 pounds and never trailed again in claiming a 27-15 conquest.

ARLINGTON will journey to Hinsdale Friday evening and hope to get back in the win column. Julius Fliehler's Cards now stand 6-5 in dual meet competition.

After falling behind 11-0 against Riverside, the Cardinals made their move with Bob Conti getting things started. Bob used a first period takedown and second period reversal for a 4-0 triumph at 120.

R-B bounced right back with a decision, but John Hermes decisioned Dave Hyravy 4-1 at 133, and Arlington was back in business.

BILL ANDERSON cut the deficit to five points with a nifty 6-2 triumph over Emil Filip at 138 pounds. Andy was blanked in the opening stanza, but he used two reversals and a predicament for the win.

After a Bulldog triumph the Cards counted again with Chuck Hood decisioning Bob Bayha 3-2 at 154. Steve Castor and Randy Opela gave Arlington six more points and a one-point lead, but Jarvis flattened Hugh Smeed at heavyweight to give R-B the win.

Arlington and Maine East staged an interesting battle through the first seven bouts Saturday before the Blue Demons finally made their move.

SCOTT BROWN (95), Conti (120), Doug Duss (127), and Anderson (138) were the Cardinal victors, and it was 12-11 Arlington heading into the 145-pound tussle.

Maine gained the lead at 145 when Scott Simpson pinned Bruce Yates in 1:53, and the Demons rolled off two more wins before the Cardinals could score again.

Opela gave Arlington its final points with a 3-2 victory at 180, using riding time for the win over Rick Mueller.

College Tournament as one of the highest scoring teams in the nation.

HOWEVER, THE "Babe" apparently has thrown this high scoring system to the wayward winds at the Glenbrook School and has molded his Titan quintet into a ball-control unit.

Last Saturday night the Titans gave Maine West a frustrating evening with their ball-control game before finally succumbing 33-15. At the end of the third quarter in this game Maine West held only a 19-14 lead, but went on to outscore Glenbrook South 14-1 in the final quarter to win its lowest scoring victory of the season.

Prospect's aggressive style of offensive play will undoubtedly be hampered by the Titans, if the Baptist squad sticks to its ball-control style of play.

THE KNIGHTS racked up 151 points in its two victories last week, tallying 84 against Glenbrook North and 67 against Deerfield. It is doubtful that Prospect will reach any of these figures Friday night, unless Glenbrook South decides to run with the Knights.

Kinneman is pleased with the way his Prospect five performed last weekend, and feels that the Knights may still not have reached their playing peak. Guard Dave White's 21-point performance Saturday night, and Ron Moehling's continued sharp shooting were gratifying to the Prospect mentor.

The tough rebounding jobs turned in by forward Don Neubert and center Dave Gobeille also earned the praise of Kinneman.

THE NAME of Darrell Fenton has suddenly jumped into the limelight at Forest View High. The agile 6-3, 225 pound Fenton came off the bench Saturday night to spark the Falcons to a come-from-behind 66-61 win over Glenbrook North.

THE FALCONS' Friday night loss to Maine West was all but forgotten after Fenton started pouring points through the hoop Saturday night to lead Forest View back into the win column. Fenton garnered 21 points for the evening's work, and Coach Ken Arneson has moved the big senior into a starting role for this Friday's game at Deerfield.

Another fine performance turned in by a Falcon substitute Saturday was that of Russ Barger, who accounted for eight points towards the Forest View win. Barger is not slated for a starting role, but is scheduled to see substantial action this weekend.

ROUNDING OUT the Falcon starting lineup will be Dick Anderson at center, Pat Dunnigan at forward, Jack McRae at one guard spot, and either Joe Mueller or Garron Kokai at the other guard slot.

Deerfield is presently holding down the cellar position in the conference standings, but the Warriors have at times displayed some top-notch basketball.

The Deerfield five gave Prospect a brief scare last Saturday, when it crept up to within four points of the Knights early in the third quarter. Besides the loss to Prospect the Warriors have dropped a 54-51 decision to Glenbrook North and a 33-31 game to Glenbrook South.

Rout New Trier

Arlington's Gym Squad Wins Sixth

Arlington High's powerful gymnasts kept their perfect record intact Saturday with an 81-51 conquest of Suburban League entry New Trier.

The victory was the sixth straight for Tom Walthouse's powerhouse in dual meet competition. The Cards will journey to York Friday evening and then hook up with Prospect and Forest View in a double dual at Prospect Saturday afternoon.

A couple mishaps on the trampoline hurt New Trier at the outset Saturday, and the Cards rolled to a 15-7 advantage. Gary Holveck headed the field with a 147 total with teammate Conley Stewart runnerup at 134.

THE CARDS continued their assault with 16-6 sweep on the side horse as Bob Broome, John Ungaro, and Stan Rudowyj finished 1-2-3. Broome's routine was worth a 156 card from the judges.

Arlington yielded the individual first on the high bar but still had enough class for a 12-10 bulge. Soph standout Jim Johannesen continued to impress with a second (146 score), and Holveck was third.

The parallel bar belonged to Arlington as Ulrich Geissler, Reid Olson, and Ron Harstad landed the top three slots. Geissler had a 148 total.

OLSON, STATE champ on the still rings as a soph, showed some of that state form when his routine was given identical 90 totals by the two judges. Reid was an easy winner with teammate Harstad posting 80-79 for a solid second.

New Trier had the advantage in tumbling with Jack Brosseit's third the top Cardinal finish.

Cards Rebound From Sub-Par Effort With Near Upset of R-B

by BOB FRISK

Only the names were the same. That's where the resemblance ends between the two clubs that performed for Arlington High School last weekend.

You figure it out. An Arlington team that stumbles before hapless Glenbard West gives touted Riverside-Brookfield fits for four periods just twenty-four hours later.

Maybe it was a return to the home court. Certainly better competition can bring out a stronger performance. Or was it a determination to make amends for a lackluster effort in Glen Ellyn?

ANYWAY YOU look at it Riverside's rangy Bulldogs feel mighty fortunate today they were able to escape with a 74-72 victory in a West Suburban barnburner. The outcome was in doubt until the final buzzer checked an aroused Cardinal quintet.

In control at midcourt with two seconds remaining Arlington set up a final play. Guard Jim Jakubiec arched a high pass toward the basket and either Bob Conner or Ralph Morrisett. Conner went high but his tip was off the mark.

Only seconds before Arlington had still another chance to pull even with the surprised visitors.

AN OFFENSIVE foul gave the Cards the ball with 29 seconds remaining, trailing by two points. With time running out Jeff Beckman, who was red-hot all night and finished with 24 points, fired a jumper that rimmed and came out into the hands of Riverside's 6-foot-8 Tommy Kondla.

Konda worked the ball to Marty Berg, but the Bulldog forward was called for traveling. Arlington had one more chance. The stage was set for the half-court pass under the basket to either big boy. It almost worked.

It's rough to drop two-point decisions on successive nights, but all is not lost when a club can bounce off the floor with as much fire as Arlington showed Saturday.

TED WISSEN'S club lost some heartbreakers in first half action in the West Suburban. Three of the Cards' six losses were by two or less points. Five of Arlington's nine setbacks this season have been by three or less markers.

Arlington fans are hopeful the performance against R-B is an indication of what's to come over the final weeks of the 1963-64 campaign.

A stubborn refusal to toss in the towel even when down by 11 points was a bright spot against the Bulldogs. Wissen's charges never let up. They continued to apply the pressure with Beckman leading the assault.

THE EMERGENCY of Beckman as a capable scorer has been a pleasant surprise. In the past opponents were concentrating on the Cardinal front-liners and not worrying too much about any scoring from the backcourt. Beckman's snipping in the past three contests should serve to keep future defenses honest.

Jeff whipped in 15 points in the second half as Arlington battled from behind.

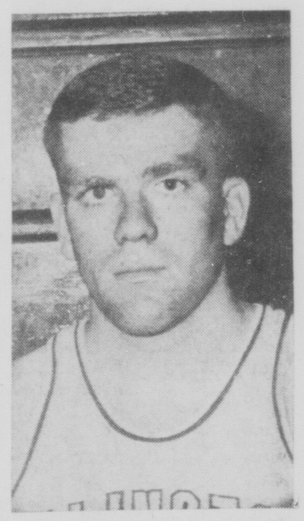
With 1:32 remaining in the third quarter Arlington trailed by 11 points, 52-41. Morrisett and Beckman, two youngsters gradually filling more important roles on Wissen's varsity, then combined for five straight points and the Cards were back in the game.

KONDLA, THE Bulldogs' All-State candidate who finished with 31 points, was practically the entire R-B offense in that third stanza as he pumped through six baskets, five from the side.

At the break Riverside held a 56-50 advantage. Morrisett hit two free throws, and Paul Splittorff rammed home a 13-footer and it was 56-54.

Two minutes later Arlington finally gained a deadlock when Jim Jukubiec and Beckman put together successive baskets, Jim rifling in a long 20-footer from the top of the key.

KINDLA'S layup put Riverside back on top, but Jakubiec went to work again from the key. A free throw by Berg and layup by Kondla gave Riverside a 65-62 lead and although the visitors were pressed in the windup they never relinquished the lead again.



JEFF BECKMAN
Keys Card Rally

Splittorff was the big man for Arlington in the first half with 13 points and the Cards were down by five (39-34) at the intermission. Kondla, who didn't score his first basket until 2:21 remained in the opening segment, wound up with 11 at the break.

Kondla, who's taking aim on the season scoring record in the West Suburban Conference, finished with 15 baskets and one charity throw for 31 markers. He pulled down 13 rebounds but had only six off the defensive boards, two in the final half when the Bulldogs found themselves in serious trouble.

The rangy senior hit on 15 of 26 shots. He tried only two fielders in the first quarter but warmed up after that.

Arlington shot .423 for the game with 30 baskets in 71 shots. Riverside hit at a snappy .515 clip for 64 shots.

Prospect Tankers Set Four School Marks in Victory

Prospect snapped four school records and rolled to a 61-34 varsity swimming victory over Glenbrook South last week.

Don Barrett's Knights established new marks in the 200 freestyle, 200 individual medley, 100 butterfly, and 400 free.

Over-all, the Foundry Road tankers picked up nine firsts in the 27-point decision.

Bob Angsteadt and Hugh Wesler were the Knight pacesetters. They both established two marks.

ANGSTEADT set his records in the 200 and 400 free events, and Wesler ruled the 200 individual medley and 400 free.

Other boys picking up firsts for Prospect were Jay Magnuson in the 50 yard free, Barry Timko in diving, and Rick Peterson in the 100 backstroke.

THE KNIGHTS won both relay events. Peterson, Bob Smith, Larry Salerno, and Jim Lovel worked on the 200 yard medley unit, and Lovel, Jim Cashmore, Magnuson, and Mike Donovan swam on the 200 free relay quartet.

Picking up seconds for Prospect were Bob Haase in the 50 free, Bob Walkley in the 100 breaststroke, and Donovan in the 100 free.

Prospect also dominated the frosh-soph division, rolling to a 60-35 victory.

Picking up victories in this one were John Norton (50 free), Fred Pagenkopf (100 individual medley), Jim Cramer (50 backstroke), and Jim Schumann (50 breaststroke).

The Knights topped the two relays with Gary Wetendorf working on both first place units.

St. Viator Cagers Register Two Wins, Tie for First Place

One year ago this week St. Viator's varsity basketball team was struggling for survival, faced with a rugged conference schedule that didn't promise too many victories.

Today, the Lions of Arlington Heights are riding high, equipped with an 8-3 over-all mark and share of first place in the Chicagoland Prep League.

A double victory last weekend boosted Ron Feiereisel's quintet into this enviable position.

St. Viator blitzed St. Ignatius Friday, 73-52, putting the decision out of reach in the first half, and surprised St. Mel Saturday 64-51.

THE LIONS capitalized on St. Ignatius' ice-cold first period, waltzed off to a 17-4 lead, and carried a 30-11 advantage into the locker room at the break.

The victory was achieved in the final game before the home folks until Friday, Feb. 14.

Jim Murray fired in nine baskets and nine of 14 free throws to lead both teams. Kenny Hoffman had one of his best nights on offense with 18 points, and Chuck Grandt turned in another sparkling performance, netting 15.

ST. IGNATIUS, a run-and-shoot club, tried to make a game of it in the third quarter with a 22-16 advantage, but the Lions just had too fast a start.

The trip to St. Mel Saturday evening worried head man Feiereisel. "It's always tough to win there," he remarked.

The Lions were ready. They turned in their "best game of the season" and humbled the hosts, 64-51. St. Viator held a 32-22 lead at the intermission.

ST. MEL IS usually tough to whip on its own court because the players know every square-inch of a small floor. But the Lions weren't to be denied in this one.

The hosts collected six more baskets but couldn't match the torrid pace exhibited by St. Viator at the free throw line. With Grandt leading the way the Lions canned 32 of 43 free throws.

Grandt reached his career high with five baskets and a 16 of 19 effort at the line. Chuck finished with 41 points in the two weekend outings.

MURRAY contributed 14 and Hoffman 13 with Ken turning in an excellent floor game.

Joe Heitz only tossed in four points in the two league frays but continued to impress under the boards.

Knights Rout Spartan Squad

Prospect's varsity wrestlers hammered Glenbrook North last Friday 30-11 for their first victory in Mid Suburban mat competition.

Dick Mudge's Knights, tied by Maine West in the league lidlifter, never trailed against the Spartans. They held a 20-5 lead after eight bouts and coasted in with the victory.

Karl Meisenheimer got things started with a 3-0 victory at 95 pounds as he used a first period takedown and riding time for his markers.

ROY HARNISH followed with a 6-2 triumph at 103, and Ray McKinnon and the Spartans' Fess battled to a 7-7 draw at 112, Mac getting an escape for the tie after seeing a 6-2 lead slip away.

Glenbrook North counted again at 120, but the Knights ran off a string of four straight victories thanks to Mike Phillips (127), George Freeland (133), Bob Virta (138), and Jim McMillan (145).

Phillips and Virta had the easiest matches, posting 7-0 and 12-1 triumphs respectively.

PROSPECT scored again at 165 as Bill Murphy flattened his opponent in 1:58 after taking a quick 2-0 lead. Mark Pasdiora rounded out the scoring with a second period pin at heavyweight.

Pasdiora held a 6-2 lead when he followed a near-fall with his impressive pin.

2719 Effort Takes Prize

Dog Robbers Second In Annual Tournament

There was no stopping those gals representing Lauterburg and Oehler.

The quintet of Marlis Pleickhardt, Shirley Nutschnig, Kay Freitag, Alice Nichols, and Joan Lindahl assaulted the pins for a fancy 2719 gross and the team title Sunday in Paddock Publications' Inter-League Handicap women's bowling tournament.

The victory was worth a large traveling trophy, individual trophies, and $149.37 in cash prizes.

LAUTERBURG and Oehler's triumph at Hoffman Lanes in Hoffman Estates was accomplished with a 2648 scratch and 71 handicap. The 2719 was the second best gross effort in the history of Paddock women's meets.

Tire Terminal set the tournament record with a 2767 gross in the 1960 affair. Steve's Restaurant reached 2700 in 1962, and Lauterburg's 2719 now stands second on the all-time list.

Joan Lindahl turned in the big series for the champs with a 566. She didn't astound her teammates with a 159 opener but was red-hot with a 232 middle game.

SHIRLEY Nutschnig chipped in with a 557 thanks to a 218 opener. Kay Freitag had a 521 and her series showed a gradual climb from 137 to 160 to 224. Alice Nichols fashioned a 498 to round out the winning team.

Lauterburg opened at 837 and mushroomed to a 963 thanks to 206 and 232 games. They closed at 848 en route to the crown.

Dog Robbers of the VFW Auxiliary 2149 division at Bensenville Bowl finished in the runnerup slot with a 2552 gross and $107.55 in prizes.

ELSIE WEICK was high for the DuPage entry with a 473 series. Her best game was a 177.

Other scores for the runnerup were Charlene Ricker (466), Lorraine Garcia (404), Shirley Soden (401), and Thelma Davlantes (304). They used a 504 team handicap for their 2552 total.

Only one pin separated the next three teams. Michael D. Beauty Salon of Rolling Bowlers league at Rolling Meadows Bowl and the Senators from Rick Casares (Stavros Ladies league) tied for third with identical 2524 totals.

PATRICIA Schneider's 468 series was high for the beauty salon entry. Florence Racinski's 494 paced the Senators. She had a 201 game.

Foremost Liquors of the Homemakers League at Bensenville Bowl placed fifth with a 2523 effort. Jan Kania had a team-leading 426 series.

Charlotte's Pizza of the Paddock Women's Classic League posted an 842 for high game out of the money.

All the results are unofficial, pending verification of averages. Red tape of checking handicaps of both men's and women's tournaments will consume about two weeks, after which prize checks will go in the mail.

Hot-and-Cold Knight Five Red-Hot Friday In Rout of Spartans

by BOB SETLIK

Dick Kinneman's hot and cold Prospect Knights were in the best of moods Friday. Everything they threw up came down baskets.

The team from Foundry Road made 23 of 30 shots in the first half, on the way to an 84-49 victory over Glenbrook North. The visiting Knights shot 76 per cent in that half, enough to win anything but a skeet shooting contest. For the game they shot 56 per cent.

The half time margin, 52-25, was increased to 68-33 after three quarters before Kinneman began substituting.

The score was 13-13 midway in the first quarter when Kinneman pulled all-conference guard Dave White out of the line-up.

WHITE DID not return until 3:35 remained in the third quarter. The reason was that his replacement, Tom McClellan, could do no wrong. Tom, a chunky 5-9 senior, scored 14 points, stole passes, and led fast breaks.

His teammates took the cue. During one stretch between the end of the first quarter and first two minutes of the second quarter, they guided six shots through the nets before missing. Then, during the last three minutes of the second quarter, eight of nine field goal attempts found home.

"I had only planned to take White out for a minute or two," explained Kinneman after the game. "I wanted him to look at Glenbrook's offensive pattern. But the way they started playing I couldn't put him back in."

WHITE RETURNED to play the last three minutes of the third quarter and first two minutes of the final quarter.

He scored his only basket at 7:45 of the final quarter. White, a 5-10 senior, has been averaging 15 points per contest.

Three of the other four starters were in double figures. Forward Ron Moehling scored 21 points, nudging his 19.8 average upwards. Center Dave Gobeille had 12, and guard Bill Phillips had 10. The fifth starter, Don Neubert, scored eight.

IN ADDITION to McClellan, substitute guard Tim Rogers was in double figures with 11 points. Rogers, who had scored four points all year before this game, made two baskets and seven free throws in the last eight minutes.

"I think a hot shooting night like this is what they needed to restore their confidence," said Kinneman, whose charges had lost three in a row.

He was encouraged that Gobeille and Neubert combined for 20 points. This was one of those rare games when the failure of either Moehling or White to score was not disastrous for the Knights.

The victory, coupled with a win over Deerfield Saturday, boosts the Knights record to 8-6. They have posted a 2-1 Mid-Suburban Mark, and trail Maine West by a game.

FRIDAY'S EFFORT was in keeping with the erratic pattern established by the Knights this year. Some evenings they can't miss, others they shoot like a grammar school team.

They shot 62 per cent one half against St. Charles in 86-72 victory, and have been over 50 per cent in two other games. But against good Proviso and Maine West teams, the Knights could only shoot 30 and 25 per cent respectively.

Glenbrook's Jim Holder led his team with 21 points. The Spartans' other forward, Steve Priddy, missed this and Saturday's contest against Forest View because of a leg infection. Priddy, with Holder, has supplied most of Glenbrook's scoring this year.

Over Falcon Gymnasts

Jacki's Four Firsts Paces Proviso Win

Proviso West's varsity gymnasts, sparked by a brilliant performance by versatile Dick Jacki, overwhelmed Forest View last week, 89-43.

Jacki registered four firsts, a second, and fourth for 36 points in leading the Panthers to their 46-point conquest.

The loss was the fifth straight for Gay Hughes' Falcons with the locals slated to hook up in a double dual Saturday afternoon at Prospect with the host Knights and Arlington.

FOREST VIEW showed its most strength on the side horse with a 10-point performance from a first by Steve Kretschmer, fifth by Dick Antti, and sixth by John Medley.

Kretschmer recorded a 110 total for a six-point bulge over runnerup Jacki.

The Falcons picked up thirds on the tramp with Fred DeFalco, parallel bars with Antti, and rings with Jeff Weaver.

Proviso West swept the top three positions on the high bar and in tumbling.

Best score of the meet was a 157 by Jacki on the high bar. The Panther standout had a 151 score in ruling the parallel bars.

Surprises Arlington

Glenbard West Snaps Losing Skein, 47-45

by BOB FRISK

Those Hilltoppers were hungry. They hadn't tasted victory in seven weeks.

Shaking off an early cold spell, Glenbard West surprised visiting Arlington Friday evening, 47-45, and snapped a losing streak that extended over eight games.

Dave Billings' hosts held the lead for only two minutes in the entire contest, but they were on top at the end and that's the important time.

A 20-foot jump shot by Frank Ourada at the 1:46 mark of the final period gave Glenbard a 45-43, and the Hilltoppers didn't lose that advantage in a wild finish.

Paul Splittorff, who experienced one of his coldest nights of the season, poured through a jumper from the side to knot the contest at 45-all, but Dick Vanderlinde got behind the Card defense for an easy layup with 18 seconds remaining.

In the confusion that accompanied the closing seconds Arlington called a time out just before Ralph Morrisett, who saw extensive varsity service for the first time, put in what appeared to be the tying basket.

Morrisett's basket was nullified, but the Cards still had seven seconds remaining.

JIM JAKUBIEC took the ball out in front of the Arlington bench and whipped a pass to backcourt teammate Jeff Beckman. Beckman drove for the basket, but his 12-foot jumper fell off. Splittorff pulled down the rebound but his shot also was off the mark at the buzzer.

Arlington threatened to blow this one open early. They had a 14-0 lead with 1:39 remaining in the first period when Glenbard counted its first basket.

The Cards carried a 26-18 lead into the dressing room at halftime and appeared capable of handing Glenbard its ninth straight reversal. The Bards had other plans.

ARLINGTON went two and one-half minutes without scoring in the third period, and Glenbard fought back to a 36-all deadlock with 54 seconds remaining. Splittorff's goal from the side gave Arlington a 38-36 lead heading into the decisive quarter.

Glenbard kept the pressure on in that concluding segment and was even at the 2:42 mark after taking a brief one-point lead earlier.

Ourada's shot from the edge of the key had eyes and it was 45-43 Glenbard with 1:46 left. Splittorff and Vanderlinde then traded baskets in the windup with the latter's decisive.

Vanderlinde also wrecked the Cards in football during the fall when he scored three first period touchdowns in a 21-0 victory.

A better night at the free throw line would have sent Arlington home with its second league victory. The Cards missed nine of 14 charity throws and blew the first toss on six one-and-one attempts.

A bright spot for the losers was the play of Morrisett in his first varsity chore. Ralph was a bulwark on the defensive boards for the Cardinals in the second half.

A's Still Unbeaten

Arlington Rolls To Eighth, Ninth Frosh Victories

Arlington's unbeaten frosh "A" basketball team continues to draw rave notices.

And why not with a 9-0 record and 58.2 per game scoring average?

Ted Ecker's Cardinals overwhelmed both Notre Dame and Downers Grove last week to run their unbeaten string to nine.

Early in the week Arlington hammered Notre Dame, 79-29, with Steve Allen whipping in 25 points. The Cards followed that up with a 63-33 rout of Downers.

Arlington raced off to a 31-18 halftime lead against Notre Dame and held a 57-21 advantage after three periods.

"The boys hustled Notre Dame right out of their own gym," Ecker praised. "They only got two shots in the first quarter."

Allen pumped through 10 baskets and five of eight free throws for his 25 markers. It was his second best effort of the season.

Steve Conley checked in with eight baskets and one free throw for 17, and Terry Townley contributed 11 points.

Arlington	21	10	26	22—79
Notre Dame	5	13	3	8—29

FOUR BOYS reached double figures Saturday as Arlington blasted Downers Grove, 63-33.

The Cardinal five raced out to a 13-1 first period lead and had the Trojans down by 27 (35-8) at the intermission. It was 51-19 after three periods.

Allen again was high for the victors with 15 points. This plebe sharpshooter now owns 148 markers and a 16.4 per game average for nine outings.

Conley followed Allen with seven baskets and 14 points. Dave Lockwood fired in 13 points and Townley 12.

Score by quarters:

Arlington	13	22	16	12—63
Downers	1	7	11	14—33

IN "B" ACTION Saturday the Cardinals belted Downers, 48-34, as Scott Guilfoil popped in seven baskets for 14 points.

Arlington held a 23-9 halftime advantage.

In addition to Guilfoil's 14 points, Dave Fondrie collected 10 with four baskets and two free throws.

Score by quarters:

Arlington	7	16	10	15—48

Arlington's two frosh squads will travel to York Saturday morning.

Prospect's Frosh Handle Glenbrook

Prospect's unbeaten frosh keep rolling along.

Guided by Earl Benoche, the Knights' frosh 'A' cagers rocked Glenbrook North last week, 56-37, to keep their perfect record intact.

The local plebes vaulted out to an 18-4 first period lead and held a 26-18 halftime advantage.

The Prospect starters, who had been given a rest throughout some of the second quarter, returned in the third stanza, and the Knights held a 42-30 lead heading into the decisive seven minutes.

Al Shers collected 20 points for Benoche's crew. He tossed in seven baskets and six free throws. Tom Lundstedt added 14 with a four and eight breakdown, and Tim Empkie recorded eight.

Score by quarters:

Prospect	18	8	16	14—56
Glenbrook No.	4	14	12	7—37

PROSPECT PULLED away from a tight first quarter and coasted to a 48-31 frosh 'B' victory over Glenbrook.

J. O. Jackson's Knights were on top 7-6 at the end of the opening stanza but held a 25-11 lead at halftime.

Dave Kingman was red-hot for the local five with ten baskets and four free throws. Bob Robinson added ten points.

Prospect Soph Gymnasts in 91-41 Victory

West Leyden was no match for Prospect's powerful frosh-soph gymnasts last week.

The Foundry Road outfit, coached by Fred Gaines, rolled to a 91-41 victory with three straight sweeps following a 15-7 advantage on the trampoline.

Individual winners for Prospect were Bill Nendel on the trampoline, Paul Zander on the side horse, Hardt on the high bar, Macauley on the parallel bars, Jim Bowker on rings, and Goffinski in tumbling.

Maine Triumphs

Forest View Tops Rebels; Falls, 29-11

For the second straight week Forest View's varsity wrestlers claimed a split in mat competition.

Hal Henson's Falcons dropped a 29-11 decision to powerful Maine West in Mid Suburban action but leveled Ridgewood 45-3 in a non-league get-together.

Forest View, host for this year's district tournament, fell behind at 112 pounds against Maine West and could never regain the advantage. The Warriors wrapped up a string of five straight wins that put the decision out of reach.

ALTHOUGH he dropped a 10-4 decision at 95 pounds, Forest View's sophomore Omar Aviles turned in an encouraging performance against highly regarded Dick Jensen.

Aviles held a 4-2 lead after one period before Jensen pulled away with a reversal and near-fall in the second stanza. Jensen has been scored on in only two bouts this season.

Larry Andrews offset Aviles' loss with a 9-1 triumph at 103 pounds, but the Warriors moved in front to stay with a 5-2 win at 112.

POSTING Forest View's final points in this mat attraction were Gary Hodson with a nifty 9-2 win at 127 pounds, and Chuck Lemke with a pin at 180.

Hodson took a 5-1 first period lead, was blanked in the second segment. then added an escape, takedown, and riding time for his 9-2 decision.

Lemke carried an 8-4 advantage when he flattened Larson in 2:58.

THE FALCONS had too much strength for Ridgewood, recording four pins en route to a 42-point decision.

Only Rebel able to gain a win was all-suburban area football halfback Marty Barski at 154.

Registering the falls for Hal Henson's outfit were Randy Haydel (120), Hodson (127), George Derby (138), and Bill Wright (heavyweight).

Mat Champion

Michigan State wrestler Terry Leonard, a 167-pounder, was a national junior college champion while at Lamar, Colo., Junior College.

Two More Wins

St. Viator Sophs Top League Foes

St. Viator's sophomores, still very much in title contention in the Chicagoland Prep League, rolled past St. Ignatius 49-25 and St. Mel 55-50 in two weekend encounters.

Larry Nomelini's Lions raced off to a 14-1 first period advantage against St. Ignatius and had little trouble the rest of the way.

Paul Dumke played an outstanding game on the boards and contributed 16 points to the offense with five field goals and six of nine free throws.

EMILE BATAILLE cashed in with 11 points, and Dennis Wilkinson has his best night with eight.

The sophomore Lions kept alive their chances of catching St. Pat's by coming up with a five-point victory over St. Mel Saturday.

The Lions almost blew a nine-point lead in the closing minutes but were able to hang on for the victory. Bataille fired in two free throws and a tip to insure the decision.

ST. VIATOR played the last five minutes without the services of Dumke, who fouled out. Paul still found time to throw in 17 points. Bataille scored 13 and John Loughman 11.

The Lions won on the strength of a 13-4 edge in the first quarter.

St. Viator now stands 4-1 in league play.

Frosh Edge Glenbrook

Prospect's frosh wrestlers edged Glenbrook North Saturday, 24-20, building up a 15-point advantage after nine bouts.

The young Knights held a 24-9 lead with three bouts remaining when Glenbrook made its move.

Posting victories for Prospect were Richard Cowan (95), Jeff Hansen (103), Rick LaPenna (120), Carl Bredehoft (127), Curry (138), and Rog Anderson (154).

Card Gym Unit Still Unbeaten

Arlington's unbeaten sophomore gymnastics team found another victim last week.

Wayne Selvig's powerful Cardinals had some trouble but still handled host New Trier, 67-65.

Bert Schmitt once again paced Arlington as he posted 17 points with a first and two seconds. He headed the field on the parallel bars and finished in the runnerup slot on the high bar and still rings.

Other Cardinal victors were Steve LeVan on the side horse and Roy Rettburg on rings.

Arlington will battle Prospect and Forest View Saturday evening in a double dual.

Casares Opens Three Point Lead in PCTL

Trip Gunnell Lanes 3-1 to Leave Pack

Perhaps the Casares Pro Bowlers learned something when they were edged out of the first half crown in the Paddock Classic Traveling League. The moral as taught by Morton Pontiac that evening is "If you don't want to get caught from behind, have such a big lead that it is impossible."

It looks like that is just what the Pro Bowlers have in mind. They gave their chief competitors, Gunnell Lanes, a 3-1 thrashing last Saturday to open a three point lead on the field and establish themselves early as the team to beat.

HERM SIMONIS
Bags 681 Series

In the meantime, Rolling Meadows, an also ran in the first half, climbed into a tie for second with Gunnell's by doing a teaching of its own. RM embarrassed the first half champ Pontiac squad 4-0. Morton's now rests in the cellar, two and a half points out of seventh.

HAMM'S BEER got a big night from Herm Simonis and whipped the Brass Rail Restaurant. The Brass Rail now has 8½ points in fourth place, while Hamm's is stationed in a tie for fifth a half point back.

Mike Dinschel had another big night for Pioneer Lanes to pace the Pioneers to a 3-1 verdict over Jeffery Lanes.

Casares spotted Gunnell's the first game, then came roaring back to win number two easily and the third by 17 pins. Bob Hurwitz (Casares) paced both teams with a 597.

Rolling Meadows turned alternate Gene Koshinski on the Pontiacs and he responded with a 224-217-213—654. Koshinski got help from Paul Borvig, who fired a 609. The team total of 2927 was RM's best effort of the season.

Simonis opened with a 235, his best game of the season, and followed with a 231 and a 215 to hang up at 681 also a top figure for him in this his rookie year in the PCTL. Hamm's came off a loss in the first game with a big 1015 in the second and went on to grab third game and total points easily.

DINSCHEL, number two man in the league's individual race, came off an opening 179 with a 224 and a 237 to post a 640 for the Pioneers.

Saturday evening at Casares, the hosts will tangle with Hamm's Beer, Pioneer meets Morton Pontiac, Jeffery Lanes tests Gunnell's and The Brass Rail encounters Rolling Meadows.

Steve's Belts Irv's; Kelly Claims Lead

Race Tightens in 2nd Half Classic Action

Thanks to Steve's Restaurant there's a "new look" to the Paddock Women's Classic Traveling League this week.

Steve's surprised Irv's Fire Extinguisher Co., 4-0, last Saturday evening and knocked the pace-setters from the perch they've enjoyed since second half play began.

With this turn of events Kelly Olds now holds the top rung in the gals' competition with 11½ markers. Irv's is still in second with nine and one-half and there's a mad scramble after that. Only five and one-half points separate first from sixth.

LOUISE LASS and sub Joan Lindahl paced Steve's to its big 4-0 victory as they flipped 595 and 573 totals respectively. Louise was red-hot at the outset with games of 208 and 233 but she skidded to a 154 finale. Joan closed at 213.

Bonnie Kuhn was high for Irv's with a 537 series that included a 192 middle game.

Kelly Olds vaulted to the top with a 3-1 conquest of Charlotte's Pizza. Edith Wayne's 517 paced the win although 41 pins separated the five gals. Rosemary Babich (509) and Maxine Moehling (501) were next in line.

CHARLOTTE'S was only two pins shy in total series (2498-2496) but they still dropped three games. Winnie Lohse again led the way with a 545.

In final action Saturday Morton Pontiac slipped by River Rand Bowl 2½ to 1½ with Ruth Baurhyte firing a 541. She closed at 211. Judy Reed had a 510 with a 209 first game.

"Moe" Miller turned in the best series for River Rand when she knocked down the pins at a 554 clip. Teammate Ethel Juenger opened at 205 but had to settle for a 512.

The standings:

Kelly Olds	11½
Irv's	9½
Steve's	8
River Rand	6½
Morton	6½
Charlotte's	6

Maine West Five Stops Forest View

by MARV PRELLBERG JR.

Coach Ken Arneson's Forest View varsity cagers put up a gallant fight against the visiting Maine West basketball aggregation last Friday but fell to the Warriors, 50-36.

The Falcons' game strategy was centered around stopping Maine West's two big men, center Joe Wehlacz (6-9) and forward Jim Smith (6-6), but these two Warriors proved to be too much to handle.

Smith was the high-point producer for the Maine West five with 15 points, whereas Wehlacz outstretched the Falcon defenders for a 13-point effort.

THERE WERE times when the sinking Forest View defense had the two big men bottled up. However, this left the remainder of the Warrior offensive unit in position for some relatively simple field goal attempts, and they responded in a manner adequate enough to insure the Maine West victory.

The quarter which hurt the Forest View effort the most was the opening period. From the time that the Warriors' Smith opened the scoring with a close-in jump shot, Maine West continued to build up the margin and had a 17-7 lead when the first quarter ended.

Forest View slowed down the Maine West scoring pace in the second and third quarters, but the Warriors kept adding to their lead and at the end of the third frame held a 37-20 margin.

IN THE EARLY minutes of the final quarter Maine West stretched this lead to 21 points, but the Falcons kept battling and sophomore Pat Dunnigan's basket as the game ended brought the final spread to 14 points, 50-36. The win moved Maine West into sole position of first place in the Mid-Suburban Conference.

Dunnigan played one of his finest games to date and paced all scorers in this contest with 16 points.

Fenton's 21 Leads Falcon Quintet to Win Over Glenbrook

by BOB SETLIK

Surprising things are happening at Forest View High School these days. The Falcons are exhibiting a refreshing tendency toward winning an occasional ball game. And, Joe "The Blizzard" Mueller is no longer the whole show.

With little help from Mueller, Coach Ken Arneson's squad won its third game this year by defeating Glenbrook North 66-61 Saturday.

That is one more victory than the Falcons compiled last year, when they struggled to a 2-19 record. Then Mueller averaged 18.9 points per contest, and looked to be the only Falcon who knew much about the game.

JOE SCORED only five points Saturday. He fouled out with 3:17 remaining in the third quarter, and his team trailing 35-28.

Forest View went from there to head the visiting Spartans early in the fourth quarter.

Help came from two unexpected sources. Leading the second half drive was a 6-3, 225-pound mid-season transfer, forward Darrell Fenton, and another substitute built along leaner lines.

FENTON, surprisingly mobile for someone whose frame is not complimented by a basketball uniform, led all scorers with 21 points. He did not start. He has been used sparingly since becoming eligible after transferring from West Aurora High School.

It was probably only because of the absence of 6-4 Brian Karp, the Falcons' top reserve, that Fenton was inserted in the line-up early. Karp came down with the mumps last week.

The other substitute who played an important role was Russ Barger, a holdover from last year's crew. Barger provided the initial punch that started the Falcons rolling Saturday.

HE SCORED two quick baskets after taking over for Mueller in the third period. The second field goal drew the Falcons within two points, 37-35, at the 1:50 mark of the third quarter.

From there, big Fenton took charge. He threw in 16 points in the last 10 minutes, most on drives or rebounds. He moved around, by, and over opponents. The latter method brought the Falcons into a 45-45 tie at 6:59 of the fourth quarter.

Fenton sent sprawling two opponents who were attempting a goal line stand five feet to the right of the basket. But he was credited with the lay-up as well as the charging rap.

SOME 20 seconds later center Dick Anderson threw in a 10 foot jump shot and the Falcons never again trailed. Sophomore guard Pat Dunnigan next added two free throws to put the Falcons ahead by four points.

Then Fenton converted a three point play that gave the Falcons a 52-45 lead with 5:48 remaining. It was finesse, not muscle, this time. He stole the ball at mid-court, outraced two opponents to score the lay-up, and added a free-throw when he was fouled on the play.

The Falcons later increased the lead to 12 points before the Spartans' Jim Holder scored five points in the closing minute to whittle the margin.

DARRELL FENTON
A 'Big' Help

THE FALCONS underwent an amazing transformation in the second half. They had scored only 19 points at the break, and trailed by six. The starters' exhibition was so embarrassing that Arneson substituted five players en masse late in the second quarter.

The game was determined at the free-throw line. Forest View made two less field goals, but nine more free throws. Fifty fouls were called, and five players fouled out.

Anderson picked up 16 points and was the outstanding rebounder on the floor. Dunnigan added 10 points to the Forest View total. Holder had 18 for the Spartans.

The win gave Forest View a 3-9 season total, and a 2-1 conference slate. Glenbrook is 3-11 for the year, and 1-2 in the Mid-Suburban conference.

Although it's no longer all Joe, the Blizzard still leads Forest View scoring this year with 152 points in 12 games, a 12.7 average. He has received strong support from Anderson, who has scored 115 points, and Dunnigan, who has scored 114.

Cardinals' Sophs Fall in Overtime

Riverside-Brookfield's sophomores rallied from a nine-point deficit and toppled Arlington's host Cardinals Saturday evening in a double overtime, 54-52.

Trailing 43-34 at the outset of the final quarter, the visitors battled back and caught the Cards with two minutes remaining.

Riverside took a two-point lead with 30 seconds left, but John Bloomquist drilled in a 10-footer at the buzzer that sent the contest into overtime.

IN THE FIRST extra stanza neither team could drop in any points, but R-B took a 52-50 lead early in the second period. The Bullpups added two more markers from the charity line, and Arlington finally snapped a scoring famine that covered almost six minutes on Mark Newman's 10-foot jumper.

Arlington trailed by two points at the intermission but rallied in the third stanza and took a 41-34 lead at the break. Jim Jorgensen and Mark Saylor paced the charge with five and four points respectively.

Jorgensen was high for Arlington with 14 points on five baskets and four free throws. Bruce Hubbard added 13 (5-3) and Blomquist flipped in seven.

The young Hilltoppers held a 29-17 halftime cushion.

The Cards didn't have anyone reach double figures. Pete Barker was high with six points, and Jim Bressler, Jim Whittington, Jon Keys, and Jorgensen tallied five each.

Bump Deerfield, 67-49

Knights Roll to 2nd Victory of Weekend

by MARV PRELLBERG JR.

Prospect High cage fans had a double treat dished up to them last Saturday night at the Prospect fieldhouse.

The main event was the Prospect-Deerfield mid-suburban conference varsity basketball contest, which was captured by Coach Dick Kinneman's Prospect five 67-49.

A surprise added attraction was an enlightening and exciting halftime gymnastics exhibition put on by the Knight gym squad.

THE KNIGHT cagers couldn't duplicate the twisting and tumbling antics of the halftime showmen, but they certainly performed their job in a manner which was quite pleasing to the home town spectators.

Prospect took a 9-8 lead midway through the opening quarter and throughout the contest held on to the lead, which at one point in the final quarter reached 20 points.

However, there was one time in the opening minutes of the third period when it appeared that the determined Deerfield quintet might once again get on even terms with the Knights.

PROSPECT HAD left the floor at the end of the first half with a 30-21 margin. Hardly had the enthusiasm died down for the gymnastic teams halftime performance, than the Deerfield cagers had whittled down the Prospect lead to only four points, 33-29.

However, at that point Ron Moehling, Dave White and Bill Phillips combined for 10 straight points for the Knights, two field goals and six free throws, before the Warriors could again enter the scoring column. The third quarter ended with Prospect on the top end of a 43-30 score.

THE TWO fast-moving squads traded shot for shot in the final quarter, but Prospect, which hit a respectable 48 per cent from the field for the night, cashed in more frequently and eventually had a 59-39 lead.

Substitutes finished out the game, and when the clock ticked off its final second of playing time, the scoreboard showed Prospect 67—Deerfield 49.

Leading Prospect in this victory, its second of the weekend, were Moehling and White with 21 tallies each. However, they had to relinquish high scoring honors for the night to Deerfield's Jim Busse, who tossed in six baskets and 10 free throws for a 22 point total.

Maine West Rally Trips Forest View

Trailing by eight points at halftime, Maine West erupted in the third period and went on to post a 54-45 frosh "A" basketball victory over Forest View last week.

The Falcons held a 24-16 halftime bulge but trailed by two (35-33) at the end of the next break. Maine outscored the locals 19-12 in the concluding stanza.

"We had a bad third quarter, head coach Ralph Naylor reported. "They scored 10 straight points without our scoring."

Cavello was high for the Falcons with four baskets and four free throws for 12 points. Brasch added eight and Lambert seven.

Score by quarters:

Forest View ..... 9 15 9 12—45
Maine West .... 10 6 19 19—54

IN THE "B" contest Maine West pulled out a tight 39-35 victory. Once again the Falcons held a halftime lead but faltered in the final two periods.

Jacoby was high for the losers with four baskets and two free throws. Arnold added nine and Turner six.

Score by quarters:

Maine West ..... 8 9 14 8—39

Card Sophs Fall Twice

Arlington's soph wrestlers dropped two meets over the weekend in competition with Riverside-Brookfield and Maine East.

Riverside edged Guy Vena's Cardinals, 21-19, on Friday and Maine posted a 29-9 decision Saturday.

Individual winners against Riverside were Darrel Meacham (127), Kirk Wolter (138), Don Lindmark (145), Bruce Frank (165), and Mark Frase (heavyweight).

Frank registered the only fall, a snappy 4:44 effort at 165.

Dave Gooding (133), Wolter (138), and Ron Thompson (heavyweight) registered the wins against Maine East.

Forest View Jayvees Top Glenbrook

Forest View's jayvees broke a long dry spell Saturday by defeating Glenbrook North, 45-39, in a basketball game played on the winner's floor.

The young Falcons had lost their first seven games this year. A strong second half carried them to victory Saturday. Forest View was down 19-16 at the break, but outscored the visitor's 29-20 in the second half.

The Falcons had balanced scoring, led by forward Bob O'Keefe with 12 points, center Jeff Grismer with 11, and guard Bryon Borgardt with nine.

Glenbrook North got as close as three points late in the fourth quarter, but could never completely stop the home team once it started rolling. Forest View scored 19 points that period.

The win gave Coach Bob Rees crew a 1-2 mark in Mid-Suburban League action.

JUST DOGS

Happy People . . .

There were a lot of happy people at the Wheaton Kennel Club Show which took place Jan. 12 at the DuPage County fairgrounds in Wheaton. Of course, there were also a number of folks whose dogs did not quite make it into the ribbons, but never-the-less the show was an outstanding one.

As far as top honors, perhaps the obedience classes were the ones where folks from this area really did quite well. Winning the Novice A class with a score of 199 out of a possible 200 points was a German Shepherd, Stockton of Coles' Manor, owned by Sherwin and Barbara Cole of Palatine. At the end of the show this dog came out also as the winner of the highest scoring dog in the obedience classes held in connection with the all-breed show.

ONE THING WHICH struck your editor was the number of owner-handlers in the conformation rings. There seems to be a number of folks these days who are in there pitching and, instead of using a professional handler, are working their dogs up through the ranks. Perhaps one of the best examples of this was Mrs. Fred Cotterell of Buffalo Grove. She not only took her dog, a Norwegian Elkhound named Thor of Bergen, into the conformation classes for this breed, where it won the best of breed award, but also into the Novice A obedience class and picked up a passing score towards a Companion Dog degree as awarded by the American Kennel Club.

Another individual who did well was Leo Smolinski of Arlington Heights, whose German Shorthaired Pointer, Duke Von Zell of Arlington, was named the highest scoring Shorthaired Pointer in the obedience classes.

Winter Care . . .

Visiting a friend recently who operates a grooming service brought something to your editor's attention, which he feels is worth commenting about.

Many people who have dogs with long coats seem to forget that daily grooming or brushing of such a dog is a must during the winter, especially when winter weather brings on a thicker coat of hair. If you could see some of the examples of dogs brought in for grooming, you would understand. Coats get so matted that it is almost impossible to comb them out. To get such a dog back into trim, requires a lot of time and also in some cases a lot of discomfort for the dog during the grooming.

Matter of fact, in some cases your editor has seen dogs for which the only solution was to trim the animal down to almost bare skin in order to get the coat to come back to a normal condition. Moral of the story is, of course, a little better care of dogs with a long coat . . . it only takes a few minutes.

A.K.C. . . .

In case you have a need to write to the American Kennel Club, don't forget that at the end of this month the offices will be moving from the old spot of "221" to the new location at 51 Madison Ave., New York City. The club was at the old location for 44 years, but like everything else these days, more room was needed.

Barks & Bays . . .

If you think dogs eat a lot of food . . . estimated sales of commercial cat food, both wet (canned) and dry, in 1963 reached $105 million.

Dick Ellsworth Makes Area Visit

Dick Ellsworth, Chicago Cubs' pitcher, will give autographs to area baseball fans this Friday, Jan. 24. He will appear at Wheeling Furniture Co., 82 E. Dundee Road, Wheeling, from 3 to 5 p.m.

Ellsworth enjoyed his best year in 1963 when his 22-10 record and 2.10 earned run average earned him the honor of National League Comeback of the Year.

The ace lefty made his first appearance as a Cub on June 16, 1958 in a charity game against the Chicago White Sox. In that game, Ellsworth shut out the Sox 1-0, while allowing only four hits.

In the American Association, in 1959, Dick posted the league's third lowest ERA (2.60) and was third highest in strikeouts with 152. The 6'4", 193 pounder paced all National League pitchers in fielding in 1960 when he handled 41 chances without an error.

Ellsworth has won a total of 60 games in his six years in baseball. He improved from his 5.08 ERA in 1962 to post the second lowest ERA in the league last season. During his career, Dick has 482 strikeouts while giving up 414 walks.

Rolling Meadows Boys' Baseball

by League Publicitor

With the holidays behind us and the hot stove league in full swing, it is time to focus our attention on the impending projects at hand.

The registration dates for boys baseball will be held again this year at the Community Church on Saturday, Feb. 1, 8 and 15th from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Due to increased operating expenses, the number of boys anticipated to register and the increase in insurance premiums, it has become necessary to increase the registration fees.

Registration fees this year will be $7 per boy and $3.00 for each additional boy in a family.

Rolling Meadows Pony League registration will also be held at the Community Church on Saturday, Feb. 1, 8 and 15 in conjunction with boys baseball.

Registration fees will be $10 per boy.

The first fund raising event to obtain needed funds for the Pony League will be in the form of a "Scotch Doubles" bowling night to be held on Saturday, Feb. 1, at the Rolling Meadows Bowl. Tickets can be purchased at the bowling alley or by calling Jim Ferguson at CL 3-5452.

Gymnasts Post Split

Powerful Maine East rocked Prospect's varsity gymnasts, but the Knights rebounded and slapped down East Leyden in recent competition.

Maine showed a sweep on the side horse in annexing a 76-56 triumph. The Blue Demons also exhibited strength on the trampoline with a first, third, and fourth.

East Leyden simply was no match for Rick Farris' Knights. The Foundry Road outfit rolled to six first places with a sweep on the tramp and high bar in an 87½ to 44½ conquest.

PROSPECT picked up only two firsts against Maine East. Scott Paris ruled the high bar with a 149 total, and Brian Williams headed the tumblers at 157.

However, the Knights did land four seconds thanks to John Strobel on the trampoline, Ed Bangs on the parallel bars, Steve Gran on rings, and Al Smith in tumbling.

Top effort of the meet was a sparkling 170 count on the side horse by Maine East's Quinn. He was given identical 85 cards by the two judges.

IN THE battle with East Leyden Prospect had little trouble. Posting firsts were Mike Zadel (trampoline), Don Sabey (side horse), Paris (high bar), Bangs (parallel bars), Tim Jenning (rings), and Williams (tumbling).

Set Time Trials For Midget Relay

Time trials for Arlington Heights Park District's 1964 Midget Relay team will be held on Monday, Jan. 27 beginning at 1:30 p.m. on the Prospect High School indoor track.

Any boy who is 11 years of age and under (will not be 12 years before March 6, 1964) and attends school in the Arlington Heights Park District is eligible to try out.

Five boys will be picked for the team on the basis of the time trials. Practice sessions will then be arranged during the preceding weeks at which time the boys will learn baton passing and relay running.

On Feb. 8 the team will run at the University of Chicago against other suburban teams. The four top teams will by virtue of their time qualify to compete in the Chicago Daily News Relays on March 6 at the Chicago Stadium.

This will be the fourth year the Park District has held this event. The previous three teams have all qualified and run in the Daily News Relays. Last years team won the Daily News race.

Boys planning to run should wear gym or tennis shoes and light clothing or shorts. They will find that this will improve their time.

Falcons' Sophs Fall to Maine

Maine West's sophomore Warriors pulled away in the second half and bumped Forest View 44-26 last week.

Maine held a 17-15 lead at the intermission but outscored the Falcons 19-4 in the third period.

Steve Mueller paced the locals with nine points on four baskets and a free throw.

Score by quarters:

Forest View	8	7	4	7	— 26
Maine West	11	6	19	8	— 44

Counselor Lists Needs That Junior College Would Answer

I endorse the proposed northwest suburban Cook County junior college and encourage other interested citizens to do the same. My comments concerning this proposed junior college are made with respect to three roles which I play, as a parent, a high school counselor, and a taxpayer.

As a parent I realize that my children's future will depend greatly on their education. I would like them to receive as much education as their interests and abilities afford them but not necessarily four years of college that many advocate as essential for satisfactory employment. A junior college with both terminal and transfer programs will accommodate many students of varied needs and abilities.

As a counselor, I am disturbed by the attitude of many high school students that higher education and training after graduation from high school is a matter of four college years or none at all. Continued education after high school should be considered as a continuum which includes educational programs varying in duration from a few weeks to many years according to the complexity of the occupation being pursued.

The availability of a junior college would induce more students to continue their education in order to qualify for a more appropriate occupation. Technical advances today make it increasingly important for students to have a sound preparation for employment but at the same time acquire the necessary attitudes and learning skills to learn new work skills and adapt old work skills if their former job should be eliminated by change.

A junior college would serve a worthy role in the upgrading and retraining of workers working and living in the area served by the college.

As a counselor, I am concerned by the student who fails to graduate from high school or the so-called dropout. Many research studies have been conducted to determine the causes for leaving school before graduation. A commonly mentioned reason is the curriculum of a comprehensive high school not meeting the needs of this group of students.

I would like to propose a cooperative program between the junior college and the high schools located within the boundaries of the college region. It would be similar to the cooperative or binary programs of liberal arts colleges where engineering students attend the first three years and engineering colleges where the students continue for two more years. The student ultimately receives degrees from both institutions.

A similar cooperative program at the high school level could be organized. A student who is vocationally oriented and not considering college would attend the high school of his district for the first two years of high school receiving basic education preparatory to transferring to the centrally located junior college offering technical and vocational training.

The student would continue at the junior college for two more years studying to know skills for a specific trade, craft or technology. The student would receive a dual diploma from his original high school and the junior college. These training programs could be extended after the fourth year of high school.

Cooperation of labor unions could be enlisted to credit the years in junior college toward an apprenticeship. Instructors for the vocational division of the junior college could be secured from unions. Unions and management both would benefit by the availability of skilled workers.

Students would also benefit because they would realize how they will profit from the vocational training. Business and industry located in the region served by the junior college would have a ready source of trained workers. Industry could assist the college by informing the college as to the needs of skilled workers, the need for new training programs, and providing tools and equipment for training which the college could not economically afford.

Needless to say, many qualified high school graduates terminate their formal education because the prospects of four years of college does not appeal to them. They would prefer a practical, applied type of education of shorter duration.

Finally, as a taxpayer, I cannot say that I enjoy paying taxes. But on the other hand, I fully realize that many things which the general public enjoys certainly would not be possible without the collective effort of tax money. Although they may be well-intentioned, the thinking of persons who oppose anything on the grounds that taxes will increase is fallacious. To me, this is being "Penny wise and pound foolish."

Our country has no greater natural resource than the youth of our land. It seems imperative that we make every effort to provide a sound and adequate education for all students.

For these reasons I am supporting the proposed junior college for the northwest suburban area. I am also supporting the forthcoming referendum in School District 214.

Lists Flaws in Mount Prospect Traffic Plan

Listening to the traffic plan read to the police and fire committee last Thursday night in the Mount Prospect municipal building, it appeared that the main idea was to speed traffic through the town without regard to the local residents or merchants.

Should not the wishes of the home towners be paramount? Or is this too provincial an attitude for the persons who made the survey?

In more than 16 years' residence in Mount Prospect I have yet to see or hear about an accident on Main Street due to either parallel or diagonal parking. In my business I have parked diagonal many times during these years and have had no difficulty getting in or out, except once when the street was icy and a couple of school boys aided me.

AS FOR safety, I should think it would be better to slow down traffic in town, both on the Northwest Highway and on Main Street, so that local pedestrian and motor traffic can cross comfortably. Palatine slows traffic to 25 miles an hour for the convenience of customers of the shopping center on the Northwest Highway.

Thirty-five miles an hour is entirely too fast for safety on Main Street from Golf Road to north of Central. Isn't it about time that the "temporary" use of Main Street by Highway 83 be discontinued?

As for commuter parking on Prospect Avenue, that was effectively answered by the fact that both private and public facilities for this parking is not being used above 50 per cent of the space available.

Her Children Find Friends Around Town

I'd like to question your "Guest Columnist's editorial last week (Jan. 9, Jack Martin) about the value of suburban living for children. As I remember it, his views were that today's children could not project themselves into the type of small-town turn-of-the-century living, and he used his junior English classes, who'd been studying "Our Town," as examples. He told how, when he was a boy, he knew the adults on his street, the shopkeeper, the gas station man, and implied that this gemutlichkeit has given way to impersonal credit cards.

I'd like to disagree. For eight years we lived in Arlington Heights, and have just completed our first year in Palatine. Our children have grown up feeling that the local businessmen were friends. We know the gas station men. We know their children's names and ages—when the daughter made her first communion, how many came to the son's birthday party.

Our friends include the mailman and the meat man, and the "banana man" and the cashiers; we know about their families and their problems, and they know about ours. My children today use a sled given to them by their friend, a supermarket cashier; it had been her son's, and after his death, she wanted them to have it.

I guess what I'm trying to say is that if your columnist feels that his children, and children in general, don't care about other adults in the community, maybe it's because he's brought them up that way. If you and your children like people and are interested in them, of course you'll get to know them.

Today I was reminded again of how friendly people can be. I stopped in an Arlington Heights paint shop—I've not been in for at least two years—and was greeted by name. The owner gave us a discarded wallpaper book for our kids to cut up, and asked about our other children, and even the boy I used to babysit for over two years ago.

Maybe if the columnist is truly interested in people, and teaches his children to be, he can again find the friendliness and warmth in business relationships that he knew as a boy — because it's still there!

Figures Show People Voted In Ward Which Had A Race

In the Jan. 16 issue of Paddock Publications, the Fence Post contained some very interesting letters. I congratulate Mrs. Walter F. Brown of Wheeling Township and Mr. Edwin J. Kudalis of Mount Prospect for their courage in writing. The Republican Party and our Republic need no defense, but it is obvious that some need to be retold what our Republic and the Republican Party stands for.

Once again, the coalition question makes its appearance in public. I would have thought the last city election would have settled this question for all time. But again this hydra rears itself to plague the citizenry.

A coalition ticket is an evil depriving the voters the right to choose their political leaders. When two groups of different beliefs get together and agree upon one candidate for each office and then say to the voters — "Here's the ticket—Vote for it," that is going too far. This is the United States of America and our Constitution gives us freedom in voting.

But let us examine the figures of the last city election and see if it doesn't prove my statement that a coalition ticket produces apathy.

AT THE TIME of the election, there were 4,464 registered voters in Rolling Meadows. 1,346 voters or 30 per cent of the total (not even a third) came to the polls. There were some who called it a fine turnout for the city. I don't.

Our city is made up of five wards with 831 to 948 houses in each ward. With two voters in most houses, we could have at least 1,600 voters in each ward.

But for the sake of this argument, we will assume an average of 893 registered voters in each ward. This is the standing in the wards of those that came out to vote. . .Ward 1 — 15 per cent; Ward 2 — 23.3 per cent; Ward 3 — 54.8 per cent; Ward 4 — 31 per cent; Ward 5 — 26.4 per cent.

In Ward 3 where there was competition, 54.8 per cent came out and voted. This percentage is very close to the national percentage when I first came to Rolling Meadows.

According to the 1st Ward Alderman this was "an old political trick used over and over." I beg to differ with him. This was no trick, but interested people in Ward 3 that believed in a two-party system.

In all the wards there were some write-ins in defiance of the coalition ticket. I only wish that the majority of the 893 voters in all the wards had come out and wrote in their defiance. This is the only way, the people can hammer home their beliefs.

WHEN THE majority of our citizenry become interested enough, we can stop the minority rule of our town. But not before.

There are a number of fallacies in the letter signed by the Alderman that I would like to explain, but the Alderman and his group are so full of wrong ideas that I simply haven't the patience nor the time to do so.

The Republican Party has a monthly meeting and half of these monthly meetings are being held in Rolling Meadows. The Republican officials and candidates frequent these meetings. If the citizens of Rolling Meadows want to talk and shake hands with the Republicans all they have to do is to come to the meetings. The organization can do no more than urge a full turn out at these meetings.

Disappointed In Story on Teacher Group

In the past we have been impressed with the fine education coverage provided by Paddock under the direction of Helene Bristol. However, referring to the article entitled, "Teachers Group Disbands Its Committee on Salaries" which appeared Jan. 9, 1964, in the Mount Prospect Herald, it is disappointing to discover that your publication is content to publish information which is not thoroughly checked and completely correct.

For clarification, the committee for Public Relations of the Mount Prospect Education Association offers these facts in correction of this article:

1. Superintendent L. R. Murphy became a member of M.P.E.A. when it originated, along with other administrators who desired to join. At no time, even in its formation, did the association vote to omit the superintendent and administrators from its membership.

2. The motion made by David Hanna, board member, (this was checked by a call to Mr. Busenhart) was, "That the board sub-committee on personnel be authorized to meet with a teacher committee, such committee to be elected under the authorization of the superintendent, to meet with the sub-committee of the board for the purpose of preliminary salary discussion."

3. The reference to the meeting between M.P.E.A. officers and the Board of Education was completely in error. The Herald reports that the proposal was turned down. No proposal was offered for signing, hence it could not be turned down. The meeting between the school board and the M.P.E.A. officers was informal and for discussion purposes only. There was never any intent that a decision be reached. It was not in regard to salaries. There was no excuse for your reporter being in error here since he was in attendance at a previous board meeting where this was made clear by the president of M.P.E.A.

4. If Mr. Wood was quoted correctly, he was in error in regard to his quoting Mr. Robert Fasick, Chairman of Welfare and Ethics. At least, that is not the impression Mr. Fasick meant to give. Mr. Fasick said that since we were in the process of receiving recognition from the board, and since the subcommittee was not an official representative, it would be best to wait until such time as we were recognized, and until proper procedures for setting up the meetings were established.

We are a new teacher's association. We represent 85 per cent of all certificated personnel of District 57. We are affiliated with the Illinois Education Assn., the National Education Assn. and the Illinois Assn. for Classroom Teachers. Our constitution clearly states that we will never affiliate with a union. We need the help of accurate reporting. We are so disappointed in the impressions given to the readers of the Herald.

Delighted with Letters by Conservatives

I was certainly delighted that you published the very excellent letters by Messrs. Grosche and Kudalis and Senator Broyles in last week's newspaper. It was, however, something I believe you owed your readers since the letters were very timely rebuttals to the disgusting editorial of Roger Rohn and your own regrettable editorial about Senator Broyles.

Conversation is a growing and powerful force in our country. Whether as individuals we choose to support or reject this philosophy is a decision for each of us to make. But it seems that in making it, we have the right to expect some measure of objectivity in our newspapers. Certainly you are entitled to include bias in your editorials but bias is not the same as generalizations based on something other than fact, nor is it intentional distortion of ideas and information.

I hope you will continue to make your columns available for the thoughts and ideas of sincere and knowledgeable conservatives. In fact, it might be a good idea to seek out a professional that can write about conservatism with honesty and clarity. (FP

The Fence Post — Letters to the Editor

Rohn's Strong Medicine Needed to Purge Hypocrisy

It was with pleasure that I read Roger Rohn's guest column of Jan. 2. He has a sharp, acid style, aptly suited to boiling through the festering sham of our times and to cleansing the quick of what conscience we have remaining.

Doubtlessly, Rohn's case is exaggerated and overstated. But it takes strong medicine to purge some of the sick, distorted ideals which are now popular. As if to prove the point, we have Mr. Broyles' letter (Fence Post, Jan. 16).

Reading only Mr. Broyles' letter and the Paddock editorial, it is difficult to judge the issues involved. But it is not too difficult to judge Mr. Broyles.

Here we have a superpatriot who has wrapped himself in an American flag designed by the American Legion. Here, too, as he forgets not to remind us, is a noble benefactor who has cast his bread upon the water for the good of all mankind.

Finally, here we have a true believer—for he has seen the truth and wants to ensure that any form of heresy is stamped out.

In return for his seeming merits, Mr. Broyles has been chosen by his district to serve in the Illinois Senate. No doubt his district is getting precisely the service that it richly deserves. But what have we in northern Illinois done to deserve Mr. Broyles?

As long as we continue to put such as Broyles in positions of either state or federal responsibility, acid pens like that of Rohn's will be welcome to burn away some of the prevalent hypocrisy.

American Legion Organizer of Rose Festival

In order to inform the people of the Roselle area who is responsible for the Rose Festival and parade that the new Chamber of Commerce was given credit for in the Jan. 2 issue, I think it should be known that the American Legion Post 1084 has been the main organizer of this celebration, contacting bands, organizations, paying for transportation of these bands and groups to make up the parade, and also paying for the ribbons for floats and other awards that are given.

My knowledge of this is that the Businessmen's Association, now known as the Chamber of Commerce organizes the queen contest, contestants, and prizes to be given to the winning entries.

We the Legion Post 1084 have already begun contacting organizations, bands, and other groups for the Rose Parade that will be held Sunday June 14, 1964 climaxing a four day Rose Celebration.

Opposes Coddling School Kids

In answer to Mrs. E. Pirron's statement in the Jan. 16 issue of the Fence Post I have the following comments to make:

Children will not have to suffer frostbite before the schools and parents start showing the needed concern for closing schools because of the below zero temperatures. When they are properly dressed for the elements outside and have had a balanced and nutritious diet there is little concern whether they can or cannot withstand the cold atmosphere.

If parents like Mrs. Pirron would stop coddling their children we would have healthier and stronger physically fit youth today. It is because of these kind of parents that our children do not have a chance to fight colds and whatever comes along because they become so to speak — "Hothouse Plants."

Let's look at this picture from a little different angle and think back to when you were a girl, Mrs. Pirron, and were off to school. I am sure you would have been in school for a longer period making up for all the days you stayed home because of below - zero temperatures. Let's use a little common sense when we are about to coddle our children.

Committeeman Amazed by Schmitt Letter

Mr. Nicholas Schmitt Jr.'s recent letter to The Fence Post explaining of the so-called in's and out's of Rolling Meadows politics amazed me.

The writer of this letter and no one else speaks officially for the Republican party of Palatine Township, and I can assure you that at no time the Regular Republican Organization even considered running a slate of candidates in the recent Rolling Meadows elections.

I hope Mr. Schmitt is more informed on local Democrat matters in Rolling Meadows than he is on Republican matters. The people of Rolling Meadows will not allow any artificial wall to be built around them. Republicans in this fine city will in the future as they have in the past answer a "true bugle call," but I doubt very much if they are going to listen to a tin horn.

Wants More News About Mount Prospect

We subscribe to the so called "Mount Prospect" Herald only because it is the only source, however, inaccurately and incompletely reported, of Mount Prospect news.

We have the distinct impression that two, or three, or at most four, pages are set for Mount Prospect, and that we are then given "filler" of matters relating to other communities for whom a few pages are also specially set plus some "features" which we doubt are of interest to anyone who reads one or more metropolitan dailies.

We should much prefer to subscribe to a weekly of 10 or 12 pages truly devoted to Mount Prospect news and affairs, accurately and completely reported.

J. G. McWaters
Mount Prospect

EDITOR'S NOTE: We surveyed the Jan. 9 issue of the Mount Prospect Herald. We found that of the 49 news pages, 36 of them had stories mentioning Mount Prospect people, events or government. Other pages included area, county and township features that the editors feel are of interest to Mount Prospect readers.

Praise Police, Firemen for Prompt Action

We would like to let all the people in Rolling Meadows and surrounding areas know what an efficient fire department they have and what a fine police department we have.

On Dec. 31 we had our Christmas tree burn, and in less than five minutes the police department and fire department were here and in no time at all the tree was extinguished and our house was saved. They used the foam method of putting it out so no water damage was done.

We also would like to thank all our friends and neighbors and relatives who helped us clean up and put us up for sleeping until the smoke soot smell went away. We are very glad and proud to be living in such a fine town as Rolling Meadows.

The Way We See It

Cluster Zoning Is New Plan Concept

In the Chicago suburban area, where open space is being usurped by residential development at a startling rate, cluster zoning should have become an accepted planning concept long ago.

The same concept was recognized more than 30 years ago on a national scale by the federal government, and has been held forth since then by an increasing number of residential planners as the answer to "suburban sprawl."

Simply, cluster zoning is a system through which residences are grouped in fairly close proximity (clusters) and the savings in lot area is pooled into open space for common enjoyment.

Such a plan has been proposed in Elk Grove Village to be developed on more than 1,000 acres of land now under option for purchase by Realty Company of America.

So far William Alter, president of the development company, has spoken to village officials only in terms of a concept — no specific plans.

The concept itself sounds good, and has been tried successfully in other areas of the country on an equally large scale.

Alter proposes that the development consist of long, winding major streets with cul-de-sacs feeding off these long streets. The living units would be built along the cul-de-sacs, but with their fronts facing away from the street onto common green area.

Schools and parks would be located in the common area, and the remainder of undeveloped land would be either public-owned or under control of an association of residents in the development.

The developer also has asked that details be cleared up within two months, in order that construction might begin.

But the many problems connected with this new concept demand thorough and patient study rather than haste. At present the village involved hasn't even the beginings of an ordinance to cover cluster zoning.

The developer, who has produced blatantly unimaginative subdivisions in the past, is also in this type of planning for the first time.

He will predictably ask for reduction of minimum lot sizes in return for land he will devote to common open space. But the question of how much to reduce minimum lot sizes is not an easy one.

There is also a potential problem in assuring that land devoted to open space in the original plan will not, at some time in the future, be developed.

If it comes under municipal control it must be maintained by the municipality, and presumably it must be open to all village residents. A homeowners' association in control may have the right to change the use of the property by vote, or an individual may be able to assign his element of control to another.

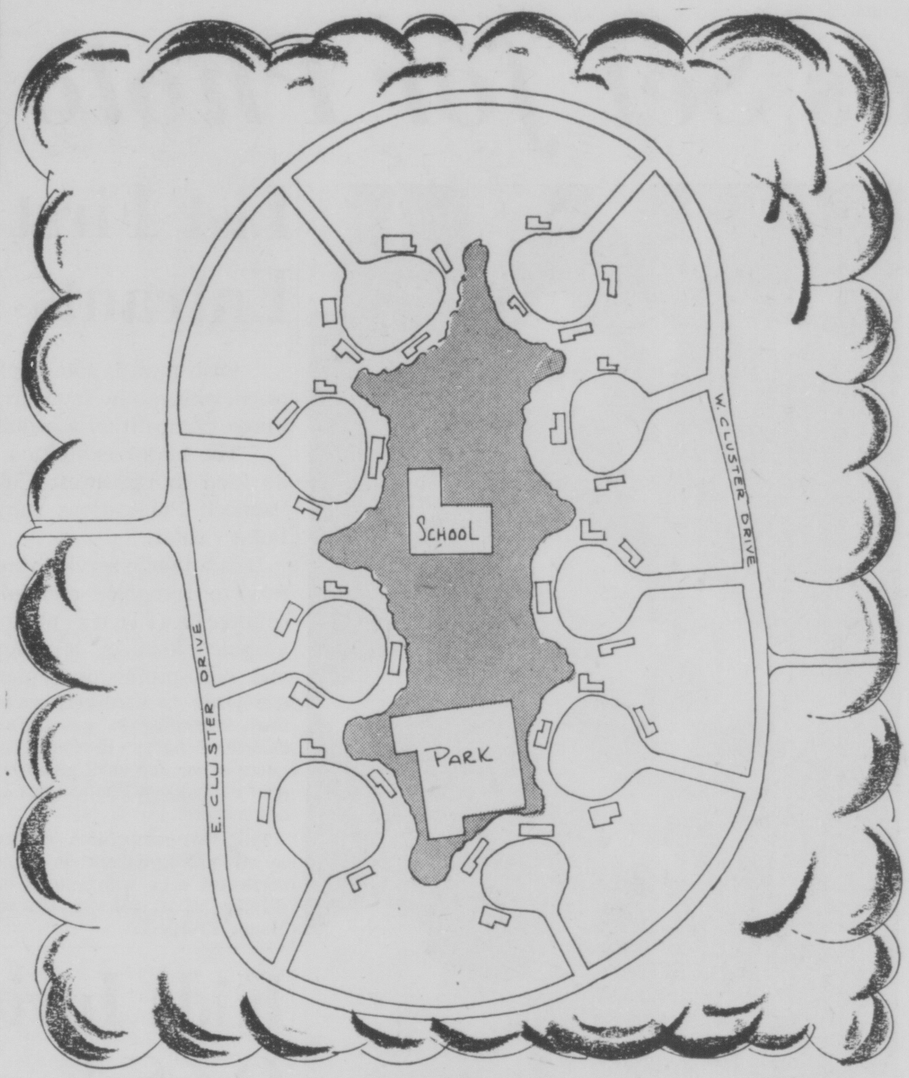
Officials of Elk Grove Village have given no indication of their reaction to the proposal, other than noting that there are many problems connected with it.

Sale of the 1,000 acres to the development corporation is conditioned on village action, and it appears the village has three choices.

Retention of the cluster concept and healthy municipal control of the development will require careful study and definitive action on necessary ordinances, including a solution to the problem of maintenance of open area.

Apathetic inaction would undoubtedly result in eventual use of the 1,000 acres for the same grid pattern subdivisions which typify Chicago's suburbs.

But hasty approval of a concept without close regard to specific plans could just as easily result in houses crowded on small lots without adequate streets, and green area with no assurance that it will remain.



Planner's Dream—With Problems

CLUSTER SUBDIVISION development, envisioned above with common open space for all residents, has been proposed as a concept to be applied to 1,000 acres of raw land in Elk Grove Village. Planners agree that the principle of such a development is ideal, but problems in implementation of a specific plan — yet unseen — are many and complicated. Common area would serve for school and park sites as well as beauty of undeveloped "countryside." (Sketch by Staff Artist Wayne Tite)

Critic's Corner

Barry's Pat Slogans Fail

by CHARLES E. HAYES
Executive Editor

As leader of the anti-intellectual forces in America, Barry Goldwater is spokesman for those who find answers to national concerns in war, homage to the flag, and the power of negative thinking.

In his most recent attack of President Johnson's effort to alleviate U.S. poverty, the Arizonan gave the public, or a certain segment of it, what it wanted to hear: simple answers to complex problems.

HAYES

The tragedy of Goldwater and his followers is that the simple America of which they dream will not return. They yearn for a return to the old agrarian America before the income tax, the industrial revolution, and the disturbing responsibilities of being a world power.

His program is largely negative: don't give federal aid; don't extend Social Security in any way; do nothing about the unemployed and impoverished; save as much money as possible by cutting all human services so that the income tax can be gradually eliminated.

GOLDWATER'S followers know exactly what they want: the freedom to exploit others without interference. Just get rid of taxes, stop giving money to foreigners, don't help out those deadbeats who aren't smart enough to get a job or take care of themselves, give more power to the military, and then everything will be all right.

In his slogan-bolstered blast at President Johnson's program, Goldwater predictably skirted facts or realities and shrugged aside the impoverishment of one-fifth of the nation as mere "politics."

I suggest he stop orating long enough to do some overdue homework.

THIS COUNTRY has more than 4 million unemployed. Its population is increasing by 3 million a year. It has to find 1,250,000 jobs a year to keep pace with the rising work force and another million to deal with the casualties of automation.

Mr. Goldwater's solutions are vague references to local enterprise and the pioneer spirit of individual initiative.

Explains Michael Harrington in his book, "The Other America," a lengthy review of poverty in the U.S.: "The poor have a worse position in American society today than they did a decade and a half ago. As technology boomed, their share in prosperity has decreased; their participation in recession and misery has increased."

Goldwater talks of a New Deal rehash.

THE WALL Street Journal this week reported: "The mounting concern over the other America reflects not so much its great size, however, as the fact it is somehow being left behind as the economy moves from record to new record. A recent study shows that since 1944 the share of total family income held by the poorest fifth of U.S. households actually has declined — to 4.7 per cent from 4.9 per cent. Another study reveals that the poor now pay more of their incomes for taxes than families earning five to seven times as much — largely because of steeply rising state and local levies not geared to income, such as sales taxes. The analysis shows that 28.3 per cent of family incomes under $2,000 a year is paid out in taxes."

Mr. Goldwater would have us middle class taxpayers believe the poor are all freeloaders on the public treasury.

Daniel Peterkin Jr., president of Morton Salt Co., said this week that widespread unemployment is "indefensible from a moral standpoint and it is also bad business." He called for business and industry to join hands with government in launching an all-out program to create new jobs by loaning money for new businesses, assisting placement services, and providing training facilities.

But Goldwater prefers merely to remind us that "the poor ye shall always have with you."

CANDIDATE Goldwater has said that the error of the "welfare staters" is that in their plans, "The impersonal, benevolent state offers money without love, assistance without concern, direction without personal involvement." He added, "Money and assistance and direction are not enough."

To which the Christian Science Monitor replied:

"Neither is the simple denial of money a sufficient recipe. In some instances this may act as a spur to initiative; in others it may leave an individual overwhelmed by conditions to which he simply has not found the answer. In those conditions, a little involvement, a little love, even though it be expressed by society through the medium of a trained social worker, is not amiss, nor wasted, nor vitiated by a federal check for its support."

Goldwater and his supporters are critical of democracy; they mistrust and dislike the majority. And well they might, for I have enough faith and confidence in the ultimate wisdom and good sense of most Americans to know they would, if given an opportunity, make a fitting judgment on Goldwater's fitness to serve as President of the United States.

Judging Politicians

The Semantical Scale

by BOB CUMMINS
Staff Writer

This being an election year, the study of semantics takes on particular importance.

If you are really serious about your politics, you ought to hurry down to the library to reserve a copy of a good book on semantics. Everyone will be clamoring for these books soon in order to get the true meaning of political statements.

But the semanticists get as much as they give in an election year. These months will be as rewarding to them as a lush Pacific Island was to Charles Darwin when he cruised the world in the Beagle seeking answers to Nature's riddles.

CUMMINS

One of the fascinating fields for study by semanticists will be the changing statements by prominent politicians on Senator Goldwater's candidacy. This study will be most rewarding if the Goldwater candidacy runs the full cycle of fortune, as it now seems likely to do—waxing and waning like the moon in its journey across the skies.

Listen, for example, to the statements of Oris Bascomb, himself a candidate for office on the Republican ticket, when asked to comment on Senator Goldwater.

The first statement was made many months ago, before the Goldwater candidacy was taken seriously. At that time Bascomb said: "Senator Goldwater's opinions are a valuable catalyst as the Grand Old Party forges answers to the problems of our perilous times." A trained reader will understand from this that Bascomb doesn't think Goldwater is the answer but he is not about to make the senator's supporters angry.

BUT THEN Rocky begins to fade and the Goldwater candidacy becomes more than just a thin crescent in the political skies. Bascomb is asked about the senator again and replies: "Enthusiasm for the Arizona senator is like a fresh new breeze blowing across our prairies."

Reading this statement, the semanticist understands that the change from "catalyst" to "breeze" is a definite promotion for Goldwater. In fact, he suspects that Bascomb is getting ready to jump on the bandwagon.

Then the poll of county chairmen comes in, with Barry far ahead of everyone. Now the moon is at the full. Bascomb races alongside the wagon and, with an easy leap, climbs aboard, as follows: "Senator Goldwater can lead this nation to a return to fiscal sanity and other basics."

NOW LYNDON Johnson becomes President. Gallup poll figures show the moon is beginning to shrink. Politicians start dropping their trombones and jumping over the tailgate. That is not easy to do gracefully. How did Bascomb manage it?

"Truly the Republican Party is blessed by the large number of able candidates from which it can choose."

Not too graceful, was it? Perhaps the semanticists will be able to explain someday why it is harder to jump off than jump on.

Crime in Suburbia

A check with several police chiefs reveals that criminal activities are increasing in northwest suburbs.

Two reasons are given for this: the growing population of the suburbs; and more effective crime prevention in Chicago, which induces some of the criminal element to try their luck elsewhere.

Despite more pressure, the chiefs believe they are keeping a pretty tight lid on crime.

Crime, like carburetor icing and crabgrass, is more easily prevented than cured. The persistent, nagging crime problem that gives a town a black eye comes after organized crime has been given a foothold.

This area's suburbs have prevented organized crime from gaining a foothold and this is one justification for satisfaction.

Work with young people is one important aspect of crime prevention. In this field, suburban police departments are doing well. Some of the finest police officers in the suburbs are in juvenile work.

There are some "soft" spots to be noted, however.

Hot-rodding on residential streets is one of them. We hope that a crackdown on this comes before a child is killed.

Another problem is burglaries. It seems that more and more burglaries are being reported, some of them brazen thefts in broad daylight. This list of unsolved burglaries is growing longer.

This problem would seem to require some special action. Nothing discourages burglars like the news that a few of the brethren have been sent to jail. Also, a campaign of public education can make it more difficult for thieves to operate.

As the police chiefs well know, it is always too soon for a police department to rest on its oars.

Turning the Cheek

Harsh words are sometimes spoken about Chicago and Cook County in other parts of the nation.

Some of them have been said in neighboring states about Chicago's effort to get more water from Lake Michigan. You would think Chicago was trying to put over a "dirty deal."

It was amusing, therefore, to read an item that came over the United Press International news ticker. It mentioned that Green Bay's public bathing beaches have been closed for 25 years because of pollution.

Tollway Gobbledegook

Senseless Business Logic

by JACK SIPE
Guest Columnist

These are days that try men's souls.

This old, oft-used observation fits so many situations in our life today; so many, in fact, the phrase is applicable almost on a daily basis.

But we develop immunity, we say. We're strong, we say. We've learned to take the good with the bad and muddle through. That makes us great, we say.

BUT I SAY: So, who wants to be great?

I just want to quarrel with a facet of everyday life that categorizes some things as "good" and some things as "bad."

For once, let's not dismiss this one certain "bad" thing and then pat ourselves on the back for being "great."

We have a beautiful new four-lane road, stretching from Central at the southern outskirts of Arlington Heights direct to the northwest tip of Elk Grove Village. We especially appreciate this road. Not only because it's such an improvement, but because we feel our local Paddock newspaper had a hand in obtaining it—or rather rescuing it from political shenanigans down at the County Building.

SO — YOU'RE driving down this road on your way to work in the city, and you want to use the toll road. You get within a mashie shot of the toll road at Algonquin and you have to dodge left, fight your way through five or six or seven stop signs, plus gosh-knows-what-kind-of-traffic, make a couple of turns and you're at a place where you can get on the toll road to go east. This—and I measured it—is exactly 3.9 miles from the Algonquin intersection.

I ask—why can't we have an entrance and an exit on Arlington Heights Road?

I've been told why, and the Arlington Heights Board of Trustees have been told why, and a lot of other people have been told why.

THE TOLLWAY Commission does not have the money. And it isn't even making enough money to pay on the principal that would some day retire the bonds. We can only speculate because figures are not made public, but we guess the toll road never will make enough money to pay its way. Traffic will not increase that much.

One way to increase revenue would be to build more egress and ingress points. But they can't. They don't have the money, they say. They do have money—thousands more than would be needed for our little job—to finance a survey to see whether it would be feasible to build an extension from Point X to Point Y. And, by the way, this survey found that such an extension would be unwise. So that money is lost—isn't it?

Some weeks back, the Arlington Heights Village Board of Trustees did a little investigating and learned the Tollway Commission would, indeed, would consider a little financial help in constructing an entrance and exit for Arlington Heights Road traffic. So the trustees went a step farther. They learned the cost of such a project would be only about $50,000. And when you consider the $20,000 mistake made on the village's Oakton Street, where they had to dig up earth from over a new sewer and replace it with sand fill, that $50,000 doesn't sound like much.

BUT, WHERE is this idea? Is it still alive and is anyone pushing it? I wouldn't be surprised if it isn't filed; stuffed neatly away with other things that should be done NOW!

The Arlington Heights village plan would be to construct an exit so that traffic coming from the city could get off on Arlington Heights Road. And, south of the tollway, there would be one petal of a cloverleaf that would put you on the tollway—bound southeast toward O'Hare, the Tri-State Tollway south, and the Kennedy Expressway into the city.

This is all we ask—one exit and one entrance. And we can have it for $50,000—or thereabouts.

One of the trustees was told by a tollway office official:

"Man, we should have put entrances and exits there when we built the road. The amount of traffic sure warrants it!"

And, he could have said, an Arlington Heights Road connection would have eased traffic in many directions and — possibly — put a few more 35-cent tolls into the hopper.

I CAN'T help but think they want more money. That we've got to accept as a forsure item.

So—you add all these facts together and find no reason for further delay. But you file it away—like the good and the bad are filed away. This must be a "bad" thing. And, we're "great" for accepting the "bad" things.

NUTS!

Yes, these are days that try men's souls.

List First Twenty Entrants in Show

Cash awards totaling $200 will be presented to first place winners in four divisions of the Second Annual Photo Competition scheduled for Feb. 27-29.

The major exhibition and competition, only one of its kind in northwest Chicagoland, is co-sponsored by Paddock Publications suburban newspapers and Randhurst Center.

It is a public service venture to recognize and encourage serious photographic effort by amateur and semi-professional photographers in northwest suburbs, according to contest chairman Larry H. Cameron, photo editor and chief photographer of Paddock Publications 14 newspapers.

THE 1964 competition is open to all photographers in the northwest area with entries on display at Randhurst Center, Mount Prospect.

A $50 cash prize will be awarded to first place winners in three black and white classes—portrait and personality; action; and pictorial—and for the single color print class. Ribbons will be awarded for second and third place in each division.

Entry blanks are now available at 57 locations throughout 15 northwest area communities. In addition, an entry blank is published weekly in all Paddock newspapers.

A panel of three expert judges will examine entries with winners announced on Saturday, Feb. 29.

ENTRIES ARE limited only by available space, explained Cameron. He urged photographers to submit entry applications as soon as possible to reserve space.

Officially, entry blanks must be postmarked not later than midnight Saturday, Feb. 22. Entrants will put up their exhibits on Wednesday, Feb. 26 and the photographs on display to the public Thursday, Friday, and Saturday in the center Mall at Randhurst.

Detailed competition rules will be found elsewhere on this page.

Lists Deductible Automobile Costs

The Chicago Motor Club reminds motorists to include certain car expenses when itemizing deductions on income tax returns. All motorists may deduct the following items:

State automobile license fees, municipal vehicle tax fees, state gasoline taxes (five cents a gallon in Illinois), casualty losses, not reimbursed by insurance or other means, if not due to willful negligence, interest paid on automobile loans, personal property taxes, and state and city sales tax on automobiles.

IF A CAR is used for business, owners may deduct the following, in whole or in part, depending upon the extent of business use:

Motor club dues, automobile insurance premiums, depreciation, gasoline, oil and lubricating expenses, cost of all repairs, washing and polishing expenses, anti-freeze and other winterizing service, and garage rent, parking charges and toll road fees.

The motor club points out that costs incurred in driving to and from regular places of employment are not deductible for income tax purposes. If a car is driven partly for pleasure and partly for business ,items in the second group are deductible only in proportion to the amount of use of the car for business purposes.

Auto Firm Completes Remodeling

Hartigan Oldsmobile - Cadillac, Inc., announces completion of remodeling of the Park Ridge firm's building at 112 Meacham at an estimated cost of more than $200,000.

The expansion program begun over a year ago more than doubles the company's facilities, according to William J. Hartigan, firm president.

Among features of the remodeled building are three wide see-through overhead doors at the front that provide a heated used car showroom in winter and an open air display area in summer.

The enlarged parts department is now one of the largest for Oldsmobile and Cadillac parts in the Chicagoland area, Hartigan said.

Hartigan took over the agency in August, 1962. He founded Hartigan Chevrolet in Chicago, now owned by his son, William E. Hartigan, and also is president of Hartigan Oil Co. of Chicago. (BB

Home Builders Anticipate Accelerated Market in '64

Owning one's home is an American family tradition which is expected to accelerate during 1964.

That's the general opinion of home builders from across the country who compared notes and reviewed the latest developments in the industry at the recent annual convention of the National Association of Home Builders in Chicago.

The continuing growth of the national economy, the greater number of new families desiring attractive living space and the wish to make a sound investment in the security of real estate are being regarded as a few of the prime indicators that the American public will step-up its activity in the home buying field.

The basic outward appearance of houses is expected to show little change. Contemporary and traditional types dominate the design picture.

QUALITY, majority of home builders believe, will be a determining factor in many sales. They feel the trend towards getting lasting value and performance for every housing dollar invested will undoubtedly gain momentum in 1964. Home buyers are showing an increased awareness for domestic name brand products.

Builders also find that families have a better knowledge of what to look for and shop until they find what they want.

According to O. F. Wenzler, A.I.A., architectural consultant of Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Co., this development is due largely to the valuable information given the public through newspaper real estate and home building pages and shelter magazines.

"At one time, shoppers who knew what to look for as far as quality in a home is concerned, were second buyers who had learned through experience," he said. "Now, however, the picture has changed and there is a greater over-all knowledge of what constitutes a sound buy. This can be directly related to the fine educational job being done by home planning editors.

"MANY BUYERS readily admit they read most of the information and design ideas and filed them away for review when they were ready to invest in a home. Their belief in what they read is reflected in their no-nonsense approach to what is important in a house."

Wenzler predicted that greater care will be given to the placement of sliding glass doors and windows to provide pleasing views from inside, good natural lighting and balanced appearance from outside.

Large glass areas are expected to become more widespread in the more traditional homes.

Milwaukee Is Still U.S. Beer Capital

Milwaukee (UPI)—None of the breweries at Milwaukee was the industry leader in 1963, but they sold enough of the foamy stuff to strengthen the city's claim as beer capital of the United States.

At least, that is the indication of reports of sales by the city's largest brewer and estimate of sales of two others.

The Jos. Schlitz Brewing Co., the industry's second largest, said it reached an all-time sales high of 7,834,253 barrels to break its own record for the second consecutive year.

SCHLITZ continued to trail Anheuser - Busch, St. Louis, which sold an estimated 9.28 million barrels last year.

The Schlitz totals include three brands—Schlitz, Old Milwaukee and Burgermeister. There was no breakdown made according to brands.

The total was nearly one million barrels more than last year.

Pabst, the nation's third-ranking brewery ,has not released 1963 figures yet, but produced an estimated 6.67 million barrels. Miller, the city's other major brewery, produced an estimated 2.91 million barrels. Both were up from a year ago.

THE G. HEILMAN Brewing Co., LaCrosse, Wis., only other major brewery, produced apporximately 820,000 barrels in 1963. Heilman President Roy E. Kumm said the company is looking forward to reaching the million barrel mark in 1964. (BB

IT'S AN IDEA — HOME DECORATIONS

It may not work for you, but it worked wonders for one homemaker looking for some way to train youngsters to "pick up" toys scattered about their room during play.

The idea: a locomotive toy box. A qualified do-it-yourselfer can fashion his own "locomotive." All he needs is a toy box, not too large or too small, some rollers, a few pieces of plywood, some paint and a bit of imagination.

Something of a "toy" in itself, the locomotive captures the attention of youngsters and they don't mind at all when mom says "it's time for you to fill the pick-up express."

HINTS TO HOMEOWNERS

by James Fizzell, Associate Farm Advisor

ALERT HOMEOWNERS DIAL DAILY 392-3060

The delicate and graceful carnation is the official flower for the month of January.

The carnation was a native of southern Europe where it is thought to have been a small single flower, lilac in color, and similar to our garden pinks.

The carnation as we know it today is the result of centuries of breeding and selection.

THE NAME carnation seems to be derived from coronation or coronation flower since their blooms were used in great abundance at crownings of English kings and queens. Carnations have been used for hundreds of years for decorations; it was not until the 16th century that they came into general use and hybridization of the species began.

The large, double, perpetual flowering carnations you get from your florist originated by the French botanist, Dalmais, about 1840 and were introduced into the United States about 15 years later. Since that time, intensive hybridization and selection in this country have produced many excellent varieties and strains.

Since carnations are true hybrids, each variety has arisen from a single seed. In order to increase the number of plants of a variety, it is necessary to use cuttings or slips. Occasionally a plant will mutate and produce a flower or a different color, larger size or an exceptionally strong plant. Greenhouse men are always watching for these mutations or, as they call them, sports. When a sport occurs, the florist saves the plant and takes cuttings.

THE NEW mutation then becomes known as a selection and is sent to universities and experiment stations to be tested. If it is superior to varieties being grown, it is propagated and sent to commercial greenhouses where it replaces older varieties.

The most common varieties grown in America today are the Sims which originated from a bright red, William Sim.

Through selection of sports from this original seedling have come a multitude of colors ranging from white and light pink through reds and salmons, and even yellow and orange color varieties. Each selection carries in its name an indication of which variety it originally came from. Examples are Tangerine Sim and Crowley's Pink Sim.

The most recent development in carnations is the miniature spray type. These varieties have several small flowers on a single stem, much like pompon chrysanthemums.

ONE OF THE largest carnation producing areas in the United States, Chicago, has been selected by the American Carnation Society as the host city for its 70th annual convention. The meetings will coincide with the Chicago World's Flower Show in March and a large exhibit, featuring carnations from all over the world, will be on display.

The competitive exhibit in which carnations from every part of the United States are judged to select the world's best will take place at the Chicago Sherman House, headquarters hotel for the Convention.

Plan to visit the carnation exhibits when they are in Chicago. Your neighborhood florist can provide you with tickets and other details.

About Adversity

I'll say this for adversity: people seem to be able to stand it, and that's more than I can say for prosperity.—Kin Hubbard. (BB

Carbon Monoxide Is Deadly Winter Hazard

Each year carbon monoxide takes the lives of more than 600 Americans, making it one of the most deadly accident hazards.

Most frequently victims are hunting parties in north woods cabins, motorists who warm up their cars in closed garages and people who sit or sleep in parked cars with the motor running.

What makes carbon monoxide so deadly?

The basic reason, says the Illinois Medical Society, is that it usually is not detected until too late.

A PRODUCT of imperfect combustion in stoves and furnaces as well as a component of automobile exhaust fumes, carbon monoxide gas is tasteless, colorless, non-irritating and practically odorless. Its only warning is certain recognizable symptoms that occur as it works its way into the bloodstream. In usual order of occurrence these symptoms include:

1. Tightness about the forehead.
2. Headache and dizziness.
3. Tiredness and blurred vision.
4. Nausea, vomiting and heart flutter.
5. Unconsciousness — and finally death.

Death results when the inhaled carbon monoxide displaces oxygen in the red blood cells, causing what amounts to suffocation of the body tissues, the medical society explained.

ALTHOUGH carbon monoxide poisoning occurs most often in closed garages with the automobile motor running and in homes with leaky gas fittings, poorly vented gas heaters, clogged chimneys and improperly operated dampers, it also works its deadly effect on the highway.

Many of the 180,000 highway accidents that occur in this country each year are caused by drivers who black out or fall asleep from slow absorption of carbon.

Ironically, open car windows—presumed to give protection from this danger—actually increase the hazard by creating a draft which helps exhaust fumes seep up through the floor boards. For this reason motorists are advised to keep their front vents open except when close to other cars in bumper-to-bumper traffic.

Should you encounter a case of monoxide poisoning, move the victim into fresh air and summon a doctor immediately. Meanwhile, keep the patient warm and render mouth-to-mouth respiration. (BB

Especially for Women

It's 'Back to School' For Recent Newlyweds

Back at Southern Illinois University after their holiday wedding are Adrienne and C. Robert King, whose vows were exchanged in Prospect Heights Community Church. The date was Dec. 21 when the former Adrienne J. Olson, daughter of the Ralph J. Olsons of 105 Kenilworth, was married in her home church to the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. King of Springfield.

Rev. Robert F. Klepper united them in double ring rites, as Mrs. A. Kulieke accompanied her husband on the organ as he sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

RED POINSETTIAS and white mums adorned the altar as the bride approached on the arm of her father. She wore a light ivory bengalene dress with a sabrina neckline, the gown enhanced with touches of alencon lace. A bengalene rose with seed pearls outlining the petals, formed her headpiece to hold a bouffant veil in place. The bride's bouquet was composed of white roses and ivy.

Her attendants were all gowned alike in peacock blue silk crepe dresses and carried bouquets of white fuji mums. Matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. James Hodges of Prospect Heights. Bridesmaids were Barbara Bradle of Arlington Heights and Betsie Blocker and Sharon Hall, both of Glen Ellyn.

THE GROOM'S attendants all wore tuxedos for the 12:30 rites, as did 3½-year-old Brian Hodges, the bride's nephew, who served as ring bearer.

Best man was Richard King of Springfield, a brother of the groom, and ushers were Jerry Cundiff of Lombard, John Barton of Westchester and Tom Long of Jacksonville, Ill.

Buffet luncheon was served in Old Orchard Country Club to 175 guests immediately after the ceremony. Mrs. Olson, the bride's mother, greeted them in a light blue brocade dress with matching accessories, and Mrs. King received in a cocoa and beige wool knit with cocoa accessories. Each of the mothers had a white orchid pinned to her shoulder.

THE NEWLYWEDS are living in Apt. R, 606 E. Park, Carbondale, since returning from a 2-week honeymoon in Florida and Nassau.

The groom is a senior at Southern Illinois and affiliated with Tau Kappa Epsilon Fraternity. The bride is a junior there. (Jenart (S

'Dreamer's' Dictionary

Bedding Business Terms Explained

What, you may ask, has a "hog ring" to do with how well you sleep?

If your understanding of a "hog ring" is a circular enclosure in which the porkers may cavort, the answer is—nothing.

In the bedding business, though, a hog ring is a metal fastener, and it has an important role to play in your rest. The hog ring is used to attach the mattress covering securely to the innerspring unit, so that you'll benefit from a smooth, even, sleeping surface.

IF YOU'D like to amaze and delight your friends with your command of little-known facts, here's an extra from Sealy, national bedding manufacturer: hog rings are applied with a hog gun, an air-powered device which literally shoots the rings into place from close range.

And, while we're willing to concede that "tick" is usually half of "tick-tock," denoting the sound of a clock faintly heard as you're slumbering, it's also a bedding industry word for mattress covering.

Sealy says that the language of the bedding business is replete with words generally unrecognizable by the public, but which have a distinct meaning. For example:

Insulator - Nothing to do with warmth or soundproofing, but important to your comfort. It covers the coils of an innerspring mattress on top and bottom, holds them permanently in place, and keeps other layers of material from dropping into the coil area, thus exposing the coils and exposing the sleeper to disturbing "coil feel."

Batting - Not to be confused with an important phase of our national game. It's two or more layers of cotton felt, placed on top of the insulator to give the mattress the softness of surface that means comfort, even on a firm foundation.

Card - Neither a wit nor a pasteboard used in a variety of games. It's a process of disentangling and arranging the fibers of cotton being formed into batting.

Crown - Not a symbol of royalty, but an extra layer of sisal (processed vegetable fiber) in the vital center third of the mattress, where there's the most weight and wear. It's found usally only in highest quality mattresses, and you may want to ask about it when you next shop for a mattress, Sealy suggests.

Temper - Not a description of an emotional outburst, but a treatment of innerspring coils to insure strength and resiliency. The best mattresses are built with double-tempered coils.

Border - A line of demarcation between political units, but also the vertical side panel of a mattress. The best mattresses have reinforced or prebuilt borders, which help the bed hold its shape. Quality also is marked by the use of additional supports in the border to keep the mattress from sagging along the edges, where weight is sometimes concentrated.

Flanging is the wrapping of the "innards" of the mattress into a tight roll. This reinforces the edges, prevents the interior material from shifting, and keeps the surface firm and tightly drawn.

A tape edge generally is found on best quality mattresses, Sealy says, and connotes sewing machine stitching with rayon or plastic tape around the top and bottom edges of the mattress. A roll edge (a round, filled edge) is used on less expensive bedding.

Aside from the "one-upmanship" the understanding of these terms may provide you in social situations, they'll be useful, too, in helping you select really good bedding. Since we spend about one-third of our lives sleeping, it pays to be wide awake in the sleep shop or bedding department of your favorite store.

(Go ahead - ask the salesman if that mattress has hour-glass coils!) (S

NOW AT HOME in Iowa City are Mr. and Mrs. Norman D. Ingraham who were married Dec. 21 in Wesley Foundation Chapel of First Methodist Church, Iowa City. The bride is the former Connie Jean Meyer, daughter of the Clinton W. Meyers, 115 S. Elm St., Mount Prospect, and the groom is the son of the Jess Ingrahams of Barnes City, Iowa. A graduate of Prospect High School, the bride attended the State University of Iowa for 1½ years and is now employed at the University Hospital in Iowa City. Her bridegroom is a junior, majoring in pharmacy, at the State University of Iowa.

Book Series Offered by Food Chain

A special family edition of "The World We Live In," by Lincoln Barnett and the editors of Life, is now on sale in area supermarkets of the Kroger chain.

The first book of the three-volume series was placed on sale Jan. 20; the others will follow at one-week intervals. The full set of three will be available through Feb. 22. Each volume is priced at $1.39.

"The World We Live In" is the most successful single book ever published by Time Inc., having sold more than 700,000 copies in the original edition. Each of the three volumes in the family edition contains 100 or more pages. The series is designed to be of educational value and use for school-age children.

The book presents the story of the earth's natural history, from probable origin of the world four billion years ago, through the development of life to the physical nature of the earth and universe as we know it today.

Height Affords Spacious Look

A small living room can have a feeling of spaciousness if you raise the ceiling.

Even in a single story house, western architects point out, you can have the luxury of space if you raise your ceiling to a 12 or 15 foot height.

Of course, if you have a two-level or two-story house, you have a ready-made opportunity to design a living area with higher ceilings, they point out.

THE EXPENSE is slight, just the added cost of a few extra square feet of wall surface. But the end result is space that gives a home an appearance of richness and costliness and increased livability far beyond the slight extra initial expense of construction.

You must be careful, the architects warn, when planning this higher ceiling to avoid ungainliness. You must be careful to handle your scale to relate to people, your furniture so that it fits the space, and your walls so that they give elegance rather than take it away.

IF YOU want to achieve verticality within the limitation of human scale, the architects point out, uninteresting blank walls are out. The best way to give a tall room character is to use a warm wood paneling on one or more walls.

Warm West Coast woods like west coast hemlock or Douglas fir not only give the wall charm and color but the grain and pattern of the wood supplies a subtle decorative effect.

These woods are especially beautiful when finished naturally with a clear lacquer or varnish. A good idea is to use random width sawn paneling to add variety and interest to the wall. These walls will form the perfect background for pictures, tapestries or art objects.

Bake Sale Next For Bethel 103

Miss Sandy Larsen of Arlington Heights, Honored Queen of Bethel 103, Job's Daughers, is announcing that the forthcoming silent auction will take place Wednesday, Feb. 12. Members are also reminded of the bake sale planned for Saturday at Arlington Packing Co., 119 W. Campbell.

Another special event set for the future is a Feb. 1 beef dinner, to be prepared under supervision of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Livingston. Serving will begin at 4:30 p.m. in Arlington Heights Masonic Temple. Tickets are available from Miss Ellen Davis, CL 3-6332.

An all-day skating and tobogganing party is also noted for Feb. 8 at Sharps' Cottage on Paddock Lake, Wis. (S

7th District Juniors Hear Speaker on CARE

Charles W. Stinger, director of the Chicago Office of CARE, was guest speaker at the winter meeting of the Seventh District Junior Clubs of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, held Jan. 16 in the Bank of Rolling Meadows. Co-hostess clubs were the Mount Prospect Juniors and Rolling Meadows Juniors.

Mr. Stinger spoke mainly on the subject of "Literacy Kits" which have been distributed for the last two years as part of the literature program of the General Federation. For a cost of $1 to $2 per pupil, these kits, tailor-made to suit the area in which they are to be used, have been sent to 31 countries in which CARE operates.

MOST CONTAIN the basic essentials of learning: pencils, paper, chalk, dictionaries, etc. But as an example of regional differences, Mr. Stringer explained, the ones going to Hong Kong contain brushes and ink; those going to an area for working adults contain a kerosene reading lamp for study in the pre-dawn and after-dark hours when they are not working.

The General Federation has sent into the field a total of seven Mobile Health Units at a cost of from $11,000 to $22,000 each. These units operate in all of the CARE countries, not only as a health service, but as training units in basic hygiene and sanitation.

PRESIDING AT the meeting was Mrs. Harold Thompson, Seventh District Junior Director, who announced the appointment of Mrs. Kenneth Odmark as new district treasurer to fill the term of Mrs. Paul Scott who has moved.

Mrs. Daniel Wallner, ways and means chairman, reported plans for the "February Flair," the district's annual fund-raising project. It will be held Feb. 29 in Old Orchard Country Club and will feature hats by "Sue." The affair will benefit Clearbrook School for Retarded Children and Northwest Mental Health Association.

The ways and means committee also presented a panel show, "Whose Hat is Whose," advertising the event. (S

Hostesses will be Mrs. E. P. Jannusch, Mrs. C. A. Logie and Mrs. J. E. Wiedl.

Cook County Homemakers Extension Association, of which Arlington Heights unit is a part, held its 23rd annual meeting, Wednesday at the Martinique in Evergreen Park.

Installation of officers will take place at the Feb. 27 meeting of the local unit. (S

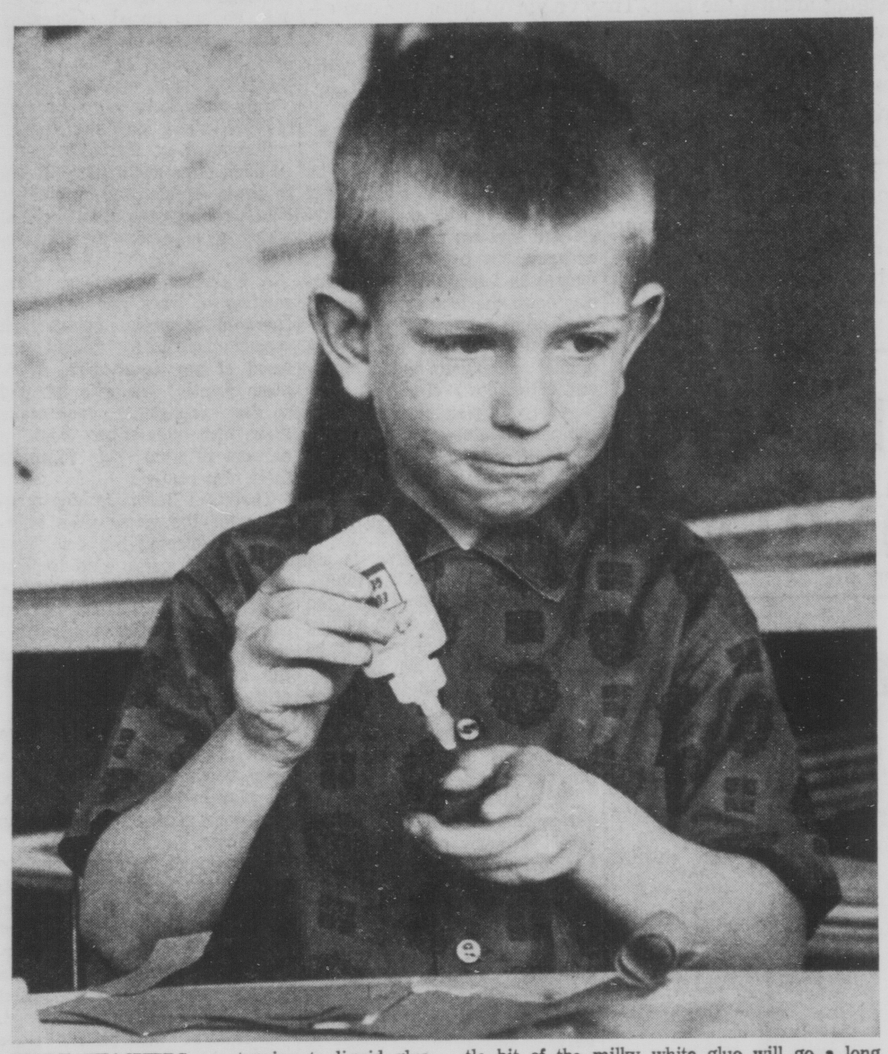
Adhesives Go Modern

Pupil Paste-Tasting Is Passing



MORE TEACHERS are turning to liquid glue for art and craft work because of its versatility. This first grader at Park School knows a little bit of the milky white glue will go a long way, another reason why teachers like it. (Staff Photo)

Glue Is Gaining In Use

by PAT ADAM
Staff Writer

The school child of tomorrow may never experience the joy of paste-tasting.

Most art and craft work in today's elementary schools utilizes glue rather than paste.

Paste is still used by the kindergarten set. Young fingers that are not yet too dextrous find smearing paste easier than manipulating a glue bottle.

In upper grades, however, where arts and crafts employ more variety of media, glue is the preferred adhesive.

THE KIND used is a milky white liquid that dries clear and once dry, does not come unglued.

Francis E. Gilbert, chemist for Sanford Ink Co., whose product, Elephant Glue, is one of about 18 brands on the market, explains in the scientists' language that the glue is an emulsion of resins in water.

Within the trade, these resins are known as polyvinylacetates, the same stuff that goes into rubber-based paints. When the water in the glue evaporates, the remaining resins act as an adhesive.

THE TECHNICAL explanation for its popularity is that the glue has stronger bonding power and can penetrate such substances as wood, masonite, porous plastics and other porous materials.

Mrs. Kay Laubet, art consultant for Arlington Heights District 25 schools, puts it more succinctly: "It sticks better."

The glue has other advantages, she explained. It's not so messy as paste. The bottle has an applicator top so it is not necessary to use the hands, and the plastic container won't break. The glue works on flexible materials and shiny materials, like mosaic tile.

LITTLE FINGERS FIND it easier to smear paste than to handle a glue bottle as these pupils in the kindergarten class of Miss Ann Taborsky at Park School demonstrate.

COSTWISE, the glue is more expensive than paste, but it goes farther, and Chuck Bailey, District 25 supply clerk, figures the cost probably balances out over a period of time.

Most of the glues don't have much flavor in comparison to that of paste. Whether this is a disadvantage may be debatable, but it's a rare school child who's not got in his lick of paste at some time during his educational career.

Paste is a water solution of dextrins derived from grain or tuberous vegetables, by the chemist's definition. The paste of school days memory is made mostly from corn and potato dextrins.

THESE ARE not, however, what give paste its odor or flavor, according to Gilbert. With an attitude of "by their scent shall ye know them," paste makers use flavoring in their product to give a distinctive aroma or taste that will identify their particular brand in the user's mind, he said. Oil of sassafras and oil of wintergreen are the most common flavorings.

The Borden Co. introduced the resin type of adhesive some years ago and is dominant in the market with its Elmer's Glue-All.

A sampling of six elementary school districts revealed that all but one now stock Elmer's Glue-All, Elmer's glue as it is popularly known, or a like product.

FOR DISTRICTS like Arlington Heights 25 and Elk Grove Village 59, that's a lot of glue. Bailey estimated District 25 will use between 12 and 18 gross—as much as 2,592 bottles—of the small size containers during the current school year, the first time it has stocked the glue on a district basis.

Bob Chappelear, District 59 shipping clerk, reported the district started the year with 3 gross of the small bottles, 12 gross of the four-ounce size and 18 gross of the eight-ounce bottles. This was an outlay of about $2,300.

PASTE IS STILL the preferred product with kindergartners, but the paper chain held by Miss Elizabeth Ann Newell, kindergarten teacher at Arlington Heights Park School, indicates results can sometimes be rather messy. (Staff Photo)

Other districts which said they have the glue in their regular stock of supplies were District 21 in Wheeling, District 54 in Hoffman Estates and District 7 in Wood Dale. District 2 in Bensenville reported it buys only paste. Individual teachers may have the students use glue, but all students above the second grade supply their own adhesive in that district anyway, a spokesman in the business manager's office said.

One thing is certain. Whether the kids eat paste or glue, their digestive systems won't be harmed. Neither contains toxic substances, according to Gilbert, and paste is even nutritious.

Fashion Gives New Interest To Traditional Quilting

Remember the patchwork quilt of Grandma's day?

New versions of the ever-popular quilt style are making fashion news today, though the so-called "crazy quilt" may have been displaced by more modern coverlets.

Quilted hostess gowns and skirts are very much "in" nowadays, and furniture people say that chairs and sofas upholstered in quilted style are increasingly popular.

Whether the current interest in things quilted is a result of nostalgia for a simpler time, or merely a matter of fashion and comfort, this acceptance also also has been much in evidence in the bedding business.

A NATIONAL bedding manufacturer notes that the public has rallied to quilted mattresses, which now are a definite and established item in any retail store and a growing percentage of the over-all bedding business.

"Quilt," by the way, originally meant a particular kind of a bed coverlet of two thicknesses, with a filling of wool or cotton. Today, "quilt" has the broader meaning of stitching or sewing in layers, usually with some soft, thick substance between.

It's important for the homemaker to know the difference between the two methods of quilting used by bedding manufacturers, since quilting can have an effect on comfort as well as on the appearance of the mattress.

One method is the decorative, or "multi-needle" quilt. This is a surface process which uses up to 70 needles to apply the pattern to rolls of covering material, repeating it, much as a wallpaper pattern is repeated, over the whole surface. The covering material then is cut to size and attached to the innerspring unit.

THE SCROLL, or "single needle" quilt, applies the design only in the center area of the mattress cover, not the entire surface. The design usually is relatively simple, and does not distract from the appearance of the mattress. More important, this process is accomplished with the entire innerspring unit on a machine, so that the stitching acts to hold the inner upholstery material together, preventing it from shifting, and contributing both to greater comfort and longer mattress life.

These long-term benefits to the homemaker make it well worth the shopper's while to inquire of the bedding salesman regarding the quilting method used and to pass her own judgment on the attractiveness of the design.

'Open Look' Taking Shape

West Comes Up with Another American Style Trend House

A new trend house may be coming out of the West to influence the design of American homes for the next decade or so.

The West has long been the leader in home design trends. The popular ranch house was given a trial run in California in the 20's as a bungalow. The typical houses of today with their chic lines first got their start in California and Oregon where imaginative architects found customers willing to depart from the traditional home styling.

Now, it appears a new American trend home is in the making a home that has been taking shape in Oregon and California in recent years.

It is the open house, the let-the-sky-in house, the house that capitalizes on wood and glass. It is an exciting house.

It is a house designed in attractive modules, a house which utilizes rough sawn textured wood exterior siding to tie it to surrounding greenery and Nature. Popular for this rough siding is western red cedar and Douglas fir in various patterns.

IT IS a house with large areas of glass which seem to tie indoors and outdoors together. It features plenty of sky viewing vistas of glass, always shaded with wood screens or awnings to regulate the flow of light and heat from the sun.

Oftentimes the trend house has a minimum of windows on the exposed street sides, but features open glass areas into private patios, atriums and gardens.

There is a subtle hint of the old Spanish in the inner courtyard, but none of the Spanish design in the homes themselves.

INSIDE THESE homes, the architects have again used the color, texture and beauty of wood for walls and all manner of custom built-ins, room screens and dividers.

They use the lovely warmth of autumn-toned western red cedar for dens, family rooms and an occasional bedroom. For rooms requiring lighter treatment, the exciting golden honey color of West Coast hemlock is captured in wall paneling.

This trend house is an established fact in the West already, and has been for the past five years. It will make its way gradually across the country, and some of its subtle charm will find its way into tradition-conscious New England, the South where Colonial design holds sway, and the Midwest where the affinity for far western trends is strong.

YOU CAN tell a trend house because it will probably feature higher than ordinary ceilings in living rooms. It will feature glass in large wall areas, in glassed-in gable ends, in unusual places as clerestory above entrance doors, in odd spaces around roof junctures.

It will be largely of wood, with wood supplying much of the design motif through texture and color. It will, above all, be exciting, but not in poor taste. It will be livable and not garish.

Woman's Club Sets Card Party

"A Breath of Spring" is the atmosphere which the Mount Prospect Woman's Club plans to create at its annual January luncheon and card party, to be held Tuesday, Jan. 28 at 1 p.m. in Mount Prospect Country Club.

Guests may plan their own table, or the committee will help to complete the table for them. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. W. E. Lyman, CL 3-2239, Mrs. C. C. VanDenburgh, CL 9-0574, or Mrs. G. O. Larsson, CL 3-4668. (S

Young Set Dazzled by Cereal Box Treasures

by BETTY AINSLIE

"Not that cereal, John — heavens, it will just go begging around the kids. They've got to have the one offering a train set this month," declared a housewife busy shopping with her husband. She smiled at me and continued. "Honestly, they'll eat anything if they find a surprise in the box or are saving the top for some toy."

At a local grocery store I was examining this nation's output of packaged cereals to see the exciting promises and possibilities which might be offered inside or on the containers. The stockboys gave me black looks as I lingered by their neatly stocked shelves; and I was shoved aside by box-grabbing customers as I made my slow journey down the long line of packaged breakfast foods.

In order to tempt the children of this nation into eating bigger and better bowls of cereal, nearly every pease porridge cold company offers a gimmick, a build - it - yourself - from - the - box item, incloses a toy or offers something startling, inexpensive and tempting to the small fry.

THE IDEA, of course, is not to collect the nickels, dimes, quarters or half dollars from the children, but have them pulling at mamma's stretch pants in an endeavor to have her purchase their favorite toy offering cereal. So it's not the crispy, crunchiness of the flakes, but what special goodies the containers can provide.

The things to be sent for are games or toys — appeal to preschool or early grammar school age and are new and different from things offered in the toy shops.

For instance the bottom of a box might hold — aside from grain flakes, squares or puffs — pocket puzzle games, an atomic submarine or a piece of Turkish taffy.

Things concealed in the boxes displace their weight and size in the product offered. In other words you're paying indirectly for the premium by getting less of the actual cereal.

"ONCE THEY get the prize out that's the end. My kids just leave the full box minus the toy," said a friend of mine who buys assorted cereals for seven small authorities on dry breakfast food. "I prefer sending in for something, that way you get the kids to eat up the cereal first; and something coming in the mail is a little extra excitement for the day."

By filling in coupons, enclosing a box top and small sum of money a large variety of articles may be purchased. Generally these items are offered at much less than store prices or are things not found in the toyshops.

Children's stationery consisting of small-sized sheets of paper with clowns or animal pictures on each page are a new offering by some cereals. And for another coin a rubber stamp will be sent which will personalize the stationery.

A train set with three cars, sections of track and a battery operated locomotive, colorful and speedy enough to delight the heart of any small boy. A 45-piece printing set with ink pad so that youngsters can make their own newspapers and a cartoon printing set to make their own comics.

There's a Barbie fashion magazine for the young miss interested in keeping her doll "best dressed." A cargo ship to float in the bathtub, a flashlight, a girder and panel building set and sewing cards. Offered at attractive low prices advertisers find the free or small sum offers increase the sale of the cereal.

GAMES ARE popular. There are horseshoes, ring toss, a home bowling set, checkers, pick the play football and a 45 r.p.m. sing-along record for family fun all winter.

A magic aquarium complete with plastic fish and turtle which actually swims. Individual bird portraits and a zilly zoo of strange animals with interchangeable heads and legs are a few of the different and unusual toys which can be mail ordered.

A few of the cereals have mother in mind and offer juice glasses, ballpoint pens and a year 'round garden. Which gives us a chance to send for miniature plants to be raised in doors for a winter garden, and bulbs and bushes which can be grown outside during other seasons.

FINALLY SOME breakfast foods use the box itself as a toy. Once the contents are used the cardboard may be cut up into colored jigsaw puzzles or rocking animals.

Anyway, Mom, if you get a little tired of all these demands for a change of breakfast food every week, look at it this way. You haven't really lost a cereal, you've merely gained a new toy.

Water in Carburetor Often Spells Trouble

By JODY CARR

At this time of year, one hears a lot about carburetor icing, gas line freeze-up and that type of thing. You may have managed to avoid this problem so far, but there is always tomorrow.

Here are the facts. Gasoline does not freeze but water does. Water, which shouldn't be there but sometimes does get into the gas, travels along the line mixes fuel line to the carburetor.

CARR

When gasoline with air inside the carburetor, it gets mighty cold . . . a principle similar to the cooling effect of a refrigerator or air conditioner. This can cause the moisture in the gas to turn to ice, and therein lies the trouble.

There are several ways to prevent this freeze-up. Some cars have little heaters built into the carburetor, but nothing is foolproof. Often, these heaters can't handle the job when you first start out on a cold morning.

YOU CAN PLAY it safe by using reliable grades of gasoline which, whether or not they contain non-freezing additives, at least give you maximum assurance of purity. No water . . . no freezing. To be sure no water reaches the carburetor, ask your mechanic to check the element in your gasoline filter.

Sometimes the problem water comes from within your car's gas tank. This can happen, for example, if your car sits for a day or so inside a warm garage with a nearly empty tank. Then, when you drive out into the bitter cold, little drops of moisture may condense inside the tank.

WHAT TO DO about it? Keep your gas tank fairly full at all times. At your service station, you can buy a chemical to pour into the gas tank. This mixes with the gas and turns all traces of water into-non-freezing fluid . . . a good safety precaution.

Summing it up, buy a reputable brand of gasoline; keep the gas tank fairly full when the car is stored for any length of time; add gasoline anti-freeze to the tank; and install a fuel-line filter.

Keep smiling . . . summer is bound to come.

Dorcas Aid Society Is Now 42 Years Old

The Dorcas Aid Society of St. Peter Lutheran Church, Arlington Heights, will be celebrating the 42nd anniversary of its founding tonight, Thursday, at dinner in Old Orchard Country Club.

Purpose of the group is to aid, both financially and spiritually, in promoting and supporting the work of St. Peter congregation and various institutions and missions within the Missouri Synod. It also strives to promote the general religious knowledge of its members.

Financial support is rendered through fund-raising projects throughout the year such as a rummage sale, barzaar and luncheon and serving the local Lions Club twice a month. The ladies also serve at dinners commemorating anniversaries, weddings and following funerals within the church congregation.

The present officers are Mrs. Erwin Clausing, president; Mrs. Roland Bolte, first vice president; Mrs. Eleanor Rosenow, second vice president; Mrs. Ralph Meyer, secretary; Mrs. Otto Linde, treasurer.

Meetings are held the second Tuesday of each month, the next set for Feb. 11 at 7:30 p.m. in the church cafeteria, 111 W. Olive St. (S

New Rehabilitation Nursing Course Offered by Hospital

An intensive course in rehabilitation nursing for the graduate nurse will be given Feb. 3-23 by Schwab Rehabilitation Hospital, 1401 S. California Blvd., Chicago.

Jerome H. Debs, hospital president, said this is the first such course to be offered in the Chicago area.

The course, part of the hospital's teaching program, was developed in response to the large number of requests received from graduate nurses. It has been designed to supplement the skills of the graduate nurse. To prevent a variety of complications, knowledge of the rehabilitation techniques which should be applied in the general hospital is necessary. These techniques tend, as well, to reduce the period likely to be required for the patient's restoration to independence.

SCHWAB Rehabilitation Hospital (formerly called Rest Haven Rehabilitation), is a specialized facility providing comprehensive medically oriented rehabilitation services for the physically disabled and the handicapped.

The course emphasis will be on the nursing aspects and implications in the testing and training of the disabled patient; in transfer and selfcare activities, positioning and ambulation. Great stress will be placed on the prevention of deformity and decubiti. All the functional training activities are designed to help the patient toward independence and a return to his home community.

Instruction, led by Dr. Aaron M. Rosenthal, psychiatrist and medical director of Schwab, will be given by members of the hospital's departments of nursing, physical therapy, occupational therapy, speech, psychology and social service.

Graduate nurses practising their professions at hospitals, nursing homes and homes for the aged and in public health service will be given first preference.

PHYSICAL medicine and the techniques for the rehabilitation of the physically handicapped are relatively new. Designed to reconstruct the lives of the stroke victim, the amputee, the cardiac, the arthritic, the paralytic and others with neuro-muscular-skeletal conditions, the approved methods and skills for such care and re-training are rarely included in the undergraduate nursing curriculum.

The curriculum for this graduate course in rehabilitation nursing, though more compact, is based on the experience and responses of senior nursing students of Mount Sinai and Michael Reese Hospitals. Their student nursing programs include a month-long affiliation in rehabilitation nursing at Schwab.

In 1962, a two-week course was initiated for Mount Sinai students. They expressed a desire for longer, more in-depth training in the field. The four-week program was begun in September, 1963, at which time Michael Reese joined the program. The enthusiasm displayed by the students of both schools, and their application of what they had learned were so impressive, many graduate nurses with whom they came in contact asked for such training at the graduate level.

PROFESSIONAL, medical and para-medical personnel, trained in rehabilitation techniques are in short supply today. The need for such qualified personnel continues to grow at an overwhelming rate.

The dramatic and life-saving advances which medical science has made possible have resulted in the survival of many people who only a few years ago would have succumbed to their injuries or disease. Many who do survive are permanently disabled or handicapped. A generally longer lifespan, too, is accompanied by an increase in those degenerative processes which result in disability. Cardiovascular accidents (strokes) are on the rise, with more than two million victims in the U.S. It has become, by far, the most prevalent chronic disability among adults. Though the majority of stroke patients who survive the acute state are amenable to rehabilitation, most are referred to nursing homes for custodial care, or are homebound.

Findings of a research project conducted by Schwab in conjunction with Michael Reese Hospital and the Cook County Department of Public Aid (sponsored by the U.S. Public Health Service), indicated that rehabilitation must start in a general hospital and that many disabled persons can be provided with adequate programs in a general hospital.

Such rehabilitation programs are not found in most general hospitals. It is particularly in such circumstances that the burden of beginning rehabilitation and retraining falls upon the registered nurse. More severely disabled patients require more intensive, longer-term retion and retraining falls upon habilitation programs which only a specialized facilit such as Schwab is prepared and equipped to give. Boots Take to Suburban, City Life in High Style

Boots, which regularly come into vogue almost like clockwork, are now back with a bang. There are boots for walking and boots for town. There are boots for foul weather and boots for after dark. There are boots that barely reach the ankle, and boots that climb to the knee. In fact, the burgeoning boot is meant to be worn wherever shoes are worn.

Boots, which archeologists have traced to prehistoric times, were originally fashioned from stone shapes with animal skins and sewn together with bone needles. Their manufacture ultimately became a highly skilled artisan handcraft throughout Europe and America, when, in the latter part of the 19th century, Elias Howe's sewing machine ushered in the era of factory mass production.

THERE WERE three significant fashion milestones in the history of the boot: the early 19th Century, the roaring 20's, and 1964. A collection of popular boots now on display in self-service department stores is shown above. They are sold under Morse brand names as "Pretties," Jeweltones,"

"Magic Castle," and "Carousel."

Today's boots differ from their historic predecessors mainly in their infinite variety and style. There are boots for every occasion. In some, the leg is one color or material, the shoe part of another. Toplines of every height are either angled, notched or softly curved. They may be plain or collared, banded, furred or folded.

FOR DEEP country or foul weather, there are strapped jodhpur boots, high Newmarket boots of rubber and canvas, and calf hugging boots of water repellent leather. Linings are soft, plushy and warm.

For city life, boots are ankle high and deeply notched at the throat. Some are buttoned at the side. Boots belong with stretch pants for sport or with hostess pajamas for staying at home in style. They add dash to a tweed walking skirt and elegance to a cocktail dress or theater suit. In any fabric, in every heel height from low-down to nearly high, boots will shine this season. Styles above available at Topp's. (S

Arlington Juniors Support S. S. Hope

At its January meeting the Arlington Heights Junior Woman's Club contributed funds for continuing support to the People-to-People Health Foundation and its principal activity, Project Hope.

The American medical ship, "S. S. Hope," receives assistance from Junior clubs throughout the United States. The People-to-People Health Foundation was formed in 1958 at the suggestion of President Dwight Eisenhower to encourage cooperation in the field of health between people in the United States and those in newly-developing nations. "Hope" stands for Health Opportunity for People Everywhere.

YEARLY SUPPORT by members of the General Federtion of Women's Clubs and other aware Americans has enabled the S. S. Hope to become a symbol of friendship and mercy to distant lands. People of undeveloped countries such as Indonesia, Viet Nam, Peru and Ecuador are benefiting from Hope's medical program treatment and training. Teaching is stressed, because it enables Hope to help upgrade the local capability to diagnose and treat.

"ARLINGTON Juniors are proud to add their contribution to furthering the cause of health and education throughout the world," states Mrs. Howard Schick, club president. In addition to the monetary contribution made by the Juniors, a supply of hospital gowns sewn by members of the organization's American Home and Garden Committee was donated to the medical ship.

The Arlington club earns funds for its philanthropies through ways and means projects such as the recent Christmas dance which showed a profit of $310, as reported by Chairman Mrs. Thomas McShane.

At the recent January meeting Mrs. William Moore, program chairman, presented the BOB Players for the evening's program. (S

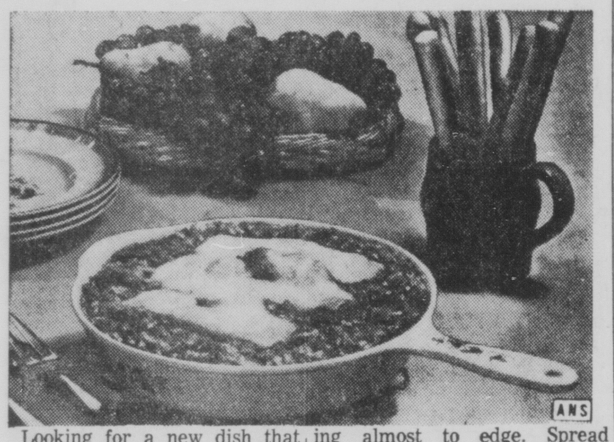
Veal Pizzaiola Made in Skillet



Looking for a new dish that can be prepared well in advance, then quickly finished to serve guests? Try this gourmet Italian recipe, speeded up by the use of packaged pre-cooked rice.

VEAL PIZZAIOLA
- 1 pound veal steak, sliced ½ inch thick
- 3 tablespoons olive oil or other shortening
- 3 large cloves garlic
- 2 cans (1 pound 12 ounces each) whole tomatoes
- ½ cup tomato juice or water
- 1 tablespoon sugar (optional)
- 2 to 3 teaspoons salt
- 1½ teaspoons oregano
- 1/8 teaspoon pepper
- 1½ cups Minute Rice
- 4 slices Mozzarella or process American cheese, cut in strips

Cut veal into 2-inch squares. Then split each square by slicing almost to edge. Spread slices apart. Pound meat, flattening to ¼-inch thickness. Heat oil in large skillet. Add veal and saute quickly until lightly browned on both sides. Remove meat from skillet and keep warm.

REDUCE HEAT and saute garlic cloves in oil until golden brown. Add tomatoes, stirring gently to partially break them up. Add tomato juice and seasonings. Simmer over medium heat about 20 minutes. Then increase heat and bring mixture to a boil. Remove garlic.

Sprinkle rice around edge of skillet, press rice into liquid. Place veal slices in center of skillet. Cover, remove from heat, and let stand 5 minutes. Place cheese on top of veal. Broil just until cheese is lightly browned and bubbly. Makes 4 to 6 servings. (SH

Hot Mocha Java

One of the nicest things about a winter outing is the party around the hearth which always follows. Next time, have mugs of hot Mocha Java ready to warm the souls of skiers and skaters alike. Mocha Java is a blend of equal parts strong coffee and cocoa, sweetened to taste, a deliciously warming combination. To dress up each drink, top with whipped cream and a sprinkling of cinnamon.

WITH THE Mocha Java, serve a basket of Guilford Card Gingerbread, made from a cherished family recipe. The ingredients have been near and dear to American hearts since colonial days — molasses and brown sugar, cinnamon and ginger. The texture is what makes it so different—delicately crisp, not chewy.

It is served in slim squares dusted with a mixture of sugar and pulverized coffee.

GUILFORD CARD GINGERBREAD
- 1/3 cup butter or margarine
- 1/3 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
- 1 egg, well-beaten
- ½ cup molasses
- 1¾ cups sifted, enriched flour
- 1½ teaspoons ginger
- ½ teaspoon cinnamon
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon baking soda
- 1 tablespoon sugar
- 1 teaspoon pulverized coffee

Cream butter or margarine to consistency of mayonnaise. Beat in sugar and continue beating until fluffy. Stir in egg and molasses. Mix and sift flour, spices, salt and baking soda. Stir in gradually. Chill. Roll ¼ inch thick on lightly floured board. Place on greased baking sheet.

Combine sugar and pulverized coffee and sprinkle over top. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees, 20 minutes. Cut in squares. (SH

Spice Coconut Pie For Unique Taste

Discovered south of the border! This richly thick, deliciously spicy, coconut pie was brought back across the border in recipe form, and now everyone can enjoy it. It's excellent fare served with whipped cream, your favorite whipped topping, or a scoop of vanilla ice cream.

This is a pie to serve often—as a delectable, fairly hearty dessert after a soup and salad meal, as a "different" accompaniment for steaming cups of hot coffee, or as an exciting substitute for a birthday cake.

SPICY COCONUT PIE
- 1 1/3 cups (about) flaked coconut
- 1 unbaked 9-inch pie shell
- 3 tablespoons butter
- ½ cup granulated sugar
- 3 eggs, beaten
- 1 cup dark corn syrup
- 1/8 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1 teaspoon rum extract
- Whipped cream, prepared dessert topping, or vanilla ice cream

Flaked coconut (optional)

Sprinkle coconut in bottom of unbaked pie shell. Cream together butter and sugar. Add eggs and beat well. Add remaining ingredients and blend well; then pour over coconut in pie shell. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 45 minutes.

Serve with "crescents" of whipped cream, sprinkled with additional flaked coconut. Makes 6 to 8 servings. (SH

Tuna Baked in Cheese Sauce for New Flavor

The same tuna filling used for sandwiches, canned tuna, diced celery, and mayonnaise, provides the center layer and topping of a tuna fondue. The tuna blend is spread on slices of bread; the slices are double-decked in a baking pan; and eggs, milk and grated cheese are added. The final dish of golden color and savory flavor has that delicate texture which is called "fondue."

CANNED TUNA is the basis of main dishes in increasing number because it offers such a store of nutritive values and is so convenient to use. It is an excellent source of complete protein; is rich in B vitamins, and provides a considerable portion of iodine, fluorine and phosphorus.

TUNA FONDUE
- 2 cans (6½ or 7 ounces each) tuna in vegetable oil
- 1 cup finely diced celery
- ½ cup mayonnaise
- 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 8 thin slices bread
- 2 cups milk
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
- ½ teaspoon Tabasco
- ½ cup grated process American cheese

Combine tuna with celery, mayonnaise, mustard and salt. Spread mixture on bread slices. Place 4 of the slices in shallow baking dish; top with 4 remaining tuna-topped slices. Combine milk with eggs, Worcestershire sauce and Tabasco; pour over tuna-bread mixture. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake in a slow oven (325 degrees) 45 minutes. Yield: 4 servings. (Day (SH

Week's Best Food Values

For the market week of Jan. 20-25 the University of Illinois lists the following:

Beef costs drop again on heavy receipts, with costs sliding from a current high on pork, a more popular promotion item. Fryers are higher, and other poultry items in heavy storage supply cost less.

Weather problems boost egg prices for now; cold damage to Florida citrus and salad vegetables delays receipts, boosts prices and reduces quality.

Current survey indicates these Chicago area food values:

Meats: pork loin roasts, butt roasts, hams; sausage meat; beef chuck and rib roasts, round and sirloin steaks, rump roast, ground beef; lamb leg roasts.

Poultry: turkey, ducks.

Produce: brussels sprouts, spinach, peppers, radishes, onions, potatoes, carrots. Navel oranges, bananas, lemons and apples. (SH

Economical Way to Relax

by JEANNE WELCH
Travel Editor

One of Winston Churchill's pet theories, it is said, is that a change is as good as a rest. Don't bemoan the fact that you can't take a winter vacation. Utilize your weekends. A lot of fun can be packed into the hours between Friday p.m. and Monday a.m. and a lot of miles can be traveled.

The Burlington Route subscribes to this pleasant idea and offers frequent suggestions as to how such weekends might be spent. Here's one weekend trip you can take any time from now until June 1:

COLORADO Springs boasts a hotel which merits that overworked word, "fabulous." It's the Broadmoor, set in the midst of a 3000 acre playground, with Pike's Peak and Cheyenne Mountain as a backdrop.

The scenic location would be enough to lure travelers, but the Broadmoor, never content with status quo, has piled on recreational facilities which make the choice of what to do a really difficult one. There are two golf courses, an indoor ice rink, horseback riding, tennis and skiing. For sedentary types there is a hotel cinema, plus a real zoo, and for those whose hobbies are eating and drinking there are a dozen different restaurants and bars.

Sounds luxurious — and expensive? Luxurious it is but expensive it isn't, the way the Burlington has planned it. Every Friday at 5 p.m., from now through May, the Vista-Dome Denver Zephyr will be carrying carsful of happy people bound for two days at the Broadmoor. The cost of $69.96 includes round-trip rail fare, most meals, overnight accommodations at the hotel and two motor sightseeing trips into the Rockies. The hotel facilities are all available to tour guests. This is a four-star bargain tour, in my book.

IF YOU LIKE to do things on rather a spur-of-the-moment basis it probably isn't too late to take advantage of Burlington's weekend tours to the St. Paul Winter Carnival.

For the weekends of Jan. 25-26 and Feb. 1-2 Burlington is running tours to this festival which offers a potpourri of events as unsophisticated as beef stew and as typically American as the credit payment plan.

Torchlight parades, dog sled races, square dancing, a show featuring Herb Shriner, those are just a few of the events which tour passengers will see from their reserved seats. The two-day tour costs $35.15.

IF YOU HAVE friends in St. Paul or just want to make your own plans for the carnival, the Burlington has been thoughtful about that, too. On Jan. 24, 25, and 31 and Feb. 1 you have a choice of four trains a day to St. Paul at a special roundtrip fare of only $14.00, one-third less than the regular fare.

For information on any of these tours, telephone Burlington Travel Headquarters at Wabash 2-2345. Don't just sit there watching the "idiot box" on weekends; go somewhere! (T GOLFING ON TWO courses is one of many recreational facilities available to patrons of the Burlington Railroad's "Broadmoor Weekend Holiday." (T

Travel and Adventure

Different Travel Treat

Discover East Europe

The day after you board your jetliner in New York you can be standing at Warsaw's Copernican Monument in the heart of a new and different world.

Poland is a convenient gateway to an Eastern Europe tour that also includes Czechoslovakia and Hungary.

Each of the three countries preserves its distinctive character, ancestral customs and individual folklore. Each offers the American traveler breathtaking scenic beauty, typical cuisine and shopping bargains.

THE COPERNICAN Monument now stands in the middle of Warsaw rebuilt from the ashes of World War II. The venerable landmark has been painstakingly reconstructed from ancient plans and documents. Nicolas Copernicus, who proved that the earth is not the center of the universe, could scarcely have taken his example from his native land. For Poland is a nation which throughout its 1,000-year history has been constantly "in the middle," fighting off successive waves of invaders.

Today you'll see throughout Poland houses, barns, stables and even kennels whose exteriors have been painted with attractive floral scenes, gay symbols of the country's spiritual durability.

In Warsaw, the Old City with its "New Town" (originally new in the Middle Ages) has been completely rebuilt around Old Market Square. You'll also see the Palace of Culture and Science as well as modern buildings, interspersed with theaters, parks and gardens.

A SUGGESTED itinerary includes a trip to ancient Krakow, the only Polish city to escape World War II destruction. A "must" for visitors is Zelazowa Wola, Chopin's birthplace. Not to be missed, either, are Poland's Baltic beaches and land of 1,000 lakes. For the shopper there are eye-catching fabrics and authentic handicraft that are typical of each region of the country.

When your Air France Caravelle jet lands in the Czechoslovakian capital of Prague, it is easy to see why Goethe called it "the most precious jewel of all in a crown of cities." The curving Vltava River and a beguiling maze of old streets, castles and palaces all hold a fairy-tale charm.

Be sure to see (even if you can't pronounce) Hradcany, which the kings of Bohemia started building in the 9th century. Today it houses the president of the Czech Republic.

Stroll across the Charles IV Bridge, which has linked the two parts of the old town since the 14th century. Visit the churches of St. Mary de Tyn, whose twin towers soar 260 feet, and St. Nicolas, considered the finest Baroque structure in Europe. Our Lady of Victory Church has the Loretto Chapel, where you'll see a gold monstrance encrusted with 6,000 diamonds!

ONLY 50 miles from Prague lies a paradise of Bohemia, a 120-square mile park of pathlaced woodlands, spring-fed streams, old forts and hidden castles. Centers of interest in Czechoslovakia are Zelezny Brod, known for fine blown crystal, and Czesky Krumlov, whose marvel is a splendid Renaissance castle.

The waters of Bohemia are said to be therapeutic, and the lively town that has grown up around the spa of Karlsbad seems to bear out this claim.

In Moravia you'll find Austerlitz, site of Napoleon's stirring battle. Of its natural wonders, Moravia is proudest of its subterranean fairyland carved in limestone by the Punkva River. See it from the excursion boats that cruise 300 feet underground.

Slovakia features resorts, folklore festivals, and the charm of its rugged cliffs and landscape. The Tatras National Park is a huge game preserve abounding in deer, chamois, lynx, marmot. The region also boasts some of the most magnificent caverns in Europe, and a glacial grotto pillared by ice stalactites, according to Air France travel consultants

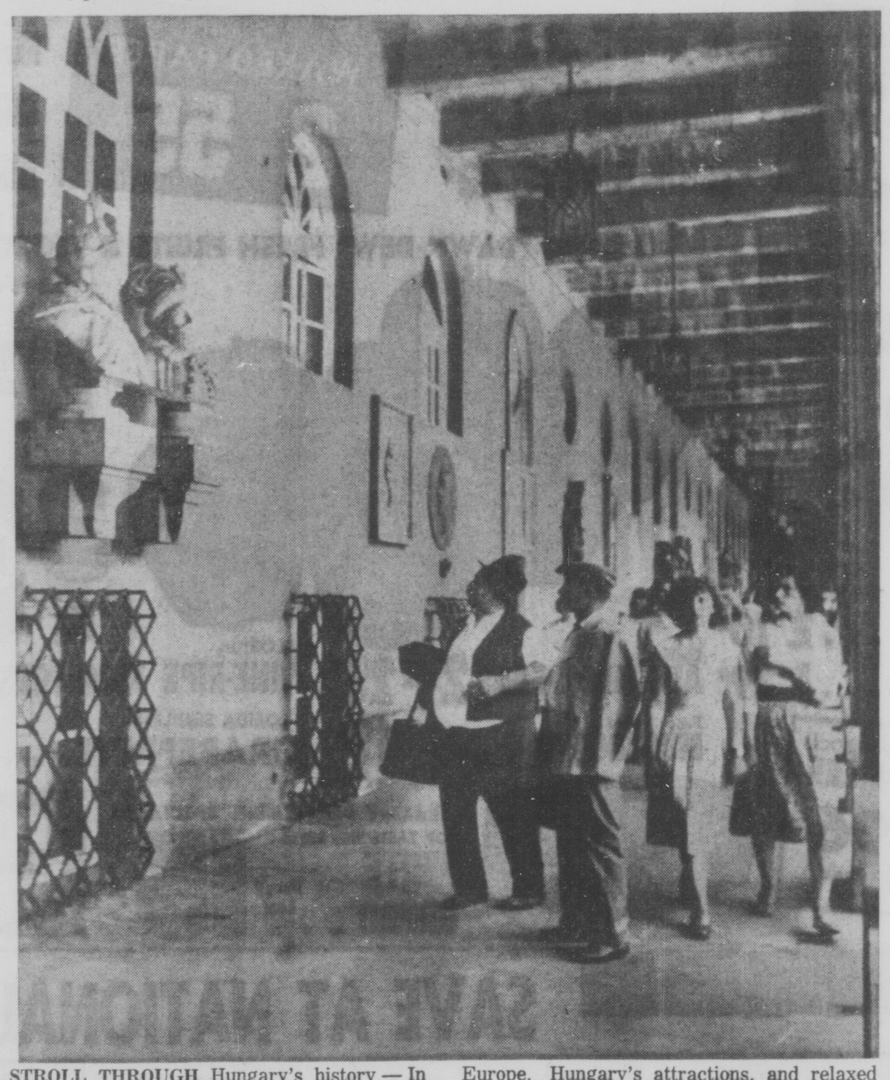
BUDAPEST IS the ancient capital of your itinerary's last Eastern European country, Hungary.

The first travelers there were the Romans, who made their visit over 2,000 years ago. Monuments to this early tourism still exist in the Obuda Amphitheater and other landmarks. Representing more recent times are medieval churches, the Turkish tomb of Gul Bada, the Baroque Peferty House and Kiscell Castle.

The centuries pass in review on driving up into the hills overlooking Danube-divided Buda and Pest, a fascinating combination of then and now. The Danube traffic flows by as you sit at a cafe table on Budapest's mid-river Marguerite Island, a memorable view of one of Europe's great rivers linking many countries.

INCIDENTALLY, a boat trip on the Danube is a rewarding way of seeing the magnificent castle built at Visegrad by the Arpads, Hungary's first dynasty of kings.

On other days, Air France suggests you visit the sloping vineyards or take a side trip to Sopron, where Liszt gave his first concert at the age of nine. Not until you've visited this shrine to genius will you be ready to fly home with fine music, monuments, and the magic of Eastern Europe lingering in your mind. (T



STROLL THROUGH Hungary's history — In Szeged, Hungary, visitors are carried back through history in the sculpture arcade near Beloiannisz Square. Jetliners frm New York, Los Angeles, Chicago, Houston, Montreal and Mexico City wing travelers to Paris and all of Europe. Hungary's attractions, and relaxed travel requirements, are drawing more and more visitors to this Eastern European country, and to Czechoslovakia, and Poland. Paris, hub of Europe, is linked to Prague and Warsaw by jetliner services.

Winter Carnival Set for St. Paul

Comes the end of January and St. Paul sparkles like a myriad of snow crystals. That's when she decks herself for the annual "Winter Carnival," an event looked forward to by many Illinois residents.

To be sure folks from the area get to see all the fun, the Burlington Railroad is operating carnival excursions from Chicago, Jan. 24 and 31. One-day and weekend tours are scheduled to leave Union Station at 10:30 p.m. on these dates, arriving at St. Paul next morning.

VISITORS arriving Jan. 25 will see the spectacular Grand Parade from reserved indoor auditorium seats. The two-hour fantasy, woven around the theme "Toys 'n Snowland," features 150 units; magnificent floats bearing kings and queens of the north, dancers, clowns, festooned marchers, and bands in bespangled uniforms. TV's Herb Shriner, and Bea Bernadette, of "Petticoat Junction" fame, will appear in the parade. Shriner will present his review at the auditorium along with variety acts from local colleges. Excursionists will also see hilarious "Mutt Races" where youngsters hitch the family dog to sleds for prize races across the ice. Sightseeing and numerous sporting events are also scheduled.

During the second weekend (Jan. 31) is a gigantic nighttime torchlight parade through city streets. Television's Inger Stevens, star of the "Farmer's Daughter" series, will appear. Other highlights are husky-dog team races, a ski-jump competition and tobogganing.

Round - the - clock entertainment also includes archery contests, baton-twirling events, skating in the streets, ice fishing and 4,000 square dancers performing in unison.

THROUGHOUT carnival time King Boreas and his court trade blows with forces from King Vulcan's fiery domain until the Fire King's army subdues winter's Boreas, heralding the not-too-distant coming of spring.

One-day tours are priced at $23 for adults; $16 for children five to eleven. Weekend tours are $35.15 for adults; $28.15 for children. Included are round-trip rail fare, admission to carnival events, most meals, sightseeing, transfers, escort service and overnight accommodations for weekend tourists.

PATRONS wishing to make their arrangements to attend the carnival may take advantage of reduced $14 round-trip tickets that represent a 33 per cent saving over regular fare from Chicago to St. Paul and Minneapolis. Special rates are issued for use on Jan. 24 and 25 with return in effect until Jan. 27; or Jan. 31 and Feb. 1 with return in effect until Feb. 3.

Tickets are available at Burlington Travel Headquarters, Adams and Clark Streets, Chicago. (T

Wig Wag

Wigs Answer Problem Of Growing Out Stage

The bane of a woman's existance can be the "growing out" stage between a very short hairdo, and one with enough length to frame the face softly. Between the business-like short hair, and the lightly romantic hairdo is a no-maam's land of straight, straggly ends, multi-layers of hair "growing out" from the crown to the neck, and irascible bangs or top hair.

The solution is simple, and will work equally well for the young housewife who must be at her most attractive while helping entertain her husband's unexpected business guests, the career woman, and the woman whose family is grown, leaving her free to re-enter the business world in which she must be at her very best to compete with women who haven't stopped to raise families. And what is this miraculous solution? A wig—a superior quality, European human hair wig that will fit so lightly atop her head she will barely realize she is wearing it, just as she wears eyeglasses or earrings.

WHEN HER own hair is long enough to hold the style she wants, the wig will be a good grooming accessory investment. She will have the security of a perfectly coiffed hairdo waiting to help her be impeccably groomed, even if she can't get to her hairdresser, or when bad weather or a steamy kitchen have ruined her hairdo. What a Difference

Mount Prospect Couple Become Bride, Groom

A Mount Prospect couple, Carol Ellen Mobus and John F. Miller, became Mr. and Mrs. in a Dec. 28 service performed by Fr. Daniel Coughlin in St. Raymond Catholic Church, Mount Prospect. The bride is the daughter of the Robert C. Mobuses, 409 Forest, and the groom is the son of the Fred A. Millers, 919 Hi-Lusi.

For her marriage, the bride chose a gown of ivory peau de soie fashioned with street-length bell skirt frosted with appliques of lace and sequins, and a scooped neckline. Her circular veil cascaded from a crown of seed pearls and she carried a nosegay of white roses, carnations and lilies of the valley.

Mr. Mobus gave his daughter in marriage during the double ring ceremony.

Only attendant to the bride was her sister, Dinah Joy Mobus, who wore a green satin dress with matching headpiece. Dinah's flowers were a nosegay of red carnations, holly and gold ornaments.

ATTENDING THE groom as best man was his brother, Richard Miller of Cincinnati. Ushers were Robert Mobus of Mount Prospect and Daniel Malloy of Prospect Heights.

A reception was held in Old Orchard Country Club where Mrs. Mobus received in a cranberry red dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white roses. Mrs. Miller's choice was a green brocade with matching accessories and a corsage of white roses.

Both the bride and groom were graduated from Arlington High School. The bride also attended Southern Illinois University and the groom is now a student at Grinnell College in Grinnell, Iowa. (S

Quality, Style Rate A 'Working' Bargain

A bargain isn't a bargain unless it does the work it's supposed to do. This year's traditional "white sales" are featuring some of the most colorful and fashion-wise household linens in many years. Varicolored towel sets, pastel decorator patterned sheets and pillowcases share the spotlight with the conventional white sale offerings.

However, look for quality as well as style and attractive price tags at these sales. Since your investment in linens is considerable it would be well worth your time to select carefully.

WHEN purchasing towels, the colorfast ones are the best buy. All towels don't hold their colors after laundering. Choose close, large, loosely-twisted and thickly-packed loops, which indicate that the towel will be absorbent and give good service. Also, observe, feel and pull the different sections to make sure that all stretch equally. Uneven tension can cause towel parts to pucker or become distorted after laundering.

Here are a few hints on how to be a smart shopper when buying linens. Watch for heavy sizing, which is a filler material used in loosely woven fabrics. Heavily-sized items especially in sheets and pillowcases have a good appearance when new. However, after laundering the sizing is gone and the item becomes very limp. To check for sizing, rub the fabric lightly. If a powdery substance appears, the article contains too much sizing.

KNOW the correct size sheets to buy so that bedding will fit properly. Allow ample material for tucking. Correct size means more comfort and better wear.

For quality linens, look for threads that are evenly woven and of the same thickness. Check sheeting for firm, compact selvage edges and hems that are straight with even stitching.

The best measure of quality merchandise is the certified washable seal of the American Institute of Laundering. The seal is awarded only to manufacturers' items that have passed rigid laundry tests for shrinkage, colorfastness to sunlight and to washing, and general appearance.

In caring for your bedding in your linen closet, remember to rotate the use of the sheets. The easiest way to do this is to place the freshly laundered sheets on top and take those for bedmaking from the bottom of the stack. Sheets will have a longer life through a rotation of regular use because prolonged creasing without use often weakens the fibers at the fold. (S

Delicious Prune Torte is German in Origin

Rich Crust Holds 'Fruited' Mixture

by LOIS SEILER

An enticing dinner menu that features a wild rice and chicken casserole, unusual anise rolls and a delicious prune torte has been shared with homemakers by Mrs. A. Vern Heim of Arlington Heights.

This good cook enjoys preparing interesting meals, and as a result her family has been educated to the pleasures of adventurous eating. This training proved to be especially valuable when the family toured Europe last summer. The children relished sampling foods of different countries, and ate everything from snails in France to baby squid and eels in Italy.

Thus they relish their mother's savory wild rice and chicken casserole, which she makes as a family meal as well as for bridge luncheons and buffet suppers.

It consists of wild rice, canned chicken, cheese, mushrooms, olives and tomatoes, mixed with salad oil, water and white wine.

"This casserole can be put together in a hurry and is easy to prepare," Mrs. Heim explained. She usually makes it in the morning and pops it into the oven an hour before serving.

Hot rolls and a green salad are all that is needed as an accompaniment for this hearty dish, and Mrs. Heim recommends rolls that are anise-flavored. She makes hers using an American recipe, and the rolls are so light-textured that they melt in your mouth.

Her favorite dessert, which can be used with this meal for evening entertaining is a prune torte made by a family recipe. German in origin, this delicious torte has a rich crust and a soft but firm prune filling with a meringue topping.

"This dessert is best eaten the same day it is made," Mrs. Heim explained, "and children enjoy it as much as adults."

Mrs. Heim's children are Steve, 16, Kathy, 14, and Christine, 8. In addition to her culinary interests, this capable homemaker enjoys playing bridge, is a member of the Arlington Heights Woman's Club and belongs to a circle at Our Saviour's Lutheran Church.

The Heim family lives at 325 Derbyshire in Arlington Heights.

WILD RICE and CHICKEN CASSEROLE

1 cup uncooked wild rice
1½ cups hot water
1 1-pound can Banquet chicken, including juice and jelly
1 cup sliced ripe olives
¼ pound (1 cup) grated cheddar chees
1 7-ounce can mushrooms, drained
2 medium-size tomatoes, peeled and chopped
¼ cup salad oil
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon onion salt
½ cup water
¼ cup white wine

Wash rice and pour 1½ cups hot water over it. Let stand overnight. The next morning, drain rice. Mix all ingredients except water and wine and put into a two-quart casserole.

Heat ½ cup water to boiling and pour water and wine into casserole. Cover casserole and bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes. Remove cover and bake an additional 15 minutes; serves 8 amply.

ANISE ROLLS

1 cup milk
¼ cup butter or margarine
3 tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
3½ cups flour
½ cake yeast or ½ package dry yeast
2 tablespoons warm water
1 egg, beaten
1 heaping teaspoon anise seed

Scald milk; add butter, sugar, salt and stir until well-mixed. Cool to lukewarm. Add 1 cup of the flour.

Dissolve yeast in lukewarm water and add along with beaten egg and anise seed. Add remaining flour to make a soft dough. Turn out on floured board and knead for about five minutes.

Place dough in a greased mixing bowl. Spread a little oil over the top. Cover and set in a warm place to rise.

When nearly doubled, punch down. Then break off pieces (about the size of hickory nuts) to form clover leaf rolls, or a little larger to form pan rolls.

Place the smaller pieces (three to a cup) in greased muffin tins, or place the larger rolls in a greased baking pan. Let rise in a warm place until nearly doubled. Bake in a 400 degree oven about 10 minutes. Makes approximately two dozen rolls or more, depending on size.

PRUNE TORTE

Crust:

¾ cup butter or margarine
1½ tablespoons sugar
4 egg yolks
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1¾ cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder

Mix all ingredients together with a pastry blender or a fork. Pat into the bottom and sides of a 9 by 13-inch cake pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes, watching closely; remove from oven when lightly-browned.

Filling:

1 pound prunes
¼ cup sugar
½ cup toasted almonds
½ teaspoon lemon rind
¼ cup lemon juice
¾ cup prune juice
½ teaspoon cinnamon

Place prunes and sugar in a kettle with just enough water to cover and cook prunes until tender. Drain, saving ¼ cup of prune juice.

Pit prunes and add the toasted almond, lemon rind and juice, prune juice and cinnamon. Mix together and put into the baked crust. Make the following topping:

4 egg whites
¾ cup sugar

Beat egg whites until foamy. Add sugar gradually and beat until meringue holds soft peaks. Spread meringue over prune mixture and sprinkle another ½ cup slivered almonds over the top.

Bake at 300 degrees for 30 minutes or until lightly browned. Serves 18. (SH

Chicken Tops All, Any Day of Week

Thanks to modern production methods, Americans can have a chicken in the pot every Sunday—and any other day of the week they choose. Time changes everything, and today in the broiler-fryer industry, one man can keep a watchful eye on 50,000 birds. The benefit of modern techniques is obvious; dollar for dollar, chicken is the best buy of all the popular meats.

In the United States, no other aspect of agricultural growth can match the fabulous rise of the broiler-fryer industry.

A DELICIOUS PRUNE TORTE, made by a family recipe, is on of the Christine and Kathleen Heims' favorite desserts. Their mother, Mrs. A. Vern Heim, has found that this unusual German torte appeals to adults as well as children, and she often makes it for evening entertaining. (SH

High Protein Tuna Takes Bow in 'Ring-A-Ding' Pie

Here's a splendid new tuna tomato pie that will win the applause of every member of your family. Kids will love the mild and delectable blend of flavors and this main dish pie is hearty and tasty enough to please the fussiest male. Mom appreciates teh pretty appearance of Ring-a-Ding Tuna Tomato Pie on her table and its ease of preparation (because for all its elegant looks, this pie is a snap to make).

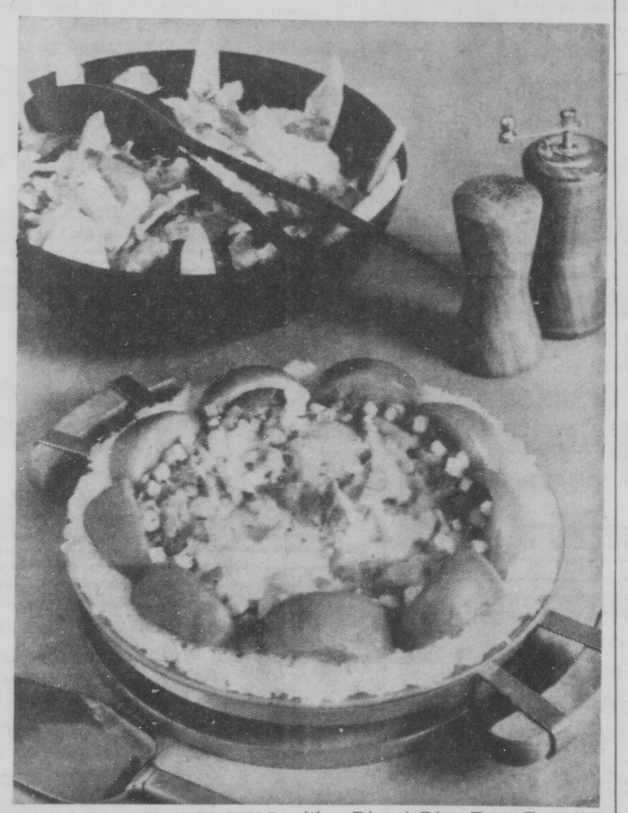
Budget-wise, too, Mom is in the clear. Canned tuna is one of the best protein buys on the market today.

THE PIE begins with a golden rice crust, made in moments with cooked rice. Then the crust is filled with the makings of a creamy Swiss cheese custard encasing delicious chunks of tuna. All this is achieved very quickly and then sent into the oven for a brief 25 minutes.

The pie is then decorated with a ring of tangy tomato wedges which have been perked up with French dressing and baked an extra 10 minutes. Chopped scallions, if you like, add a further note of color and flavor.

ii Besides the obvious virtues

Besides the obvious virtues already mentioned, Ring-a-Ding Tuna Tomato Pie is nutritious, too. One serving of tuna has more complete protein than a comparable serving of red meat, plus a good supply of vitamins.



RING THE DINNER BELL with a Ring-A-Ding Tuna Tomato Pie—Delicious tuna chunks combine with creamy Swiss cheese custard in pie with golden rice crust.

RING-A-DING TUNA TOMATO PIE

Rice Crust:

2⅔ cups cooked rice
1½ tablespoons melted butter or margarine
1 egg, slightly beaten

Combine ingredients and press firmly against side and bottom of 9-inch pie pan, heaping mixture high on rim of pan.

Tuna Filling:

2 tomatoes
French dressing
1½ cups grated Swiss cheese
2 cans (6½ or 7 ounces each) tuna in vegetable oil
¾ cups milk
2 eggs
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
5 scallions, cut in ⅛-inch slices

Cut each tomato into six wedges; let stand in French dressing to cover. Sprinkle half of cheese over rice crust; top with half of the tuna and then the remaining cheese, piling it high in center. Combine milk, eggs, lemon juice, salt, pepper, and nutmeg; blend well and pour over cheese in rice crust.

Sprinkle remaining tuna on top. Bake in hot oven (400°F.) 25 minutes. Drain tomato wedges (reserve dressing for salads). Place tomato wedges around inner edge of rice crust; bake 10 minutes longer, or until a knife inserted in center of pie comes out clean. Sprinkle scallions around tomatoes.

Serve pie in wedges.

YIELD: 6 to 8 servings.

Chicken Is Bird Of 'Distinction'

Brillat-Savarin, perhaps the world's greatest authority on gastronomy, once said that chicken is a canvas on which the cook paints. By this he doubtless meant that because the meat of chicken is so delicate, the creative cook can serve it in a wonderfully wide variety of elegant ways.

Chicken is the gourmet's delight; because of its gentle flavor it permits free-wheeling ingenuity in the choice of ingredient combinations, herbs and spices, sauces, and garnishes. Chicken's service to mankind has been long and honorable.

Elegant Fare The World Over

The world over, chicken on the table just automatically adds a festive touch to the gala occasion. When the homemaker gets out her best table linen, silver, and china for a company dinner, chances are that the aristocrat of meats is in the spotlight.

The dish may be succulent chicken breasts with mushrooms and a creamy sauce; an elegant French dish of sauted chicken, or simple crisp fried chicken or juicy roast chicken. The cook has her choice of literally hundreds of ways to prepare the bird.

But regardless of how she chooses to cook it, the hostess can be certain that a chicken on the table will insure the rousing success of a dinner party or buffet.

'Mardi Gras Magic' Benefit Set for Feb. 8 by AD Pi's

Saturday, Feb. 8, alumnae of Alpha Delta Pi Sorority is presenting "Mardi Gras Magic" a benefit luncheon and fashion show at the New Villa Venice in Northbrook. The Mardi Gras parade of fashions will be presented by Carson Pirie Scott and Co. using as models Carson's professional models, Northwestern and University of Illinois students, and models from each alumnae association in Chicago and suburbs.

This is the first city-wide Alpha Delta Pi Benefit and will be the largest function ever held by the sorority in this state. More than 1400 invitations have been sent to Alpha Delta Pi sorority alumnae in this area.

Tickets may be purchased through Mrs. Joe Meyer, 2312 Kirchoff Road, Rolling Meadows, president of Countryside Alumnae Association; Mrs. C. H. King, 350 S. Burton, Arlington Heights, president of Northwestern University's Mother's Club; or committee members, Mrs. R. Collins and Mrs. E. A. Rolley of Mount Prospect, Mrs. William Misina of Elk Grove Village or Mrs. James Homer of Arlington Heights.

PURPOSE OF the luncheon is to raise a financial reserve for the scholarship fund which is designed to assist a deserving girl toward a degree at Northwestern. The money is made available to students who might otherwise find it necessary to drop out of school. Terms for repayment, with no interest, are set up in order to keep the fund revolving.

Donation includes entertainment by Northwestern students, the luncheon, fashion show and individual gifts. Cocktails will be served at 11:30, with luncheon at 12:30.

Paddock area members of the chapter, Countryside, will hold a friendship coffee Tuesday, Jan. 28, in the Arlington Heights home of Mrs. Natalie Wallace, 120 S. Kennicott, with Mrs. John O'Halloran as co-hostess. At the coffee, members will make table favors for the Northwestern University ADPi chapter scholarship dinner and also observe the fifth anniversary of the founding of the Countryside Association.

IN ADDITION to the Feb. 9 luncheon date, Countryside members are reserving Saturday, Feb. 22, when they and their husbands will attend the Northwestern-Ohio State basketball game in Evanston. Those wishing to attend any of the ADPi events are asked to call Mrs. O'Halloran at CL 3-8224.

Alpha Delta Pi claims to be the oldest secret society for college women in the world, founded May 15, 1851 at Wesleyan Female College, Macon, Ga., the world's first chartered college for women. Today there are chapters in more than 100 colleges and universities and 10 alumnae associations in Chicago and suburbs.

TABLE CENTERPIECES for Mardi Gras Magic are previewed by Mrs. Ralph Andreas of Prospect Heights, and Mrs. Don Franke, wife of the principal of Hoffman Estates School. The women were among 35 Alpha Delta Pi alumnae attending a recent press party where plans were announced for the Feb. 8 benefit. To be held at the New Villa Venice, the affair will be a luncheon-fashion show with fashions from Carsons. (S

BETA SIGMA PHI

Mrs. Vernon Schlexer of Arlington Heights was hostess for the Jan. 8 meeting of Lambda Delta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi. At the meeting members were reminded of the chapter's annual rummage sale, to be held March 20 at the Masonic Temple in Elgin.

Used Christmas cards were collected from all members by the Service Committee, which will distribute them to schools and institutions who use them for projects. Mrs. J. Rolfe of Rolling Meadows gave a book review as part of the cultural program.

Sunday afternoon, Jan. 19, the president, Mrs. James Aase of Arlington Heights, was joined by Mrs. Thomas McLaughlin and Mrs. Donald Schmittzehe of Palatine and Mrs. Schlexer in attending a regional meeting of numerous chapters of Beta Sigma Phi held at the Americana Motel.

Miss Charlene Borne, a representative of Beta Sigma Phi's international office in Kansas City, Mo., was hostess. At the meeting, the Chicago-Metropolitan Area Council of Beta Sigma Phi was formed and Mrs. Schmittzehe was elected treasurer. As treasurer she will also serve on the executive board. Next scheduled meeting for the Metropolitan Council is Sunday, April 12. (S

Red, White Color Scheme Adds Beauty to Pre-Yule Nuptials

A striking red and white color scheme beautified the pre-Christmas wedding of a local pair, Miss Pamela Barclay Warfield and Patrick Emmett Buick. In a candlelight setting Dec. 20 in St. Simon Episcopal Church, Arlington Heights, they exchanged vows and rings before Rev. Samuel Keys at 8 p.m.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Warfield of 501 W. Euclid, Arlington Heights, and the groom, son of the E. C. Buicks of 600 S. Emerson, Mount Prospect, were later feted at a reception in Old Orchard Country Club. Invitations were sent to 120 guests.

For the evening nuptials the church was adorned with white carnations and gladioli at the altar; candelabra was placed at the head of the aisle and white bows marked every fifth pew. Before the bride's appearance Robert Howard, organist, accompanied Herbert Tosch as he sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "O Perfect Love."

Of white peau de soie and alencon lace, the bride's traditional gown had a fitted bodice fashioned with scalloped scoop neckline of re-embroidered alencon lace, long pointed sleeves, and a princess panel front, falling into a sheath skirt, etched and banded with frostings and a deep hem of matching lace.

HELD IN PLACE by deep inverted pleats at the waist, the train flowed into a full chapel train. Completing the ensemble was a coronet of orange blossoms attached to a three-tiered veil of French silk illusion, and a bouquet of white poinsettias.

Contrasting Miss Warfield's pure white outfit were the deep red velveteen dresses worn by Mrs. Ronald Clark of Lansing, matron of honor; and the four bridesmaids of Arlington Heights, Misses Patricia Hawkins, Georgianna Wesler and Sandra Shaw, also Mrs. D. O. Lynk, a sister.

Designed with scoop necklines and elbow-length sleeves, the floor-length dresses had banded waistlines and gathered skirts. For their headpieces the attendants wore matching red velveteen, tucked around open crown pillboxes, fastened to circle veils. All five carried identical white fur muffs and holly, as did Lee Pedersen of Park Ridge, 10, who was dressed the same.

A FOREST green street-length velveteen dress and white camellia was the choice of the bride's mother, and a silver lame gown with matching accessories and red rose corsage were the selections worn by Mrs. Buick.

Mr. Buick served his son as best man; ushers were John Harding of Carbondale; Larry Schroth, Chestnut, Ill.; Jesse Nehf, Mount Prospect; and Jeff Heintz, Rolling Meadows.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Buick are now residing at 319 W. Pecan, Carbondale. A graduate of Arlington High School and Moser Secretarial School, the bride is now employed at the University of Southern Illinois, where the groom, who completed studies at the same high school, is in his junior year.

San Pietro Orchestra To Play Here Jan. 30

The Orchestra San Pietro of Naples will present a revival of formerly neglected music by such composers as Bach, Haydn, Mozart, Vivaldi and others of their period at 8:15 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 30, in the Arlington Theater.

The concert will be the third in the 1963-64 series of the Arlington Heights Community Concert Association.

Now on its third solidly booked tour of the United States, the orchestra brings to modern audiences great music of the past that has not been properly performed for generations because of the scarcity of chamber orchestras.

The 20-piece Orchestra San Pietro is a return to the small orchestra for which 18th century composers created much of their finest music.

A CHAMBER orchestra is more than just a small symphony orchestra. It produces sound of a different color and texture.

Critics have rated this orchestra on a par with such leading chamber orchestras as the Musici and Virtuosi di Roma, of which conductor Renato Ruotolo was formerly a member. Each player is a virtuoso in his own right.

Besides previous successful North American tours and the plaudits of critics everywhere, the Orchestra San Pietro can boast of one particularly satisfying achievement: success even in its home town.

After the first concerts in Naples, the local critics praised the Orchestra San Pietro as "a major addition to the musical life of the city" with "superb expressivity and a perfect sense of ensemble." (Bill

Modern Etiquette

Q. How should the very large type of shrimp in a cocktail be eaten?

A. If you can manage it, cut it in half with your fork against the side of the glass—or else, you lift it out, put it on the plate under the glass, and cut it in half with the fork.

THOUGH it is a work-out machine, the boys are not playing games in this scene from "Mary, Mary," hilarious new Warner Bros. comedy which opens Friday at the Arlington Theatre. Barry Nelson (left), portraying an irate ex-husband, vents his rage against Michael Rennie, cast as a fading screen-idol, because he has been making love to the former wife. Nelson and Rennie co-star with Debbie Reynolds, Diane McBain and Hiram Sherman in the Technicolor release.

THE RESTAURANT dining room will be open seven days a week, beginning Feb. 3.

A Sunday special will be family style chicken dinner served, from noon until 9 p.m. Another specialty will be barbecued ribs, using Walker's own recipe. (Bill

'Look Back in Anger' An Explosive Evening

by JIM PHILLIPS
Theatre Critic

A young man has been thrust upon us. His name is Charles Kimbrough.

A play has been thrust upon us. The play is "Look Back in Anger."

The blending of the two elements is explosive. Country Club Theatre's stubholders weren't prepared for the fireworks. And you can hardly blame them after CCT's long string of light comedies had cast a norm upon the Old Orchard scene.

Friday night's production of John Osborne's assault on not-so-merry old England was fascinating, brutal, and even blasphemously-bumptious.

But thanks to a young Indiana University-Yale School of Drama graduate, it was rarely dull. Charles Kimbrough was more than Yale. He was even much more than Lee Norvelle and his Indiana U. drama doctors would ever expect. As Jimmy Porter, the bitter, outraged Osborne protagonist (this is a protagonist?), Mr. Kimbrough was, alone, worth the price of admission.

IT'S UNFORTUNATE that, although his fellow cast members came off well in their own right, they were pushed into the background not only by the Porter character, but the sheer artfulness of Kimbrough.

Mr. Kimbrough has done something the London critics complained of after "Anger" took its first disrespectful bow: he has taken the Osborne brickbat and made it a one-man drama.

But the London critics were wrong in the first place. It is a one-man drama. Osborne meant it to be. The characters of Cliff (Norman Rice), Alison (Faith Quabius), Helena (Mary Jane Kimbrough), and Colonel Redfern (Stephen John) remain toys in the attic while the main performance is downstairs in the living room. They are all competent and well-suited to their roles, but "Anger" remains Charles Kimbrough's.

DIRECTOR WILL Haas had a triple challenge: a first act which is violent, fast-moving, jagged - edged; a second act which is much too slow on paper without attempting dramatic interpretation; and a third act (when combined with the final moment of the second act) which approaches stages of "corn."

Mr. Haas kept the physical action lively, but controlled. He accented the necessity of immediate cue pick-up. But he fell down by allowing the softer, more subtle scenes to lose power—and in an obvious way: the voices of the players lost volume and the audience was unable to hear the more meaningful lines—especially in the last act, when Alison Porter returns home.

Technical direction was excellent except for the trumpet playing. As a background effect, it was too loud in spots, then too soft. The set design, for which Mr. Rice himself took responsibility, was outstanding, considering the limitations of the three-quarter stage.

AS TO THE play, "Anger" is a rough cookie for Americans. Especially since we've had sour cream pies tossed in our faces by scores of so-called "angry young playwrights"—most of whom were and still are frauds.

Another consideration: Osborne is casting a cynically-sassy shadow on English society. Does this necessarily mean his views will be uninteresting to American audiences—in particular, the martini-mink mixers who invade Old Orchard Country Club? Hardly, I think.

Playwright Osborne is a good writer (he proved that with "The Entertainer"). He knows what he wants to say and says it. His lines are sharp, to the point, even if certain of his scenes are dangerously drawn out.

"Look Back In Anger" is the work of a man who can place another man on stage, then proceed to dissect him without splashing blood on the audience. But somehow or other, it doesn't matter that our clothes show no stains. The damage has already been done on the inside. (Bill

The comedy is recommended for adult audiences.

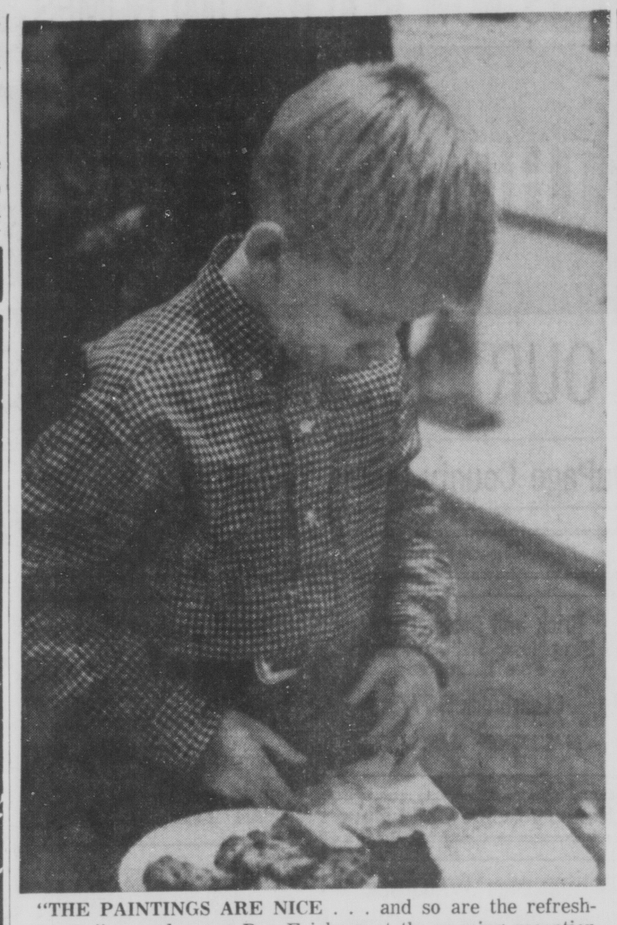
Paintings Displayed in Mount Prospect

Two members of the Mount Prospect Art League have their paintings on exhibit this month.

Evelyn Mitchell, 106 S. Edward, Mount Prospect, has a number of oil paintings rendered in a pallet knife technique at the Thunderbird Bowl.

Next door, at the Cinema Theatre on Rand Road, are paintings by Christl Hansen, 110 S. Edward. Bill



"THE PAINTINGS ARE NICE . . . and so are the refreshments," mused young Don Erickson at the opening reception for the "7 Directions" art show now in progress at the Countryside Gallery in Arlington Heights. Don, age seven, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Erickson, 208 S. Edward Street, Mt. Prospect. His mother is one of the 43 juried artists represented in the gallery.

Modern Etiquette

By ROBERTA LEE

Q. Is it up to the man or the woman, who have just been introduced, to say, "I'm glad to have met you," when leaving each other?

A. The man should take the initiative, while the woman responds with a smile and "thank you."

JACK LEMMON and Edie Adams have a slight falling-out in this scene from the comedy, "Under the Yum Yum Tree," which also stars Carol Lynley, Dean Jones, Imogene Coca and Paul Lynde. The film, in color, is based on the racy Broadway stage success. (Bill

Lake County Junior College Plan Beaten by 5-4 Margin

Establishment of a junior college in Lake County was defeated by the voters last Saturday by a margin of 10,453 to 8,879.

The citizens committee which has supported the proposal met Monday night to adopt a three-fold program for again presenting the junior college to the voters, perhaps between May and November.

The junior college district was to include all high school districts in the county except Barrington, Highland Park and Lake Forest. The project was supported by Chambers of Commerce throughout the county as well as educators.

Booz, Allen and Hamilton, consultants, were employed to conduct a feasibility survey for the two-year institution, and their report last September recommended early formation of the school, to open in the fall of 1965. They recommended a site for a campus near Grayslake, about the geographical center of the district, which would put all potential students within easy access.

A MAXIMUM tax rate of 20 cents per $100 of assessed valuation was included in the referendum. It was anticipated this rate would suffice for the first decade, with the exception of repayment of a future bond issue to finance construction of the facilities.

A three-phase curriculum was recommended. The first two years of liberal arts courses would be offered, there would be strong emphasis on two-year vocational training, and evening or Saturday classes would be offered to adults.

Saturday's vote lost in both the towns and unincorporated areas.

Although Ela-Vernon High School officials strongly supported the proposal, it lost in all seven precincts in that district.

LAKE ZURICH villagers voted 76 for the college to 168 against; Long Grove 50 to 75; Hawthorn Woods 32 to 36; Kildeer and Deer Park 18 to 21; unincorporated sections of Ela Township 63 to 212; Lincolnshire 22 to 55 and unincorporated sections of Vernon Township 56 to 170.

The committee's recommendations following Monday night's conclave were to request County Supt. W. C. Petty to call another referendum at the earliest advisable date; to extend invitations to Lake Forest, Highland Park and Barrington to join the district before the new election is held; and to study the possibility of securing federal funds available for junior college construction under new legislation. The federal funds might permit a reduction in the maximum tax levy rate, committee members believe. (B9

A Democrat, he served on the Glenview zoning board from 1959 to 1961 and was attorney for the village of Golf from 1958 to 1962. He currently is a member of the Chicago Crime Commission, a position he now will surrender because of appointent to public office.

Trust Deeds, Mortgages Filed Hit $2 Billion

The value of trust deeds and mortgages filed with County Recorder Sidney R. Olsen in 1963 reached two billion dollars for the first time in county history, doubling the amount filed 10 years ago.

Olsen said in his annual report there were 87,927 trust deeds and mortgages representing loans of $2,033,534,575 last year as compared with 84,588 for $1,011,798,493 in 1953.

Olsen attributed the record rise to new and larger projects, easier financing, increased construction and material costs and an outlook of prosperity in Cook County property values by real estate experts.

Transfers declined for the 11th straight year, dipping to 57,112 from 84,942 in 1953, a decrease of 32 per cent. (B9
